Whitmore Announces Candidacy For Mayor

Telephone Expansion Plan Is Underway Here

WORK STARTS on major expansion of telephone facilities in the Newtons.

The Telephone Company is working on a major expansion of its facilities for the Newton exchanges, according to Mr. John J. Connery, Manager.

The central office dial facilities are being increased to allow for twelve hundred additional subscribers lines at a cost of $276,000. This part of the expansion program is scheduled for completion by July 1953. There are over fifty men working every day doing the intricate wiring and equipment installation necessary to add these facilities to the present telephone plant now in operation in the building at Newtonville.

Mr. Connery also announced that outside cable facilities are being added to relieve the congested areas of the Newtons which has occurred because of the large increase in movement of people to this city.

This cable work is now underway and the telephone company will be spending approximately $202,000 during 1953 on this part of the task to supply more and better telephone service to Newton.

Mr. Connery pointed out that there has been a tremendous increase in the number of telephones in Newton. In 1940 there were 21,050 telephones. In 1950 there were 31,800 telephones, which is an increase of 10,750. From 1950 to the present, there have been an additional 4,692 telephones installed. From these figures it can be seen that the telephone plant expansion for Newton has been and is continuing to be one of a sizeable nature.

Another important phase of telephone service to Newton is the trunk cable work necessary due to the expansion of the population of the city. The large number of families moving to Newton from other sections of Metropolitan Boston has caused an increase in calling from the other sections both incoming and outgoing. To meet this increased calling demand the Telephone Company has been enlarging its cable facilities between Newton and other communities to handle this increased number of telephone calls.

The Telephone Company under present plans will complete a major part of the necessary increase in communication facilities during 1953 so that their subscribers in this city will have the type of service that is needed to fit the individual need.

Family Celebrates 94th Birthday of Auburndale Man

A family gathering at his home last Thursday marked the 94th birthday of Maurice E. Beardsley of 108 Crescent avenue, Auburndale.

Mr. Beardsley, a retired contractor and builder, celebrated last year the 60th anniversary of his marriage to the former M. Millie Fogwill.

Born in Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, Mr. Beardsley has been a resident of Newton for more than 60 years. He is a member of the Church of the Messiah; Home Lodge, IOOF; Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge, IOOF; and is a life member of Needham Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

3 Sentenced to Youth Board For Assault on Boy; 2 Appeal

Three Newton boys were sentenced to the Youth Service Board Friday in Newton District Court following a 5 1/2-hour trial of five defendants on charges arising from attacks on three other boys early in February near Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre.

Two of the defendants in the case were found innocent of the assault charges. Although cleared in this respect, one of these had his case continued without finding until Sept. 17. He was charged additionally with carrying an illegal spring knife.

The sentences to the Youth Service Board were appealed by two of those found guilty, while the third was turned over Friday night to Youth Service Board officials. He had been found guilty the week before of participating in a series of burglaries with seven accomplices.

The quintet were brought in to court after Stephen Berger, 14, of 29 Mayflower road, Chestnut Hill, was savagely beaten on February 7 near Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, where a teenage dance was in progress. He was hospitalized for more than a week with cuts on his face and a head injury.

The victim of the assault told police that five boys had asked him "Are you a Jew?" and then proceeded to beat him. The gang's weapons included heavy garbison belts with buckles honed to razor sharpness. Four of the boys charged with the assault were 16 and the other was 15.

Two others, also leaving the Temple Emanuel dance, previously had been molested by the same group and thrown into some bushes. Many prominent citizens termed the attack as an example of anti-Semitism in Newton, and Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood was asked to name a committee to insure that such an incident would not happen again.

At first the mayor denied the necessity for such a committee, but later changed his mind and asked the Newton Community Council to select a Human Relations Committee.

Judge Donald E. Mayberry, who heard the day-long case,

City Planning To Replace 4 Fire Stations

Four of Newton's fire stations will be replaced by three new buildings in 1953 under plans now being considered by city officials.

Public building officials are studying their construction plans for the year, which include a bond issue of $2,000,000 to finance the stations and an addition to the Emerson School in Newton Upper Falls.

The bond issue will have to receive the approval of the State Emergency Finance Board before becoming official.

Preliminary plans call for the combining of Station 4 at 990 Washington street, Newtonville, and Station 8 at 381 Watertown street, Newton, into a single building. The new station would be located in the vicinity of Crafts and Watertown streets, midway between the two existing stations.

Existing fire stations which are scheduled to be replaced are Station 3 at 31 Willow street, Newton Centre, and Station 10 at 964 Boylston street, Newton Highlands.

The only school project planned for this year, in contrast to the many projects undertaken and completed in the past few years, is the addition to the Emerson School. This will include two classrooms and a playground.

Laboratory, X-Ray Department's Serve Many Not Hospitalized

According to recently released annual reports from the Laboratory and X-Ray Departments at Newton Wellesley Hospital, an ever increasing number of patients who are not hospitalized are being served by the two departments. In the X-Ray Department, as many as 63 to 65 percent of the patients treated are in the private, ambulatory category and come to the hospital only for the period of their examination or treatment. In the Laboratory a large number of outside patients come in for blood work, urinalysis or other chemical and biological determinations. This means that the hospital is becoming, in some ways at least, a service medical center for the community.

Last year at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, 13,619 people received X-Ray examinations and 1,074 persons received X-Ray treatment. Thus, the year 1952 marked the highest peak of activity in the hospital's history for X-Ray work. If this trend continues, as it may well be expected to do, according to Dr. Charles Liebman, Chief Roentgenologist at the hospital, it will soon become necessary to provide additional waiting room space as well as additional facilities for the taking and processing of X-Rays.

Due to the sizeable increase in the number of patients treated

William J. Baxter, Civil Defense Director for Newton, announces that plans have been completed for the second Sector 4 Civil Defense Test. This test will occur this Sunday afternoon.

A simulated atomic bomb will fall on Brookline, "ground zero" being the Chestnut Hill Shopping Center. This will take place about 1:45 p.m.

After the "All Clear," radiological teams from Brookline will enter the stricken area to determine whether the radiation factor is low enough to permit fire and rescue equipment to enter safely.

As soon as the area is considered "safe," a damage control group from Brookline will be sent in to determine the extent of the damage. They will report their information directly to the Brookline Control Center which, in turn, will request assistance from the surrounding cities and towns comprising Sector 4.

Civil Defense units from Newton, Watertown, Waltham, Needham, Weston, Dover and Wellesley will all combine on orders from Sector 4 Headquarters in Newton to send Auxiliary Fire, Auxiliary Police, ambulances, first aid teams, mobile communications, mobile canteens and various services to Brookline's aid.

It is expected that men and equipment will start entering Brookline about 2:30 p.m. and fire fighting and other demonstrations should begin about 3:00 p.m.

This is one of a series of tests to be held each month to give the participating units experience and training.

UVON Changes Its Title to Vets Council

The name of the United Veterans Organizations of Newton was officially changed to the Newton Veterans Council last week at the monthly UVON meeting in the War Memorial Building.

William J. Maloney, chairman of the UVON, reported that the change was made because other cities which have these group call them councils. The local Council will have two delegates and two alternates representing every veteran organization in the city.

"The purpose of this council is the co-ordination of veteran activities in the city and also to discuss and decide any questions that may arise affecting Newton veterans, whether or not they are members of any organization," Mr. Maloney stated.

The Council, he said, will continue to supervise funerals of those veterans who are not members of some organization and will stress the fact that all veterans should join veteran organizations.

The Council has requested Mayor Lockwood to make certain that all Newton veteran groups are represented on firing squads and color guards participating at funerals. A list of members willing to participate in these funerals is being prepared for submission to the mayor.

Large Group of Business and Civic Leaders Expected to Back Native Born Man's Quest for Top Office

REP. HOWARD WHITMORE

Named Delegate To Convention At Brown Univ.

Donald Finberg of 28 Evelyn road, Waban, a senior at Amherst College, attended an intercollegiate convention held recently at Brown University.

He is vice-president of the Student Council at Amherst and a member of the swimming team. As a delegate, he was one of a group of more than 100 leaders from 20 eastern colleges and universities to attend the conference.

The students participated in student-led discussion groups supervised by Brown faculty members. The convention, first student forum to be held at Brown in many years, took the theme "Challenges in College Life."

After careful consideration of urgent appeals by a large group of business and civic leaders of the city, Representative Howard Whitmore, Jr., of the 5th Middlesex District, today announced that he would be a candidate for Mayor of Newton at the city election this fall.

Representative Whitmore is now serving his fourth term in the legislature from the 5th District and is currently clerk of the Committee on Cities; clerk of the committee on Municipal Finance; vice-chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, and vice-chairman of the Special Commission on the Study of the Structure of State Government (known as the Baby Hoover Commission).

over the previous year as well as to the increase in the fee schedule, it has been possible to effect a reasonable increase in the amount of X-Ray charges. Dr. Liebman believes that any additions to staff and equipment will be productive enough to more than justify the increased overhead.

In the Laboratories of Pathology Department approximately 12 percent more determinations were performed during the year 1952 than had been done during 1951. The most significant increases were in the divisions of hematology, blood bank, electrocardiography and surgical pathology. In April, the blood grouping techniques were amplified in an attempt to increase the precision of the work. These new techniques double the amount of time needed for each blood grouping. The increased number of electrocardiograms is, in part, made possible by the addition of a full-time technician in this field.

During the past year the hospital gratefully received from the Massachusetts Regional Blood Program of the American National Red Cross 501 pints of blood. Dr. David Skinner, Pathologist and Director of Laboratories at the hospital raised both the local chapter of the Red Cross and Mrs. Hannah Levinson for their work in providing this blood and in particular the more rare types, such as Rh negative. The Red Cross Motor Corps also was of great help in transporting both blood and blood donors to the hospital.

The Parenteral Therapy Department, which is responsible for the administration of intravenous fluids had an extremely active year and, although understaffed, prepared 50 per cent more equipment than during the previous year. An assistant solution technician is being added this year and should help considerably to ease the load in this vital service.

A flame photometer has been added to the laboratory's equipment which will add greatly to the lab's ability to perform needed services in the chemical evaluation of the bloods of critically ill post-operative patients. Prior to the installation of this device, the division performed one determination of blood sodium per month; now one or more determinations are done per day.

Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, in remarking on the reports of the two departments stated, "These reports reflect the growing significance of the hospital as a health center for the community. Here we see an example of the added services that the hospital is able to bring to doctors and to those not seriously ill enough to require hospital treatment. It is a trend which should expand with the development of new techniques in both fields."

The facilities developed at Olney, Maryland simulate a wide variety of conditions known to exist following an attack. The training of instructors is intensely practical involving a wide range of rescue techniques in which live casualties are removed from damaged structures and debris.

Practically all activities of this training course were held out-of-doors on the training sets. One of the outstanding and realistic sets is Rescue Street located at the National Civil Defense Training Center, Olney, Maryland, is the now famous "street of ruins" on which advanced rescue techniques are taught. It is a copy of main street—a grotesque and tortured copy that demonstrates the effect of bombing on typical buildings found in the community.

Six full-scale buildings have been scientifically designed to provide for rescue operations under almost every conceivable emergency situation. An entire city street is represented, with such typical buildings as a frame dwelling, brick house, three-story office and apartment building, five-story business structure, and a two-story theater building with shops.

Special clothing is issued to protect the trainees and the latest training methods, materials and programs to insure a successful civil defense is employed. These schools for survival are under the supervision of the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Officer Champagne already has developed a schedule to teach here in Newton the basic fire and rescue techniques so valuable to the community's civil defense effort. Of course, this training is provided free of charge and adds another first in advanced technical activity for the civilian volunteers who are aiding materially in the development of Newton's outstanding civil defense organization.

to the community." One of the most popular activities for young people at the Y is the Newton Church Basketball League. A total of 18 teams with a membership of 160 boys make up the two divisions of the League. There are 125 boys playing on the 14 teams in the High School Division and 35 more on the 4 teams in the Junior High School Division.

The Church Basketball League has played at the YMCA for many years. Richard B. Simmons, Director of Physical Education for the Newton Y, notes that he came here in 1925 and the League was in existence then. Since that time it has continued, in one form or another, to the present time.

The High School Division plays two games on Wednesday nights, three on Friday nights and another on Saturday afternoon following two Junior High Division games, all at the YMCA gymnasium.

There is no charge made by the YMCA for the use of its facilities by these teams. Aside from use of the gym, players also use the shower room and often take a short swim in the pool after a game. An admission charge to the game helps defray League expenses. Any difference is made up by the teams themselves. Simmons reports that the attendance at League games is "fairly steady."

A former President of the Newton Church Basketball League, John Pauler, is Chairman of the YMCA Physical Education Committee. He is also a former player, having been a member of the Second Church team, a team which he later coached.

The teams are divided into two Leagues, the American and the National. The American League has teams from the following churches: First Congregational, First Baptist, Central Congregational, Church of the Messiah, Newton Highlands Congregational, Temple Emanuel and Newtonville Methodist. The National League teams are from the Elliot Congregational Church, Temple Shalom, St. John's Episcopal Church, Auburndale Congregational Church, St. John's Methodist Church, Union Church in Waban and the Second Congregational Church.

In the annual play-off at the YMCA Friday night the National League's Elliot Congregational Church quintet topped the American League representative, Temple Emanuel by a score of 57 to 45.

Name Chairmen for Red Cross Campaign in Stores Division

F. Brittain Kennedy, fund chairman of the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross today announced the names of those who have agreed to serve as chairmen of the Stores Division in the sections of Newton where this type of solicitation will be carried forward during the current Red Cross Fund Campaign.

The general chairman of this section will be Mrs. Edwin P. McGill of Newtonville. Serving with Mrs. McGill will be Mrs. Edgar M. Holmes, Auburndale; Mrs. Clifford O. Mooney, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Morris H. Adler, Newton; George A. Volpe, Newton Centre; Mrs. Helen A. Ward, Newton Highlands; Mrs. Roger H. Loring, Newton Lower Falls; Mrs. John F. Farrington, Newtonville; Mr. Edwin P. McGill, Nonantum; Mrs. C. W. Woodredge, Waban; and Mr. William E. Halliday, West Newton.

Said Mr. Kennedy: "It takes approximately $5 for the Red Cross to provide a pint of blood to you when you're in a civilian hospital. You pay nothing for the blood when you receive it through the Red Cross. The Red Cross is paying $3.50 for each dose of gamma globulin now being processed for use in the polio epidemic next summer.

"This is the medicine to protect children from the crippling, twisting effects of polio paralysis. We must remember, however, that the Red Cross will not be responsible for the distribution of this precious substance next summer. This will be done by a wholly separate and independent agency. Your Red Cross needs approximately $5 to serve the requests of servicemen and their families needing help."

Urging everyone to give generously for the people who need Red Cross help and training, Mr. Kennedy concluded, "Let your heart be your guide to what you take from your purse for the Red Cross this year."

To Hear and Act on Proposed Federal Union at Meeting

An all-parish mid-winter dinner will precede the special meeting of the First Unitarian Society in Newton, called for 8 o'clock tonight (Thursday) in the parish house of the West Newton Unitarian Church. The dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

The warrant for this special meeting has been duly posted by Joseph C. Skinner, chairman of the board of trustees, and Miss Margaret S. Ball, clerk of the Society, the purpose of the meeting being to hear and act upon the proposed Federal Union of the Universalist Church of America and the American Unitarian Association.

was appointed in 1950 following a vote of the parish churches of both denominations. Local congregations are now voting by June 1, 1953 according to instructions sent to ministers and clerks of local churches. Seventy-five percent of those present and voting is required for a vote to be counted in the affirmative. The vote of the First Unitarian Society in Newton, to be held at Thursday's special meeting, is on proceeding with federal union of the two denominations above the parish level only.

According to the Unitarian Signal, "130 Unitarian and Universalist churches have already endorsed federal union between the two denominations, most unanimously or by overwhelming majority. Five churches have passed negative votes."

This all-parish supper gathering will also celebrate the rededication of the parish dining room, just completed under the direction of John F. Carroll, chairman of the House and Grounds Committee, by volunteers from the committee assisted by members of the Jaynes League.

Mrs. Albert K. Reed and Mrs. Edward W. Kinsman are co-chairmen of the parish supper committee, assisted by Mrs. L. Fabian Bachrach, Jr., trustee member, and Mrs. Harold B. Chandler, Miss Dorothy L. CURRENT COMMENT

To Revive Pre-Primary Convention System . .

It now seems virtually certain that a law will be enacted restoring the old pre-primary convention system of nominating candidates for places on the Democratic and Republican State-wide tickets.

Governor Herter removed practically all doubt as to what is likely to be done in that direction, when he announced at a press conference earlier this week that he favors bringing back the State conventions which were last held on an official basis in 1936.

Ironically, the re-establishment of the State conventions in 1954 probably would help the Democrats more than the Republicans, but Mr. Herter is the unusual type of politician who says the same thing after election that he did before election.

He was in favor of the pre-primary conventions in last fall's campaign. So he's still in favor of them. It's as simple as that.

Except for three lesser State offices, the Republican chieftains know now how their State-wide ticket will line up 20 months from now.

Governor Herter, Senator Leverett Salt- onstall, Lieutenant Governor Sumner C. Whittier and Attorney General George Fin- gold all will be standing for reelection.

The only decisions to be made by the delegates to a Republican State convention would be the selection of candidates for State Treasurer, State Auditor and Secre- tary of State.

On the other hand, the Democrats would be confronted with the chore of picking the men who would carry their party's banner in the races for U. S. Senator, Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General.

While past experience has shown that the Republican voters are more likely to stand by the decisions of their State convention than are the Democrats, the Democratic party now probably has much more to gain by the restoration of the State convention than does the G.O.P.

The Republicans, aided by a scattering of Democrats, staged an all-out drive both last year and in 1951 to place on the statute books a law reviving the convention system of endorsing State-wide candidates.

Governor Dever blocked their efforts last year by vetoing the bill that was passed, but the G.O.P. string-pullers accom- plished their objective by holding an informal convention and serving quiet notice that any Republican politician who refused to accept the decisions of the convention would be in serious danger of being black- balled by his party.

That strategy worked effectively, and the Republican State ticket endorsed at the unofficial G.O.P. convention late last June was the one which ran in the November election. It was an example of vigorous en- forcement of party discipline.

By contrast the Democratic voters over- turned endorsements made by the last two conventions held by their party.

General Charles Cole was endorsed as the Democratic candidate for Governor at the 1934 State convention, but James M. Curley defeated him for the nomination in the popular primary.

Congressman Philip J. Philbin was the choice of the 1936 Democratic State conven- tion for Lieutenant Governor, but Francis E. Kelly upset him in the primary.

The Democratic voters took a certain glee in serving notice on their party bosses that their convention decisions didn't mean too much after all, and in 1937 the law au- thorizing such conventions was repealed.

Under the old system, of course, the con- vention action was not binding upon the voters, but a candidate endorsed at a con- vention was given first place on the primary ballot, and a notice appeared under his name that he was the choice of the con- vention.

There is a suspicion in political circles that the main reason the Democratic politicians would welcome a State conven- tion next year is that it might enable them to block former Attorney General Francis E. Kelly if he should undertake a come- back in 1954.

After the margin by which Kelly lost to Attorney General Fingold in last Novem- ber's balloting, the Democratic leaders do not consider he would be any asset to the ticket they put together for next year's campaign.

Kelly, however, has a sizeable political following, can pull votes in a Democratic primary and is a tough man to defeat when he is running against two or three candidates and the opposition to him is divided.

He would have a much more difficult time winning nomination in a two-man contest against an opponent endorsed by a Demo- cratic convention.

If Kelly should remain on the sidelines next year, it would be the first time in 20 years that he did not seek State-wide office. The former Attorney General comes very close to qualifying as a perennial candidate.

He won election as Lieutenant Governor in an upset in 1936, when he bested Leverett Salt-onstall, and then was defeated for the gubernatorial nomination in 1936, 1940 and 1942. He was the Democratic candidate for Attorney General in 1944, 1946, 1948, 1950 and 1952. Countless thousands of young voters can't remember the time when there was a State primary in which Kelly was not a candidate.

Mr. Kelly is not a person who takes any orders from the leaders in his own party or pays any heed to their wishes, and if he decides to run next year, the fact that they might not want him on their ticket would not deter him.

An official Democratic State convention would present an obstacle to him, although not necessarily an insurmountable one.

The real purpose of the State convention, of course, is to afford an opportunity to members of minority racial groups to achieve a place on a Democratic or Repub- lican State ticket that they might be un- able to win in a popular primary.

The Republicans made a real effort last year to fashion a slate that had both geo- graphical and racial balance, and they suc- ceeded pretty well, even though three of its members went down to defeat in the November election.

Now that Governor Herter has made known his position on the matter, it's likely that there will be no serious opposition in either political party to restoring the State convention to the place it occupied back in the mid-1930's.

Everyone who uses gas for heating and cooking must breathe a sight of relief that Governor Herter moved so decisively to prevent two different strikes that would have had a terrific impact upon the every- day life in thousands of homes.

The situation would be a grim one for a tremendous number of families, if Mr. Herter had hedged on the issue or failed to meet it in the forthright manner that he did.

The Governor, who has been in office a little less than a total of two months, is now about ready to move for the reorgan- ization of the Boston Port Authority, and that is a situation which is crying for reform.

Whether it's too late now to do any good is question, but Boston, with one of the finest ports in the world, has seen its ship- ping business ebb away almost to the van- ishing point.

What the Port Authority accomplishes, if anything, is a mystery to this observer. Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes, by dint of personal salesmanship last year, per- suaded lumber dealers to ship some of their products through the Hub instead of Provi- dence.

Now there appears to be a serious danger that Boston will again lose that business which Hynes succeeded in bringing back.

Governor Herter's plan for reorganizing the Port Authority and revising the method of selecting its members may or may not be the answer to the problem, but, as in the case of the MTA, almost any change would have to be for the better. Things can't get much worse than they have been on the waterfront.

Here's an idea for Boston's Police Com- missioner Sullivan. Officials in Wichita, Kans., recently declared a one-day morator- ium on the customary traffic tickets and had police officers pass out slips on which was printed in bold red letters: "Shame on you!"

A 10-year-old Chicago boy died last week in a dentist's chair after he had inhaled "laughing gas" for a tooth extraction.

A vast number of householders are hop- ing that Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield can make good on President Eisenhower's promise to provide better postal service at a reduced cost. That will be quite a stunt if he can do it.

Judge Findlay Morrow of Albuquerque dismissed charges of disorderly conduct against a soldier, ruling that it was not dis- orderly conduct when the serviceman stuck his tongue out at a police officer who was scolding him. It may not be disorderly con- duct, but we do not recommend it.

A 12-year-old Omaha boy was seriously injured last week in one of the rarest acci- dents on record. He was standing on a curb when a truck passed, pulling a 60-foot length of rope. According to police, the rope swung under the wheels of a car following the truck. The car's weight pulled the rope taut. The rope suddenly snapped, looping around the boy's legs and hauled him 90 feet along the street.

When Andrew Moseley of Lima, Ohio, got out of his automobile to inspect the dam- age after a collision, a stranger slipped be- hind the wheel of the car and drove away in it.

Attendance at the Presbyterian Church in Wampsville, N. Y., tripled after someone unknown to the church elders placed an advertisement in the Oneida Dispatch which read: "Wanted: men, women and children to sit in slightly used pews, Sunday morn- ings, Wampsville Presbyterian Church."

A skilled archer can kill a deer faster than a gun hunter, Thomas Waldron of the Sharon Fish and Gun Club recently told the legisla- tive committee on conservation. Waldron was urging the passage of a bill which would open the State's woods to followers of the bow and arrow at another time from the period allotted to hunters using firearms.

Science Club at Museum Has Local Members

Twenty-two Newton young- sters between 10-16 years old are members of the Junior Explorers at the Boston Museum of Sci- ence, an organization for young Museum members or children of family members.

At a time when their com- panions are catching up on sleep or playing baseball, these boys and girls eagerly pour into the Museum for an hour and a half of class.

Under the guidance of Gilbert E. Merrill, Assistant Director, of Education, a "class" means an intriguing exploration of subjects which interest them, utilizing ex- hibits, films, demonstrations, and all the ingenious experiments which can be brought to bear on the material.

When the subject was snakes, for example, the Junior Explor- ers learned scientific classifica- tion of snakes by actually seeing an 11 ft. Anaconda or a 6 ft. Timber Rattlesnake.

When studying magnetism and motors each Junior Explorer built his own simple electric motor, thereby learning the basic principles in practice.

Even the human heart was open to the view of these en- thusiastic students, when study- ing man's physiology. Under microscopes they were able to examine human blood cells, and a beating turtle heart was pre- served so that they could ac- tually see the workings of that life-sustaining muscle.

That 200 youngsters are eager to spend their Saturday morn- ings studying at the Museum of Science instead of at sports is some indication of the inventive and engaging manner in which Mr. Merrill guides them, and shows that they really enjoy probing the subjects which pro- voke their curiosity while they have the time and freedom to do so.

For some this may be the start of a life's pursuit, but for all it is an unusual opportunity to see and work with the things about which they are curious. Newton participants in this ac- tive Club are: David Phillips, Janet Norcross, Daniel Morrison, Andy Morrison, Fred Fink, Rich- ard Blacher, Roger Gilman, Al- lan Weinstein, William Preston, Carl Perlmutter, Leanne Ni- grosh, Richard H. Cowley, Paul Basson, David Werman, Jack Swanton, Joel Reingold, Jon- than Karp, Stephen Jacobs, David Hawkins, Charles Diman, Edward Davidson and Robert McKee.

Funeral Home Location Is Protested

Dr. Ernest M. Morris, director of Public Health, has informed an undertaking establishment that the Board of Health was opposed to granting them a license for a funeral home so close to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Newton Lower Falls, because of the adverse psychological effect of funeral processions on the seriously ill.

Dr. Morris also said that traf- fic hazards would be increased, pointing out that the exit to Route 128 is close by. After the Board of Health ex- pressed their opposition to the establishment of the proposed funeral home, the undertaking concern, requested a postpone- ment of the hearing scheduled for Feb. 25, Clerk Fred M. Grant said.

The hearing, formerly schedu- led to be held at 7:45 p.m. by the Planning Board and the Alder- manic Claims and Rules Commit- tee was to consider a petition for changing real estate from Single Residence "B" District to Business "A" District. The land that had been under considera- tion is at the intersection of Bea- con St. extension and Washing- ton St., Ward 4.

Also opposing the request were officials of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital and Mr. and Mrs. Wil- liam P. Cullen, 2071 Washington St., who live near the site.

A world of love shut in.

2nd Church, Congregational Holds Annual Dinner Tonight

Dr. Ruth Isabel Seabury, educational secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, will speak tonight (Thursday) at the All-Church dinner of the Second Church, Congregational, of West Newton.

Dr. Seabury recently returned from a four-month visit to Africa, which is currently one of the critical areas of the world. In her visit, she tried to understand the tensions there and get the point-of-view of African church leaders.

One objective of the trip was to gather material from which to write books and short biographies of great African personalities, for Miss Seabury believes the world knows too little of some of the current leaders on that continent.

Her itinerary included the Gold Coast, the Belgian Congo, Angola, South Africa and Southern Rhodesia. She returned home via India and Ceylon, making the trans-Atlantic flight both ways.

Dr. Seabury visited the African church leaders of other dominions as well as her own, the Congregational Christian Churches.

A second speaker at the dinner, which is an annual event at Second Church, will be Lucius E. Thayer of 7 Estabrook rd., Newton Centre. He is president of the Exolon Company and one of the distinguished lay sponsors of the Congregational Christian Church Building Loan Fund Campaign for $4,500,000.

An additional feature will be the presence of nine students from other countries who are studying at the Andover-Newton Theological Seminary. As guests at the dinner, they will be introduced by Dean Vaughan Dabney of Andover-Newton.

To Sponsor Series of 3 Lectures

Beginning March 10, the Massachusetts Association of the New Jerusalem will sponsor a series of three lectures to be held at the Church of the Open Word, Newtonville. Three noted New Church scholars are giving these lectures expounding the ideas of Emanuel Swedenborg on such vital subjects as "Can We Believe in the Bible?" by Rev. Richard H. Tafel of Philadelphia, Tuesday evening, March 10; "Can We Believe in a God Who Cares?" by Rev. William F. Wunsch of Washington, Tuesday evening, March 17; and "Can We Believe in a Life After Death?" by Rev. Edwin G. Capon of Elmwood, Tuesday, March 24. All lectures are at 8 p.m., and will be followed by a question period and coffee.

At a time when many people are groping through a troubled world toward reassurance in their fundamental Christian beliefs, the Massachusetts Association of New Jerusalem feels it can perform a public service by calling attention to Swedenborg's vital interpretation of Scripture which gives new understanding of its great message.

While he is now best known as a religious leader, in his own time Swedenborg was known as one of the great scientists of his great country. Like Benjamin Franklin, Winston Churchill and Leonardo da Vinci, he was a many-sided genius. Born in 1688, his father was bishop of the established church of Sweden. He was educated at Upsala University and abroad, and became noted as an engineer, later heading the Royal College of Mines. Swedenborg's writings on scientific subjects were monumental and anticipated many later discoveries in such fields as mineralogy, anatomy and botany. When he was 57, he retired to devote himself to spiritual matters. His interpretation of the Bible, which came to him as a revelation, are of great interest to all Christians, of whatever church.

Everyone is invited. Coffee will be served at 9:30.

Name Newton Man As Notary Public

Arnold I. Epstein of 16 Hibbard road, Newton, has been appointed a notary public with a term to expire in 1960 by Gov. Christian A. Herter.

The appointment was confirmed at last week's meeting of the Governor's Council and the commission as notary was then signed by Secretary of State Edward J. Cronin.

Many Things Necessary for An Efficient Fire Department

In order to have an efficient Fire Department to serve a community many things are of paramount importance. Training of the personnel for strict obedience when given commands; knowledge of all of the various appliances used; knowledge of the community from fire angles; advance planning to cope with situations that might occur and being flexible and capable to adapt oneself to cope with adversity at short notice are necessary foundation ideals on which the department must be built. When these qualities are correctly inculcated and practiced it forms the nucleus of a department that is second to none. This is the goal we in the Newton Fire Department are striving to attain.

In order to help reduce fires and fire losses it form an individual problem which involves each and everyone living or working here in Newton. It is not a problem that the fire department can do by itself, it is a cooperative problem in which everyone must do their part each and every day.

Carelessness is by far the largest actual motive in causing fires. In many cases fires can be prevented by doing a few simple things, sometimes it is just a case of cultivating safety habits. If we all would but take a few seconds to think of the results that might happen due to our careless actions, most of the fires we have would never happen. Right now is the best time there is to start building a home fire safety program which will include the whole family.

Here are a few things that should be checked in every home to be sure that they are safe:

Smoking — Are there enough ash trays provided in the home and are they used wherever smoking is allowed? Do you smoke in bed? If so, now is the time to stop before you or your family are burned to death. Remember at business for everyone's safety and to insure keeping your job. DO NOT SMOKE in areas that are posted "NO SMOKING."

Electric wiring — Faulty wiring and overloading of circuits account for a large number of bad fires every year. When fuses continue to keep blowing or the lights go dim when more electric lights or appliances are used in the home, that is the warning to have the circuits checked and new circuits added before a fire starts. The bad part about these electric fires is that they can be burning for several hours before they are noticed which means they can spread to many sections of the house before being noticed.

Paint, furniture and polishing clothes — Rags and materials containing these substances can cause fires by themselves if allowed to remain in piles and in closets. They should be removed from the building as soon as they are finished being used. If they must be saved they should be stored in a tight covered metal container in a cool section of the building.

Old waste papers, rubbish, Christmas trees, etc. should be removed as soon as they are not needed. They are usually much safer outside of the building than

THE CHICAGO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA will give a concert next Thursday night, March 12, in Symphony Hall for the benefit of American Field Service for international scholarships. This organization brings students from abroad to attend American secondary schools for a year of study and experience and, during the summer, sends American teenagers abroad to live with families.

being stored in the basement or attic.

These are but a few of the many things that we all can do to help make our homes a much safer place in which to live. Fire Insurance can do a lot to replace a building, but it never can replace the lives that are lost due to fires in the home.

River Control

Waltham's Original Easter Bunny to Make Its Annual Visit This Sunday

Waltham's Original Easter Bunny will make its annual spectacular visit Sunday, March 8 at 2:30 p.m. The Bunny will arrive via helicopter in the Reece Manufacturing Company's Parking Lot on Prospect street.

Thousands of children and parents eagerly await this annual event and line the streets many hours before parade time to get a glimpse of the Easter Bunny riding atop a specially prepared float. The Bunny will be escorted up Prospect across Main and down Moody street along the well-known route to the Grover Cronin Store where formal ceremonies will be conducted by city, state, and store officials. Then the Bunny will sit on a beautifully decorated throne in the fantasy of Bunyard forest and greet all the children prior to Easter.

A cavalcade of mounted cowboys and cowgirls from Whitman, known as the "Rough Riders," will lead this season's spectacle dressed in Western regalia.

Other attractions include bands, marching units, color guards, precision-trained drill teams and fife, bugle and drum corps units. Among these are:

The Lexington Fife and Drum Corps, The Old Dorchester Post Drum and Bugle Corps, The Akroyd Hood Drum and Bugle Corps of Marlboro, The Esso Drum and Bugle Corps of Everett, The Scottish Highlanders Bagpipe Band of Brookline, St. Thomas More Drum and Bugle Corps of Braintree, Immaculate Conception Drill and Bugle Corps of Winchester, Waltham Post, American Legion Band, St. Joseph's CYO Band of Medford, St. Patrick's Drum and Bugle Corps of Stoneham, Braintree Drum and Bugle Corps of Braintree, Concord High School Band, Watertown High School Band, Blessed Sacrament Drill Team of Cambridge, St. John's Drill Team of Quincy, Immaculate Conception Drill Team of Winchester, Waltham High School Band, Waltham Boy Scouts, and Waltham Cub Scouts.

To introduce a Gay Nineties spirit there will be a showing of Old Fashioned Museum Piece Bicycles; among these a Three-Seater Orient manufactured in Waltham over fifty years ago and owned by Ralph Maccone of Concord.

Another attraction will be a group of Trained Dogs parading in their Easter Bonnets. These dogs, trained by Lee Schulmann at the Weston Dog Ranch, are proud winners of the Obedient Scholarship Degrees awarded by the American Kennel Club.

Herb Taylor, Internationally Famous Clown, will also be on hand adding his brand of merriment as he cavorts with antics at the welcoming stand.

Mardi Gras heads will be another attraction of the Parade in which famous characters will be acted out along the parade route. Special floats by the Grover Cronin Display Department will add finishing touches as will the Red Cross Float carrying this year's fund campaign theme, which is under the direction of Harold Pride.

Communications will be handled along the parade route by jeep-riding members of the Headquarters Company, Second Battalion, 182nd Infantry, Massachusetts National Guard under the direction of Lt. Laurence Smith of Waltham.

The Easter Bunny Coloring Contest will again take place this year for children up to 10 years of age. Bunny to be colored will appear in this paper.

A special squadron of police will help control the anticipated thousands who will line the parade route to glimpse the Original Easter Bunny as he welcomes all the children during his stay in Waltham.

Council of Improvement Assns. Considers Many Timely Topics

A meeting of the officers of the Newton Council of Improvement Associations was held Tuesday, February twenty-fourth at the home of the secretary-treasurer, Miss Margaret Magoley of Newton. George Freedman, president of the Newton Council, presided at this meeting.

The question of changing Ward Lines in Newton in order to give each Ward a more equitable representation was discussed, and the Council suggests to all Member Improvement Association that they hold a meeting of their members in the very near future to acquaint the members with the situation and to get their suggestions. The Council is also suggesting and probably will sponsor a City-wide Meeting to be held in May of representatives and members of all the Newton Improvement Associations. Other organizations interested will also be invited to attend.

Alderman Hirsch Sharff, chairman of the Board of Aldermen, will be glad to cooperate with any of the associations in these meetings and so far as his time permits will be glad to attend. Alderman Sharff says that he would like to get the suggestions from as many people and organizations as possible, as these suggestions will help his committee in developing the best final plan. Anyone wishing further information in regard to this subject may contact the Improvement Association's president, Mr. George Freedman, 200 Upland Avenue, Newton Highlands or the vice president, Mr. Donald Nostrand, 9 Gammon Road, Waban. The Council's secretary, Miss Magoley, Eldredge Street, Newton can also be contacted.

The question of juvenile delinquency in Newton was discussed at length, and the Council recommends to all of its Member Associations that they devote one of their meetings in the near future to consideration of the subject with the idea of developing ways in which their association of their members could assist in helping to solve this problem. The Council realizes that as Newton increases in population this problem will require more attention. The Council officers wish to commend Alderman

Paul S. Rich for his fine letters and suggestions which have appeared recently in the local papers. Alderman Rich is a member of the Executive Committee of the Newton Improvement Association. The Council hopes that members of the other associations will take an equal interest and help actively in this fine work.

The Council also realizes and wishes to commend the Newton Y. M. C. A. for the fine work they have been doing for many years in developing programs for the boys of Newton. The Council understands that the Y. M. C. A. is taking steps to increase their facilities even above what they now have, and they commend the Y. M. C. A. for this foresighted move. They hope that the members of all Improvement Associations will support the Y. M. C. A. in their drive for more facilities because this is one effective way of solving our increased problems along this line. The Council also suggests that Member Organizations support and cooperate with the Newton Human Relations Committee of the Newton Community Council. Miss Adelaide Ball is president of this committee.

The Council suggests that Member Organizations interest themselves in the program of safety in Newton. This matter can be approached from two ways — first by educating Newton boys and girls in observing safety regulations when crossing the street and when riding their bicycles. Possible some association might wish to have an open meeting of their members in which the children would be invited as well as the parents. Then, the entire question of safety can be discussed and information given. It is suggested that organizations interested in this program communicate with Newton Police Chief, Phillip Purcell, who will be glad to cooperate. Chief Purcell has several safety experts in his department who are continually emphasizing the safety problem and who have done much to keep our record of injuries low in Newton. The other angle of safety is to encourage and where necessary enforce safe driving on the part of motorists.

To Deliver Four Lenten Lectures

A series of four Lenten Lectures will be delivered by the Rev. John Ogden Fisher under the auspices of the West Newton Branch of the General Alliance in the Alliance Room of the First Unitarian Society in Newton, beginning next Thursday morning, March 12, at 10:30 o'clock. Coffee will be served at 10 o'clock under the direction of Mrs. Robert M. Garland. All women of the church, friends and neighbors are cordially invited.

Mr. Fisher's opening Lenten lecture is entitled "Renaissance." On March 19 his subject will be "Reformation" and on March 26, "Regeneration." There are also Thursday morning talks preceded by coffee.

Dr. Reuling to Speak at the Central Church

Dr. John A. Reuling will be the speaker at Central Congregational Church in Newtonville Wednesday, March 11, at 8 p.m. in the second of a series of meetings on "What Christ Means in Life Today." Each speaker is treating the subject in his own way, and Dr. Reuling, a layman and former president of Northland College in Wisconsin, who spent some years in educational work in Africa on the faculty of Adams College, knows the meaning of the coming of Christ to the minds and hearts of non-Christian people. He says, "Recent political developments in Africa have increased the already great sense of frustration under which most Africans labor. The present temper of the African people is such that, if they are deprived of the Christian leadership which they need and for which they are asking, they can easily become a menace to themselves and the rest of the world." The other speakers in this series are: Rev. B. W. Callahan on March 4, Rev. Bedros Baharian on March 18 and Rev. H. G. Robinson on March 25.

Newton High School Exchange Students Write Diary of Week-Long Visit to Bradenton Fla.

During the past week, Newton High School's second exchange visit of the school year was made with Manatee County High School in Bradenton, Fla.

A complete diary of the trip to Florida was kept by the students, and excerpts from this account follow.

All goes better than well. Mr. Cleaves rode with us to Washington, where both the boys and girls and Charlie and I bid him a grateful farewell. He was alert and helpful throughout and did not spare himself in arranging for our comfort and ease.

We had an early dinner, and a good one, for train service; then there were card games, conversations, skit planning, story telling until 9:30 when the car lights dimmed.

The morning hours were given to watching for each palm tree and orange grove, and we were all surprised to find more pines than palm until we reached Tampa. Not late to Tampa, we were, however, delayed there for some reason (probably just Southern leisureliness) until 2:45. Here the temperature was 85 degrees and the boys and girls began to experience a certain mellowing of their excitement under the heat of the Southern sun.

The ride from Tampa to Bradenton gave everyone chance for a nap and we awoke to find Florida looking as it should: Spanish moss covering most of the oaks, blossom-laden and fruit-laden citrus trees, and palms and palm-trees of all kinds. Sometimes flat and barren, sometimes eerie and oppressive, sometimes fresh and tropical; the scene was continually exciting.

We shouted when the trainman announced Bradenton and rushed to windows as the train crossed the Manatee River, and we could see the crowd and hear the bands even over the shout that went up within the car as we pulled to a stop at Bradenton station. The visiting Shriners had joined Manatee County High School and a good part of Bradenton's citizenry to greet us with shouts and musical fanfare.

A Shriners band joined the H.S. band and Shriners in clown costumes came aboard the rear of the car, as it were, surround us with welcome. Mr. and Mrs. Kidger were there and they seemed overjoyed to see the reception accorded the group. Despite the heat, there was no restraint in the welcoming cries and gestures. The local railroad station was a delightful scene for greetings, and we were made at once welcome and at home.

Last evening many of the boys and girls watched Sara-de-Sota Pageant parade at Sarasota; the Manatee County H. S. band performed and some of the Bradenton Exchanges were belles or bathing beauties on the M. C. float. Others attended the Shriners' Minstrel Show at the High School. Most got home early for a good night's rest.

Parades offer pleasant diversion for the tourists. Each year another community establishes the custom, so these school bands are kept busy performing in towns from one end of Florida to another. One problem for the schools in this area is convincing the pupils that all the entertainment is for the tourists, not for them.

Today has been a glorious vacation for me and I am set for anything the week may bring. I think one of the reasons for my sense of ease is the fine way our boys and girls conducted themselves on the train. We have a very sociable group; during the trip each one of them seemed to be making an effort to get to know better as many of the others as possible. They all thought to consider others on the train and to leave each place they used as clean as they found it. And more than all else is the spirit. I think it showed best in the planning of the skit. Bob Adolph and Dave Lewis found all cooperative, enthusiastic, and helpful.

Today was busy and eventful. The assembly at Manatee County High School featured N. H. S. representatives, called individually to the stage and lined up there for all to see. After brief welcomes by the dignitaries, a few of our boys and girls were asked to give first impressions.

Schedule cards our boys and girls took to classes were signed by each visited teacher. A good lunch and we were off by bus to De Soto Monument, the Pier Museum (containing the only living manatee), Bradenton's Trailer Park (the largest in the world), and the Cypress Hobby House (owned by Mr. Winter's) where Fella, son of Mr. Winter's and a member of the Manatee County H. S. exchange group, milked rattlesnakes.

Bobby Broiler, manager for the Kiwanians of their trailer park, had interested listeners to the story of the growth of the trailer park, of its reasonable rates, and of its rules for residence. He, a former actor, must inspire great love in these old people getting their last ticks out of life. We saw later the fine gymnasium which has been built by the Kiwanians from profits of the trailer park.

Now it is Tuesday and I sit waiting for the bus to pick us up for the "big" day of the exchange. We don't expect to be back in Bradenton before 2 a.m. tomorrow, but Mr. Davis is convinced that the Passion Play is worth it. Now I am glad to have gotten good rest over the weekend.

Last night's barbecue at Fella Winter's was delightful. Mullet is all Mr. Green said, and we ate swamp cabbage (the heart of young palmettos) and hush puppies, played our unrehearsed skit, and watched movies taken by Gene Mixon on his trip north—all out of doors. But it was cool, almost cold, last evening, and we go off today warmly clad, for we are warned it will be cold tonight at Lake Wales.

Yesterday's trip — Bok Tower and the Passion Play—was truly wonderful. Today we visit the Ringling Museum of Art and then to the beach.

Today we visited the Braves training camp and had pictures taken by Post, Herald and Traveler photographers.

So much excitement and pleasure will make the return to normal difficult, but it is good to hear them praise the school, the climate, the people, and the citrus fruit. (Mary Keenan says she has had no water since she arrived; they give her only orange juice.) Picking fruit at Mixon's was as exciting as we expected. Jean Casten's picture was taken as she stood on a ladder, picker's pouch over one shoulder, picking the tree's best fruit. We picked and ate in the groves—pink grapefruit, tangerines, oranges and guavas; moreover we are here for orange blossom as well as fruit time and the air is pungent with the scent.

And now we go to Zoller's for steak.

Repertory of "Ballets for Young People" to Complete Series of Entertainment Given by P.T.A. Council

A SCENE from "Ballets for Young People" to be presented this Saturday evening in the Newton High School Auditorium.

A Repertory of "Ballets for Young People," to be given at 2:00 p.m. Saturday, March 7, in the Newton High School auditorium, will complete the series of entertainments presented during the 1952-1953 season by the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations in cooperation with the Newton School Department and the local P.T.A.s.

The production, staged by the Henry Street Dance Company of New York under the direction of Alwin Nikolais, will include at least three Dance Plays of wide variety and interest presented in different styles and settings. The first, "Sokar and the Crocodile," a story of old Egypt, relates the tale of Sokar's finding the magic lotus in the garden of the princess. He offers it to the crocodile so that the crocodile will not eat him. The crocodile will not eat him by the lotus and Sokar returns to the garden to become a prince.

In the second Dance Play, "Fable of the Donkey," from Aesop's Fables, the farmer, his son, and the donkey on their way to the Fair meet country girls, clowns, a mother and her three children, and three gossips. Each offers advice, which leads to the disaster of the donkey's running away. "The Indian Sun," an American legend, tells how Khousta shoots the sun from the sky. The gods are enraged. Keeti, the bird, and Leeta, the deer, each try to catch the sun, but are wounded by evil Khousta. Saganai, the brave, then captures the sun and returns it to the sky.

The company is famous also for its "Lobster Quadrille" from Alice in Wonderland, "The Shop herdess and the Chimney Sweep," and "St. George and the Dragon." The Playhouse Dance Company is a group of professional performers organized and directed by Alwin Nikolais. The company has its headquarters in New York City at the well known Henry Street Playhouse, one of New York's major dance centers. During past seasons this company has become noted as one of the foremost groups devoting its efforts to high quality entertainment for young people. The dancers themselves have all appeared in concert work in New York.

The director and choreographer, Mr. Nikolais, is nationally known in the field of modern dance. In addition to his work at the Playhouse, he has been teaching at the Hanya Holm School for the past six years. He has studied with Martha Graham, Charles Weidman and others, and as soloist and with his own company has made several transcontinental tours. He is a composer of ballets for opera, and has received international recognition for his authorship of "Choreograph," a method of analyzing and recording movement.

Freda Miller, musical director and company manager, has written the scores for the Dance Plays. She is nationally known as a composer of music for dance, and her recordings of accompaniment for dance are widely used in this country. The Children's Entertainment Committee of the Council, under the chairmanship of George Kol-

St. Mary's Episcopal Church to Have Annual Spring Rummage March 14

That famous quotation that "one man's meat is another man's poison" applies to the rash of rummage sales about to break out now that spring is at hand; for that which one discards as a dust collector or white elephant may appeal to another as a treasure to be cherished.

The annual spring Rummage— or shall we say "Discard Sale"— is to be held by St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Newton Lower Falls, Saturday, March 14th from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. It is expected that the sale will provide many such treasure or white elephant, depending upon the point of view. At any rate there will be a fine collection for the thrifty person who loves the fun of picking up a bargain.

Mrs. Russell Rowe as Chairwoman has her staff at work well in advance and among her helpers on Friday are Mrs. Edward Wiswell, Mrs. Benjamin Hunt and Mrs. Roy Wheeler; on Saturday, the day of the sale, Mrs. Richard Porter, Mrs. Matthew Manning and Mrs. Richard Paterson. The Men's Clothing table has been assigned to Mmes. George Mahan and Hugo Roetachell; Women's Clothing to Mmes. E. Deane Seely, Atherton Morse and Howard Lewis. Children's Clothing: Mmes. Frederick Gilroy, Frederick Risteen and Louis Vasallotti; Shoe Table: Mmes. William Berndt, Leonard Tims and Harold Buse. Linens and Housewares Table: Mmes. Clarence Wynot, John Varner and Howard MacDonald. Books and Toys: Mrs. Franklin Browning and Mrs. Charles Hewson. Brica-Brac: Mrs. Andrew A. May, Mrs. Bernard R. Smith and Mrs. Sidney Bartow. Millinery: Mrs. Edward G. Porter, Mrs. Hugo Maruli and Mrs. Mary Parker. Mrs. William Norcross is in charge of admissions and Mrs. E. Robinson McMillen and Mrs. Leonard Edel will serve as checkers.

Mrs. Frank N. McCabe, WE 5-3319 will pick up donations of used clothing, housewares, books and toys the day preceding the sale.

New Exhibit at Jackson Homestead

The current exhibit in the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington street, Newton is a display of old-fashioned dresses and accessories loaned and arranged by the Auburndale Woman's Club.

Of particular interest are beautifully embroidered baby dresses a variety of hats and bonnets, and a most unusual collection of rare types of jewelry.

The Homestead has acquired two dress forms, which were put to good use in displaying lovely old dresses in this novel exhibit. Following the established plan of encouraging community participation, the guides for Open House last Sunday were secured from another school group, and very appropriately Auburndale's Lassell Junior College girls were the ones on duty on this day. They looked very attractive in the Homestead's old-fashioned costumes.

As this exhibit will only last for two weeks—until March 14th—interested people are urged not to miss the opportunity of combining a visit to the Special Exhibit room with a tour of the other rooms of our Community Museum.

ler, has made arrangements for the presentation of this delightful program. Flyer giving further details of the Ballets have been distributed through the schools, and tickets, at 60c tax included, are being sold under the direction of Mrs. E. Horowitz by representatives of the Council in each school throughout the city. Tickets for the performance may also be purchased at the door. Because of complete supervision of the audience by Mrs. D. E. Chadsey and her committee, it will not be necessary for parents to accompany their children, but it is suggested by the Safety Committee that younger children be called for at 3:30.

Other members of the Entertainment Committee are Julian Riffkin, who is chairman of Season Programming; James Remley, in charge of Production Arrangements; Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, Publicity Chairman; James Gray, School Liaison Chairman; and Duncan Edmonds, Treasurer.

Open from 3-5 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Weeks Junior High School, P.T.A.

At the next meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association at Weeks Junior High School on March 16th, one of the panel of experts who will discuss the topic "Education on the March" is Dr. J. Roswell Gallagher, Chief of the Adolescent Unit at the Children's Medical Center. He has had a long experience with adolescents. For the past twenty years Dr. Gallagher has devoted his attention exclusively to this age group. After graduation from Yale College and Yale University School of Medicine and training at the New Haven Hospital and the Pennsylvania Hospital, he was successively physician at the Hill School, Phillips Academy, Andover, and Wesleyan University. During this time he carried on an extensive program of research under grants first from the Carnegie Corporation and later from The Grant Foundation, Inc. He and his collaborators have published articles relating to physiological growth, medical and emotional problems of adolescence, and Dr. Gallagher has contributed to the Atlantic Monthly. His book, "Understanding Your Son's Adolescence," has recently been published.

The entire program of this important meeting appears on the front cover of the current issue of the Weeks Messenger, a publication of the P. T. A., financed by the proceeds from the Clothing Exchange. The Messenger staff includes Mrs. George Brewer, editor-in-chief; Mrs. Arnold Canner, Mr. Wilson C. Colvin, Miss Emily Larson, associate editors; Mrs. Arthur A. Vernon, publicity; Mrs. Joseph Smith, copy; and Mrs. A. R. Taylor, art editor.

Horace Mann School P.T.A.

There will be a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association at Horace Mann School, Newtonville, on Tuesday, March 10th at 7:45 p.m. A brief business meeting will be held with the president, Mr. Maurice A. Reidy, Jr., presiding. Program will start at 8:15 p.m. Our speaker for the evening will be Dr. Charles L. Latimer, Jr. and his topic "Children and Their Human Relations." Interesting slides are to be shown during his discussion. An informal question period will follow.

Lucy Jackson Chapter D.A.R.

Mrs. Malcolm E. Nichols will speak on "Our National Emblem" at meeting in Chapter House, Newton Lower Falls, on Monday, March 9. Business meeting at 2 p.m.

Filling cookie kits in preparation for the Annual Cookie Sale by Newton Girl Scouts brought the number of hours given to community services by Troop 11 to well over 1,000 hours.

These ninth graders, all between fourteen and fifteen years of age, had decided at the beginning of the year to make Community Service their project toward the achievement of their curved bars, one of Girl Scoutings top awards and a requisite to becoming Senior Scouts.

The number of hours donated individually ranges from 10 hours to the top contribution of 300 hours by one of the girls.

In addition to being troop aides, helping occasionally with office duties at the Girl Scout headquarters, and at school in the lunch room and library, all members have given generously of their time as mothers' helpers, practicing homemaking in their own homes.

They folded towels and supplies for the nurses' kits at the Newton Distr. Nursing Association, distributed booklets for Newton Civil Defense, were hostesses at the Jackson Homestead, and dance partners at parties at Perkins Institute for the Blind. Two of the girls have earned high praise for their unique baby sitting service, which they offer each Sunday at a local church, where they tend youngsters so that their parents may attend services.

Assisting with the summer program at the Girl Scout Day Camp led to a service which all girls would especially enjoy—being models. The entire troop, together with the family of their leader, Mrs. Stanley Johnson, have been happily posing for photographers since they were chosen as models for a book, "Home Economics," soon to be published by Ginn & Co., and to be distributed nationally.

Newton Officials Oppose Plan To Increase Water Rates

Newton officials joined in opposition Wednesday, Feb. 25 to a proposal that would increase the Metropolitan District Water rate from the present $40 per million gallons to $80, but said they would be willing to go along at least part way on the increase.

Willard S. Pratt, of Newton, director of Public Works, said that it cost the city of Newton about $60 per million gallons last year for Metropolitan District Water Supply, maintenance, and operation.

He stated that Newton would be willing to have the water rate upped to $60 or perhaps a little more, "providing we could see that it be established on a consistently decreasing rate."

He said he agreed that the Metropolitan Water District should operate at cost and even a reasonable profit.

Mark F. Croker, Newton Water Commissioner, was authorized to call a meeting of representatives from the 24 cities and towns being serviced by the district. The representatives would determine what would be a "fair" rate increase.

Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood as well as Mr. Pratt were among those who appeared at the hearing before the Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs to protest the proposed $80 rate.

Mr. Crocker has already started contacting officials in other communities in the district in order to set a meeting.

Mr. Pratt explained that at this meeting, it is expected that representatives will be presented with a general picture of the situation, including figures on bonds outstanding, interest, operating costs, amounts of consumption, and an overall view of what is happening not only today, but what may happen in the future.

Although not so long ago it was accepted doctrine that the population of the United States would shortly cease to grow, it now seems highly probable that it will increase by 50 per cent in the next 50 years, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Open House Held by All Newton Music School Parents' Auxili'y

The Parent's Auxiliary of the All Newton Music School recently held a most successful Open House for the parents and friends of the school.

Mrs. Henry Balos, president, extended a warm welcome to all the guests and assured everyone that they were always welcomed to visit the school and to attend the various musical functions.

The program chairman, Mrs. Wilfred Werner, introduced the featured guest, Professor Barnett of the Wellesley College music faculty. Mr. Barnett acted as a moderator of a lively round table discussion on "How Successful Are We In Making Music Interesting?" The panel included Mrs. Mable Worth, Director; Mrs. Frances Drinker, Miss Irene Forte, Miss Marian Whiteley and Mr. Allen Barker, all of the School faculty.

Professor Barnett pointed out that "we are much more interested today in providing a musical education that makes it possible for people to enjoy music during their leisure than we are in preparing people for the concert stage". Furthermore, "The music school must have a worthwhile curriculum based on the awareness that the study of music is not just the study of an instrument but also the study of theory, musicianship and the history of music. All this should be the required preparation for the study of an instrument."

Following the discussion, a musical program was given by Mrs. Frances Drinker, Mr. Allen Barker and Miss Alice Lillegard, all of the faculty.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Erich Arenberg, Mrs. Eleanor Ryan and Mrs. William Custer.

Mrs. William Bell and Mrs. John Starkweather, both music supervisors of the School, poured

View Spring Merchandise Of Grossman's

The Quincy division of L. Grossman Sons sponsored a branch-wide assembly on Sunday, when more than 150 members of the firm's sales personnel gathered for a spring merchandise preview.

Acting in the role of official host for the group, Sidney W. Grossman, company president, greeted representatives from all of Grossman's 18 New England branches at the firm's main office in Quincy. The forenoon session was devoted to panel discussions on product information, merchandising and public relations — as well as intensive review and preview of new merchandise in the building materials industry.

Upon termination of the morning session, the entire group gathered for dinner at the Rotary Hall in Quincy. Re-assembling for an afternoon session, the meeting was highlighted by an interesting sound film on the Grossman low-cost home and summer camp program. Another interesting phase of the meeting was an advance showing of the new Grossman catalogue, which is to be distributed early in the spring.

The session was concluded with a brief talk by board chairman, Reuben A. Grossman who humorously presented a box of candy to each of the men — "consolation prizes" for the wives who were omitted from the conclave.

Representatives attending from the Grossman-Wellesley branch included: Sam Castleman, Jack Stinchouse, Curt Cedarstrom, Benjamin Orent, Sam Fletcher, Charles Gubellini, Bill Collins, John McDaniel, Larry Morse, Joe Chisholm, Paul Cammick, Arthur Merowitz, John Griffin, Elliott Levine.

Outstanding aspects of the company's business in 1952 were discussed by Frederic W. Ecker, the Metropolitan's executive vice-president. He informed the meeting that last year was the company's best in history, and that more persons are insured now by the Metropolitan than ever before.

An overall review of service rendered to life, accident, and sickness insurance policyholders was set forth by Cecil J. North, vice-president in charge of field management.

News of the Day

Dutch Relief Collection at the Frank Ashley Day Junior High School has already received fine and generous response from boys and girls. This emergency appeal came at a time when dozens of Junior Red Cross boxes were being filled. Miss Ammidown, in charge of Junior Red Cross, has announced that already over $500 has been collected. The In-School Junior Red Cross Council held a special meeting February 9th to organize further present Red Cross plans.

Day Varsity basketball team lost another close game, this time to our nearby town of Belmont, 36-32. The J-V team also lost, 26-17.

Plans are now well under way for the 1953 Day Science Fair coming this year on Wednesday evening, March 18, from 7:30-9:00 P.M. Pupils of all grades are being encouraged to enter projects related to science. As before, the main display will be in the library. Other activities non-academic in nature, will be presented by the Practical Arts Department. Demonstrations in Shop, Graphic Arts, Clothing and Foods will take place. Also the Physical Education, Art, Music, and Visual Aids groups are to hold open house that night. The judges of the science projects will be teachers of Science from other Newton Schools.

This week at Day brought two assemblies during Community Living periods. The first was the Staff Induction ceremony which started the various student staffs on the second half year. Philip Joslin was general chairman. Carole Wedden sang a solo accompanied by the school orchestra. Jacqueline King, Ninth Grade president conducted opening exercises. Later both Mr. Morse and Miss Peoples spoke briefly on staff responsibilities. The principal guest of the morning, Mr. Gores, Superintendent of Schools, spoke informally to the assembly on various difficult problems of our times.

The other assembly was the athletic awards ceremony to successful members of the boys varsity, junior varsity, and intramural teams. James Collett presided. Mr. Eldert gave out letters and other awards.

Various items of school life are as follows: The first social dance group met on Thursday in the before-school period. A number of boys and girls met to learn modern dancing. At the present time nine practice teachers from Harvard, Radcliffe, and Boston University are at Day doing intensive work with various Day teachers.

The Library Council elected Jane Dahl, President; David Sachar, Vice-president; and Alfreda Farina, Secretary.

Newton Community Club

Many Newton Community Club members are planning to attend the Music Festival of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held March 31 at the Hotel Shelton, in Boston. One of the outstanding events of the club year, the festival program will feature several young New England artists, and two noted speakers who will discuss topics pertinent to music as an art.

Those attending the morning session, which begins at 10:30 and is held in the ballroom of the hotel, will hear selections by the Choral Society of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs. Donald Pateron, baritone; Natalie Pakkanen, mezzo-soprano, and Pseudora Cunningham, concert pianist, will be soloists during this session. Accompanist for the singers will be John Moe, of the New England Conservatory of Music.

Speaker of the morning will be George M. Kendall, colony manager of the Edward Mawdow Association of Peterborough, New Hampshire.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 on the roof-garden of the Hotel Shelton. Guest speaker will be Irving Fine, composer, chairman of Schools of Creative Arts, and Associate Professor of Music at Brandeis University.

At 2:00 the afternoon session will be held in the ballroom. The All Saints' Choristers, boys' choir of All Saints' Church, Worcester, will present a concert. William Self, organist and choir-master of All Saints' Church, directs this group, which is soon to go on an extended tour outside Massachusetts. Eighteen boys, ranging in age from 10 to 15 years, make up this choir. It is one of two to appear on March 22 at Symphony Hall to sing the St. Matthew's Passion with the Handel and Haydn Society directed by Dr. Thompson Stone. The group sings a capella, solo and combined works of both old and new composers on this program.

Mrs. Thompson Stone is in charge of the Music Festival tickets, which should be obtained in advance. Deadline for sale of luncheon tickets is March 27, Friday afternoon. Registration tickets may be obtained at the door, if seats remain, but women wishing to attend are urged to procure their tickets before that time.

Banks Will Show Three New Exhibits

Three new exhibits in oils will be shown in the Newton banks from March 10 through the 24th. At the Newton-Waltham Trust Company in Newton Centre square will be Mrs. Mattie Whittemore's oils.

Mrs. Whittemore's vibrant canvases have been shown regularly in the annual exhibitions of several art associations of which she is a member. She has been represented also in group shows in many art galleries in New Hampshire. Much of her painting is done in the Monadnock region although her subjects include North Shore marines, Southern plantation and Florida sands.

At the Newton Centre Savings Bank on Union street, Marietta McCarthy's oils will be on exhibition. Miss McCarthy, able secretary of the Newton Art Association, studied with such well-known artists as Aldro Hibbard, Elmer Greene, Frank Rhines and at two of our local art schools. She has received awards in group shows and for two years was accepted for the Jordan Marsh spring exhibit. Her palette knife rendering is unique among the methods used by members of the art association and gives an atmospheric effect to her chosen subjects.

The Newton National Bank, Beacon street, will exhibit the oils of Mrs. Etta Piotti Ramsdell. Mrs. Ramsdell's training in art included the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, the New York School of Design, and the Breckenridge summer school. In Milano who studied privately and at John Hopkins University, Baltimore, she perfected her technique in medical drawing which occupies much of her time professionally. The paintings in this show, rich in color without being glamorous, represent a leisure activity of Mrs. Ramsdell.

3 Newton Clergymen Speak On Brotherhood to Lions Club

Three Newton clergymen, representing the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths, presented talks at the Newton Lions Club Brotherhood Night program last Thursday at the Newton Y. M. C. A.

Thomas W. Leydon, president, introduced Rabbi Harold D. Kastle, spiritual director of Temple Reyim in West Newton; Rev. John E. Thomas, curate of St. Philip Neri Church in Waban, and Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, in Newtonville.

In explaining one legend of Judaism, Rabbi Kastle said that God had sent four angels to different parts of the world for handfuls of dust. Adam was created from this dust; therefore, no man can claim his ancestor was better than the ancestor of any other, he explained.

Rabbi Kastle also explained that there are no two of us exactly alike, although we have the same general characteristics. We must recognize our similarities and our differences, he said, and we can practice brotherhood by knowing our neighbor, by learning how he differs and why he differs. We can help our neighbor and love our neighbor, Rabbi Kastle said in concluding, only when we know what pains him.

Fr. Thomas, in explaining the Catholic teachings of brotherhood, said that the nature of man is that he was made by God and destined by God to the Eternal Heaven. We have a common origin, a common life and a common destiny; and we are bound to help our neighbor no matter what his race, creed or religion.

Thomas added that our duty to God is to love our neighbor, to honor and respect him and give him mercy when necessary.

Rev. Kingwill commented that brotherhood should be practiced every day of the year—that we should not need a week of brotherhood if we had a year of brotherhood, every year. We have a right to differ from our neighbor, Rev. Kingwill continued, and we must know where he is different and why he is different.

We can try to convince our neighbor not to be different, but we have an obligation to fight anyone who denies our neighbor the right to be different, concluded Rev. Kingwill, referring to a neighbor as "anyone, no matter what his race, religion or color."

B.C. Eleven to Play Two Night Games

With the exception of two games, the 1953 Boston College football team will abandon night football this Fall, it was learned today when B. C.'s Graduate Manager of Athletics, John P. Curley, announced the Eagles' nine game grid schedule.

The two exceptions are the Eagles' local opener with Clemson College on September 25th, which will be played on a Friday night, and the L. S. U. game at Baton Rouge, Louisiana, which is scheduled for a Saturday evening.

The B. C. team will play six games in Boston and three away from home. The Eagles will fly to L. S. U. on October 3rd, to New York City for a meeting with Fordham on October 17th, and to Xavier University in Cincinnati on October 24th.

In Boston the Eagles will meet Villanova, Richmond, Wake Forest, Detroit, and Holy Cross, in addition to the above-mentioned Clemson.

The schedule: September 25th — Clemson College.

October 3rd — L. S. U. at Baton Rouge, La.

October 10th — Villanova College.

October 17th — Fordham University at New York City.

October 24th — Xavier University at Cincinnati, Ohio.

October 31st — Richmond University.

November 7th — Wake Forest.

November 14th — University of Detroit.

November 28th — Holy Cross College.

Twenty-Two Teachers Are Appointed

The Newton School Committee has announced appointment of twenty new teachers and also stated that three new schools are presently under construction and indicated two more are being planned, and reviewed the school construction program in which eight new buildings or additions have been occupied since 1948.

The three schools under construction are, according to Supt. Harold B. Gores, the Claflin School, Newtonville—which will be ready for occupancy the middle of next month; the Spaulding School, Oak Hill; and the Beebe School, Waban—the last two to be completed by the end of the year.

Hold Three Day Outing

The Order of the Arrow, Norumbega Council's honor camp, held a three-day outing at Camp Quinapoxet last weekend.

The occasion was the Order's annual winter camping trip, and this year 20 Scouts from Newton, Wellesley and Weston participated. They were accompanied by Fred Craig, Ranger of Nobscot Reservation.

Aside from the general experience of camping and the usual daily housekeeping chores, the weekend was devoted strictly to pleasure, and mother nature was most generous by providing the Scouts with perfect weather for hockey playing on Hubbard Pond and mountain climbing on Mt. Monadnock.

Newtown Scouts making the trip were Edwin Cruise of Troop 4B; Edson DeCastro and Guy Smith of Troop 7; Robert Everett of Troop 21; Philip Gleason, John Scabia and Douglas Smith of Troop 11; Agis Kalnajs of Troop 49; Lawrence Saltman of Troop 17; Arman Szatmary of Troop 19; William Waldman of Air Squadron 1; Richard Wolk of Troop 27; and William Davis of Troop 15.

Auxiliary Firemen Instructed In Methods of Rescue Work

Gilbert Champagne, Newton Police Department first aid expert was the principal instructor for the monthly meeting of the Newton Auxiliary Fire Department last week at Civil Defense Headquarters, Newtonville.

Mr. Champagne has just returned from a two week course at the National Civil Defense College's School for Survival at Olney, Maryland. The very latest techniques of rescue work were shown by motion picture and the instructor augmented the visual training with the teaching of an extremely effective and simple method of securing an injured or wounded person in a stretcher and lowering the victim to the ground safely and swiftly. He was aided by Arthur Brouillette, Newton Trade School teacher.

The Civil Defense College has built a "set" of demolished buildings and units of varied construction where actual conditions are simulated beyond description. At the school, the students are subjected to the most rigorous training possible and then return to their respective home areas where their knowledge is put to use preparing Civil Defense units to prevail over odds and hardship should the big test come.

Chief John E. Corcoran of the Fire Department spoke briefly and described the new ladder which was accepted earlier that day by the City of Newton and which is now in service from the Newton Corner station. The chief said that the next important piece of equipment which he hopes we will acquire is a rescue truck which will serve the entire city in the capacity of saving lives.

Also present at the meeting were regular firefighters Gannon, Di Russo, and Keegan. Assistant Chief Henry Murphy was the regular department instructor of the evening.

Director of Civil Defense William Baxter announced that the second Sector 4 test will be held on Sunday, March 8, with all Auxiliary Firefighters required to take part. The test area will be Brookline this month and the assembly area will be the same as last month.

Auxiliary Chief Milton Young announced the alert times and the order of march and stressed need of full participation. Chief Young also spoke on recruiting and training plans for the future.

The auxiliary meets once a month at Civil Defense Headquarters and trains during the interim with Newton's Fire Department and its regular firefighting force.

The seven new men signed up at this meeting included Mark Schwartz of Newton, Elliot Harris of Waban, Gordon Wilk of Newton Centre, Jason Dennenberg of Oak Hill, Alfred Huard of Newton Highlands and Galen Klevenger of Newtonville.

Training Champions Not Sole Aim of Y's Athletic Program

John N. Pauler, Chairman of the Newton YMCA Physical Education Committee, recently stated that "producing champions is commendable but not necessary."

Referring to the YMCA's work with boys, he said, "The Y's physical education program is designed to include as many boys as possible, giving them the opportunity to participate in organized physical activities."

He made his remarks while commenting on the YMCA's 75th Anniversary Building Fund to be held this spring. His statement was in reference to a statement by General Campaign Chairman Wilbur W. Bullen in which Bullen asserted that one of the principal aims of the coming campaign "is to improve facilities for our many physical activities."

The Newton YMCA Physical Education program now serves nearly 150 boys from elementary to junior high school age. It is conducted by Eugene R. Clark, Jr., Associate Physical Director, who works with Richard B. Simmons, head of the Y's Physical Education Department.

There are three groups of boys participating in the program at present. These are the Gophers and Badgers composed of 3rd, 4th and 5th grade boys nine to twelve years of age from Parochial schools here and elementary schools outside of Newton. There are 43 boys in this group. The Beavers and Otters group includes 54 boys of the same age group from Newton elementary schools while there are 34 junior high school age boys in the Jays and Hawks group.

The boys in these groups engage in a series of athletic contests with a certain number of points awarded for meeting specific standards. Boys scoring 500 points are awarded YMCA emblems and the top three in each class win medals.

The program calls for two gym periods and two swims in the YMCA pool afterwards. Each boy also receives an instructional swim period weekly. All are given an opportunity to pass National YMCA aquatic tests. There are nine classes from beginner on up. Clark, a certified leader examiner, is qualified to give these tests. Upon successful completion of the requirements the boys are awarded pins, cards and emblems.

There are three swimming teams operating under the banner of the Newton YMCA. Coached by Clark, they are Class C for boys 12 and under; Class B for boys 13 and 14 and Class A for boys 15, 16 and 17. The three teams have a total membership of 45.

Although the emphasis is on wide participation rather than individual champions, the Newton YMCA's teams have produced champions. At the annual Two-State sports festival held at Springfield last March, David Lee of the Newton YMCA placed first in the Class C 20-yard backstroke event and Newton YMCA swimmers Ray Millard and Edward Pitts placed first and second respectively in the Class B diving competition.

A junior high school age basketball team has also recently been organized by the Newton Y's Physical Department.

What Shall We Eat . . . Wonderful Cookies

What may we be so bold as to ask, could possibly taste better than Girl Scout cookies with a tall glass of milk? Your youngsters will like the idea of mixing special drinks to go with the cookies for a snack or a party. Here's a Banana Milk Shake you will be glad to have them master.

Of course, a mixer is the easiest way to mash bananas. However, if the children are making this drink by hand, we suggest they slice and mash the ripe bananas. Then, to get a smooth mixture, they add a little milk to the mashed fruit and beat with an egg beater. You will be pleased to see what a sense of accomplishment this gives the youngsters.

BANANA MILK SHAKE
4 cups milk
4 ripe bananas, mashed
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Dash salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Combine ingredients in a mixer or bowl and mix well. Pour into glasses and serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Jennings Honored at Reception Sunday

The First Baptist Church in Newton, Newton Centre, gave an informal Tea and Reception in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Jennings last Sunday, from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. Dr. Jennings is retiring as the Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, a post he has held with distinction for over seven years. During that time the Massachusetts Council has quadrupled its budget and has grown greatly in its functions and influence. The Council is today in the forefront of interdenominational activity in the United States.

Mrs. Jennings (the former Ethel Corle) has been especially active in church work having served as President of the Newton Council of Church Women for three years and as President of the Woman's Union of the First Baptist Church in Newton for three years.

The Jennings expect to leave Newton early in April to take up residence in Lawrence, Kansas, the city where Dr. Jennings held his first pastorate. Mrs. Jennings graduated from and taught in the Fine Arts Department of the University of Kansas which is also in Lawrence. Lawrence will be home to the Jennings all the more because their two daughters and three grandchildren are living forty miles away, in Kansas City.

The Tea and Reception was sponsored by the Church Cabinet, an organization composed of the Church Officers and Staff and one delegate from each church organization. The following members of the Cabinet served on the Tea and Reception Committee: Mr. Bradbury H. Huff, Chairman (Chairman of the Advisory Committee), Mrs. Richard C. Burrows (Chairman of the Social Committee), Mrs. Ralph A. Sherwood (President of the Woman's Union), and Mr. Donnell M. Carr, Sr. (President of the Men's Fellowship).

Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury H. Huff, Mrs. Ralph A. Sherwood and Mr. Donnell M. Carr, Sr., were in the Receiving Line with Dr. and Mrs. Jennings.

Circle Six, Mrs. Robert S. Jigger, Leader, — Mrs. Jennings' Circle — presented the Jennings a Guest Book which was signed by all those attending the Reception.

The eight Circles of the Woman's Union, represented by Mrs. Frank C. Rideout, presented Mrs. Jennings with a leather handbag.

Dr. Jennings has been a member of the Board of Directors of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. (formerly the Federal Council) since coming to Boston. He is a member of the Rotary Club of Boston and a member of the Board of the United Community Services of Boston.

Junior Red Cross Council Is Host to Inter-city Delegates

Newton High School's Junior Red Cross Council played host to delegates from five Massachusetts cities last Saturday, as it sponsored the first inter-city Junior Red Cross conference to be held in the area. On invitation from the local group, 35 representatives from councils in Springfield, Worcester, Quincy and Boston joined with Newton members in discussing problems of program and organization confronting them in their home chapters.

The conference, which was held at the Newton Chapter House in Newtonville, opened at 10:15 with a welcome by Philip Wolfe, president of the Newton Council, after which Mrs. Riley Hampton, Junior Red Cross Director for the Newton Chapter, introduced the visiting directors, teacher-sponsors and delegates. Miss Mary McDonald, General Field Representative, then told the group of Red Cross aid to flood-stricken Europe. This was followed by two group discussions: the first, "Organization Problems of Junior Red Cross Council," was led by Alan Levinson, Boston Latin School, with a panel made up from all participating schools; the second, an open discussion on "Bridging the Gap Between Junior and Senior Red Cross," was led by Mrs. Mary A. Killian, Junior Red Cross Director of the Worcester Chapter.

After lunch, served by a canteen committee from the local school, the afternoon session began with a talk on the School and School Exchange by Mimi Antonelli of Newton High School, member of the Southern Exchange which goes to Bradenton, Fla., this week. The final discussion, "Working Toward a Better Red Cross Program," was led by Richard LaCroix of Quincy High School, with representatives from all schools again participating. After a brief evaluation.

Program chairman for the event was Ronald Burk, vice-president of the Newton High Junior Red Cross Council. Judy Shedd was chairman of the canteen committee, assisted by Elizabeth Wasgatt, Joan Taylor, Debra Solomon, Gloria Osgood, Joyce Marchant and Helen Bernstein. Stephen Phillips, Betsy Beeuwkes and Deborah Robson made up the welcome committee. Other Newton High students who attended included Carolyn Jobs, Roberta Goldberg, Elizabeth Auerbach, Edith Johnson, Sarah Glick, Monas Ring and Jean Lieberg. Teacher sponsors of the Newton Council are Miss Mary I. Lanigan and Mrs. Elizabeth Clark Lee of the Newton High School faculty.

R. C. to Open New Nurse's Aides Course

A new class of Red Cross Volunteer Nurses' Aides will begin training at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital on Monday evening, March 16, and continue thereafter each Monday and Wednesday evening. Mrs. Joan Woodward, R. N. will be the instructor. There will be 36 hours of classwork and 44 hours of hard work under professional supervision.

In a typical week in February, Mrs. Joseph C. MacDonald, chairman of the Nurses' Aide Service, Newton Chapter, reported that 14 Aides were on duty at the Bloodmobile, 12 were on call for the case room at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, 12 gave volunteer service days and 21 served evenings at the same hospital. One Aide was on duty at the Boston Veteran's Hospital and one at the Wellesley Convalescent Home.

Newton Girl Scouts' Annual Cookie Sale Receives Enthusiastic Endorsements

BROWNIE SCOUT Elizabeth Blossom of Troop 183 and Intermediate Scout Patricia Toas of Troop 48 receive from E. Methodist Church Plans to Make Extensive Renovations

Plans are going forward for extensive repairs and renovations at the Newton Methodist Church, Centre and Wesley Streets, Newton Corner. A special Repair and Renovation Committee was appointed in November, with Mr. Eldred M. Peterson as general chairman. In December the committee rendered a preliminary report outlining a program of repairs to the outer walls and roof as well as redecoration of the sanctuary. This report was accepted by the Official Board and the committee was then authorized to proceed with a financial program to secure $25,000, the amount estimated as necessary to cover the proposed repairs and renovations.

Red Cross District Chairmen And Captains Are Announced

Completion of enrollment of district chairmen and captains in the residential division of the current Red Cross 1953 Fund drive was announced this week by F. Brittain Kennedy, Fund Chairman. "We are particularly pleased to have completed such a vigorous and enthusiastic campaigning organization," said Mr. Kennedy, "and early returns show that they are doing a splendid job and are receiving contributions which reflect our increased needs."

local agency, we must stress the fact that each contributor should be made aware of our greater need. We are confident that Newton people will rally to the support of the Newton Chapter and that through their support we will achieve our objective."

A graduate of Williams College and Boston University Law School, Judge Robinson is a former Assistant Attorney General of Massachusetts, a former Assistant Corporation Counsel of the City of Newton, and was Executive Secretary to Governor Robert F. Bradford and the Governor's Council. He has been Special Justice of the Boston Juvenile Court since 1948.

Honorable Theodore R. Lockwood, Mayor, heads the list of community leaders sponsoring the Newton Girl Scouts' annual Cookie Sale, which starts on Saturday of this week. The Mayor says, "Every Newton citizen will want to support this city-wide project to raise the funds necessary to supplement the Red Feather grant to the Girl Scouts and the small dues which the girls collect in their own troops. We are proud that our Newton Girl Scout organization is considered one of the finest in the country. We want it to continue to help our girls have fun together, become better citizens, and serve our community in countless ways, large and small. I sincerely hope that you will have a cordial welcome for the Brownie or Intermediate Scout who offers you the opportunity to purchase fine cookies and to help a fine cause."

Statements from other leading citizens testify to the importance of Girl Scouts to the community, and point up the need of the Girl Scouts for complete community support.

Harold Gores, Superintendent of Schools: "Because this year, for the first time, the Girl Scouts are organized on the basis of school neighborhoods rather than districts, it is especially vital that everyone support the Cookie Sale. We in the schools have much at stake in the success of the sale, for we realize that a strong Scout program makes for better schools. The chief strength of this program in Newton lies in the girls—over 2,000—the adult volunteers—more than 500 women and a rapidly increasing number of men, and help of only three professional workers and one secretary. That strength must be augmented by funds. Not only does this year's Cookie Sale eliminate the village-by-village fund raising effort of the past but—and this is important—the cookies are superb."

William Cahill, President of the Community Chest: "The Newton Community Chest is happy to give its enthusiastic endorsement to the Girl Scout Cookie Sale. Red Feather funds are not intended to meet all the financial needs of the Girl Scout organization, and we are well aware that additional money is required to carry on its program. As well as providing excellent cookies, this drive gives the girls an opportunity to contribute to their own support. They gain valuable experience in meeting the community through this campaign. We urge our fellow Newtonians to buy Girl Scout Cookies."

Mrs. Adelaide Ball, President of the Community Council: "Newton needs Girl Scouting. We realize as never before how important every agency is which helps young people of all races and nationalities come together naturally and with respect for each other. The Girl Scout program is dedicated to these democratic principles. I hope the community will support the Cookie Sale and give Girl Scouting the enthusiastic backing it deserves."

Chief Philip Purcell, Newton Police Department: "There is so much that is good for our community in the program of Girl Scouting. This organization provides an opportunity for girls of every race, creed, and nationality to meet together in leisure-time activities on the same free, democratic basis on which they meet in the public schools. It helps them learn to respect others and to work with others in service for the community. Because Girl Scouting builds good citizens, we of the Police Department heartily endorse

Taxpayers' Association Urge Budget Clearance for Capital Improvements

Open 'Sallies' Spring Drive On March 25

A Spring drive for clothing, furniture, bric-a-brac, and all useable discarded articles, will be held throughout the City of Newton beginning March 25th and continuing through April 15th, to benefit the Men's Social Service Center of The Salvation Army.

Citizens of Newton are being asked to clear out their attics and cellars and get together whatever they no longer need so that these articles will be ready for pick-up by the Army's big red trucks during these three weeks.

The mending and repairing of these articles, and making them useable and saleable in the nine Family Service Stores throughout Greater Boston for families of income, is part of the rehabilitation program at the Center. Here, many of the men have personal problems they are trying to overcome and, in renovating and restoring clothing and furniture, they themselves, with the guidance from the officers of the Center, become rehabilitated.

Chairman of the Newton Endorsing Committee, is William M. Cahill, Mrs. Edward Godfrey Huber is chairman of the residential members and John B. Rubenstein, chairman of the business group.

Parents' Behavior Subject for Panel At Warren PT Ass'n

Harold Gores, superintendent of Newton Schools, will act as moderator of a panel discussion on the subject "Do's and Don'ts for Parents of Junior High School Students," to be presented at the Warren PTA meeting tomorrow (Friday) night at 8:00 o'clock.

Others on the panel will be Mrs. Lorraine Carter, School Dental Hygienist; Mrs. Matt B. Jones Jr., eighth grade parent; Dr. Egon E. Kettwinkel, prominent Newton physician; and Robert H. Mitchell, director of guidance at Newton High School. The discussion will relate to the proper handling of situations affecting the physical, emotional, social and intellectual growth of junior high school children. Parents and visitors are invited to come early and inspect the new Warren Thrift Shop between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Name Local Woman Trustee of Speech Correction School

Miss Margaret E. Byrne of Newton, assistant professor of education at Boston College, has been appointed trustee of the Institute for Speech Correction, Inc., of Boston.

Prior to her position at Boston College, Miss Byrne was junior supervisor in education of the Massachusetts Division of Mental Hygiene. In this capacity she worked at the state Child Guidance Clinic in Quincy. The 35-year-old Institute was the first school of its kind in the United States.

Favor Setting Up Schedule For the Future

A weakness in annually estimating Newton's services and costs lies in the fact that capital improvements generally do not appear in the budget and are voted separately from it, stated Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., executive director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association this week. Capital improvements often appear in the budget for the first time when the cost of retiring the debt already incurred for their construction is shown.

Except for school buildings immediately needed, the customary procedure has been to let the impetus for the improvements come from the villages concerned and then to take what appears to be the most critical items on that basis first, leaving the rest to follow along as may be. Thus, sewers and streets in newly developed areas come first now, then new schools, then replacements and finally a kind of intermittent Donnybrook of proposals.

The city recently got permission to borrow another $2,000,000, and it seems as though everyone is looking for some of that or any other money available, Muther continued. For example, those wanting replacement fire houses, a replacement elementary school in Newton Centre, or playgrounds in Waban or at the Underwood School are all active again this year.

The Planning Board's powers are really limited to being advisory now, but it does seem to be time for a thorough reappraisal of what capital improvements we should have and in what order.

Therefore the Taxpayers' Association suggests that the Planning Board now set up a schedule for the next few years covering projects and their financing. The program would be subject to revision each year. But to put strength in the orderly development of the city's long range financing as well as its long range physical program of construction, it appears to us that an ordinance should be adopted which would require a minimum program from the Planning Board and then the clearance of each year's proposals through the regular city budget procedure in the form of recommendations by the Planning Board, the departments concerned and then the mayor, coming finally before the aldermen. Newton's debt has tripled since the war, and the logical time to decide on these new expensive commitments is at budget time, before the projects are individually undertaken and when the city's whole fiscal program for the year is being examined, Muther concluded.

Rummage Sale To Aid School Exchange Fund

The Rummage Sale for the Newton High School and School Exchange will be held at the Newton High School Gymnasium Saturday, March 21. Since this is one of the major money-raising ventures of the exchanges, the student members of both the

Bagley to Make Alderman-at- Large Bid

With the announcement of Alderman-at-Large Kenneth Priors intention to enter the mayoralty race in Newton, James J. Bagley, real estate and insurance broker of 934 Watertown street, West Newton, has announced his candidacy to succeed Mr. Prior as alderman-at-large from Ward 3.

Mr. Bagley in the last State-wide campaign for the office of Registrar of Deeds, obtained more votes in Newton than any of the six opponents on his ticket for that office.

A former City and Federal employee, Mr. Bagley feels that with his vast business experience, his knowledge of the problems of the city, his sincere interest in the affairs of the community and the citizens of Newton, that he would be best qualified to serve the people of Newton in the office of Alderman-at-Large, Ward 3.

Hodgdon Is Third to Seek Post of Mayor

Walter A. Hodgdon of 313 Washington street, Newton, announced his candidacy for mayor of Newton this week, bringing the total of men seeking that post to three.

A former alderman-at-large and prominent in civic affairs for many years, Mr. Hodgdon sought the post of mayor in the last municipal election in 1951, but was defeated by a better than three to one margin by Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood.

Announcing his candidacy, Mr. Hodgdon said, "After careful consideration of the existing inequities in the administration of the government of the city of Newton, I am announcing that I will be a candidate for mayor of Newton in the coming city election this Fall."

Last week two local state legislators revealed their intention of running for mayor. They were Sen. Richard H. Lee and Rep. Howard Whitmore Jr.

The announcements came shortly after Mayor Lockwood declared he would not seek reelection and would retire from active politics with the expiration of his current term.

Newton Chamber of Commerce Favors State Commerce Dept.

The Newton Chamber of Commerce went on record as favoring two pending bills which would create a State Department of Commerce, in the monthly bulletin released last week.

The bills supported by the Chamber are House 2274 and House 2284. The first calls for the creation of the new department, and the second would transfer the Department of Industrial Accidents to the status of an independent division within the Department of Labor and Industries, thus clearing the way for the new department.

Outlining the plans for the proposed state department, Rupert C. Thompson, executive secretary of the Newton Chamber, explained:

"The research division would compile information and make studies useful to industrial and commercial development, undertake research projects on problems peculiar to this state in co-ordination with existing private and governmental agencies and educational institutions, and represent the Commonwealth's viewpoint on legislative and administrative programs affecting its economic interests arising in the federal, state and local governments."

"The development division would further the development of existing industry with particular attention to small business; and attract new enterprises. It would coordinate its activities with those of public and private agencies, negotiate directly with industries seeking suitable location in Massachusetts, disseminate information for expansion of commercial activities, and further industrial developments efforts of local communities by assisting in formation of industrial foundations."

"The planning division would prepare a master plan for physical development of the Commonwealth, with the general purpose of guiding a coordinated economic development for the promotion of the general welfare, review and report on state department proposals in relation to the master plan, assist in preparing long-range capital budgeting and programming of public works projects, etc."

"The present Massachusetts Development and Industries Commission (now in the Department of Labor and Industries) and State Planning Board (now in the Executive Department) would be abolished. Their power and duties would be transferred to the new department."

Soldier-Writer Describes 16 Months Reporting Korea War for Army Paper

Giving a graphic description of what it feels like to parachute down into enemy territory in the Korean warfare, Staff Sgt. Larry Kane of Waltham spoke before members of Newton Rotary Club at their meeting held Monday noon at Brae Bourn Country Club.

Sgt. Kane was a paratrooper — war correspondent for the Army in Korea where he covered fighting for 16 months for the "Pacific Stars and Stripes," daily newspaper of the services. His Army career as writer and soldier has taken him from the Pentagon to Puerto Rico and Korea.

Sketching the background of the Korean war from the first days of the 1950 invasion, Sgt. Kane told of the brilliant stand of the early American troops, the 24th Division, the 1st Cavalry Division, and the 2nd Infantry Division.

The importance of the bases in Japan and on Okinawa for support of Korean troops was emphasized. With maps and paratrooper equipment, Sgt. Kane demonstrated to the Rotarians the work of the airborne troops.

Presiding at the meeting was Mr. E. Graham Bates, president of the club. Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian, a girl scout official, introduced Girl Scouts Ruth Butlerfield of Warren Junior High School, who told the Rotarians about the coming Girl Scout cookie sale.

Donad Rust reported on plans for the Rotary Club Ladies Night to be held Monday.

Upper Falls Soldier Returns to U.S.; May Get Medal for Aiding Children

Cpl. Henry DeMichele, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeMichele of 16 Sullivan avenue, Newton Upper Falls, has returned home after 13 months in Korea with the 32nd Quartermaster Corps.

Cpl. DeMichele arrived in Oregon by ship Sunday night and has been transferred to Ft. Devens. He expects to receive his discharge from the service later this month.

While in Korea, he undertook much volunteer work for Korean children. He was instrumental in soliciting packages from the United States for the young victims of the war, and helped the children mark Christmas happily by sponsoring a gigantic Christmas party.

His efforts in aiding the children were so successful, that Cpl. DeMichele was recommended for the Bronze Star Medal.

His unit was part of the Army's Korean Base Section, the requisitioning and supply agency for UN forces in that country. Cpl. DeMichele, who arrived in Korea last May, served as operations sergeant for headquarters and was stationed in Pusan.

A graduate of Newton High School, the corporal worked with his father in a family knit-wear manufacturing plant in Needham Heights. He entered the Army in March, 1951.

He holds the Korean Service Ribbon and the United Nations Service Ribbon.

Cpl. DeMichele is one of eight children. He has two brothers, Carmine and John, and five sisters, Alice, Clara, Anita, Emma and Celia.

Spring Musicale At High School To Be 'Brigadoon'

As its spring musicale, Newton High School will present the stage hit, "Brigadoon," on March 27 and 28. Newton will be one of the first high schools to undertake the production of this play, which had a long and highly successful run on Broadway.

"Brigadoon" is the story of a romance in a little Scottish Highlands town, which exists for only one day in each century. It is on one such occasion that two Americans discover the town and each falls in love with one of the inhabitants.

Over four hundred pupils participated in the tryouts held in January to choose the cast and chorus. Well over a hundred are now in daily rehearsal, with an even larger number involved in committee work.

The groups cooperating to make this ambitious venture an outstanding success are the Art Department, stage crew, Department of English, Music Department, combining vocal and orchestral groups, drama clubs and Physical Education Department, under their various leaders.

All seats will be reserved for the two evening performances in the High School Auditorium on Friday and Saturday, March 27 and 28. Tickets may be purchased through any Newton High student. Half-price tickets, also reserved, for the children's daytime performances on Saturday morning, will be available in all junior high and elementary schools.

"Brigadoon" promises to add another triumph to the impressive list of successful Newton High productions.

Holy Name Group Told of Catholic Church's History

Judge Elias Shamon of Boston Municipal Court traced the growth of the Catholic church and explained its problems in the early centuries Sunday before the St. Philip Neri Holy Name Society in Waban.

Judge Shamon told the group of the history of the Maronites, an Eastern rite of the church, which was founded under St. Maron at Antioch, Lebanon, in 438 A.D. He stressed their contributions to the Catholic church, pointing out that in the first 200 years of its existence, seven popes came from this rite.

George McLaughlin, president, conducted the meeting. All members of the Holy Name Society are invited to attend the next meeting in April.

Spotlight on Weeks

Singing Assembly — On Wednesday, March 4th, the whole school participated in an assembly. Song sheets containing all the hit tunes were given to everyone and with Larry Lipson at the piano, we sang for a whole period.

Dave Hazelton and Sue Stone rendered solos. Dave sang "Oh Happy Day" and Sue sang "Teardrops on My Pillow."

This program was a novelty and we are looking forward to more assemblies of this kind in the near future.

Our thanks go to Miss Nikitas, who, as in the past, worked so hard to make this assembly possible.

Cooperative Bank Checking System — Our Weeks Cooperative Bank has added something new to its efficient system. Now for the first time the Bank has opened a checking service.

This is how it works. You may buy a check for 10c and fill it out. It may be used something like a money order. This checking system is only one of the bank's many services and this is one more thing for Weeks to be proud of for as you may know, Weeks is the only school in Newton with a cooperative bank.

parental discipline caused by mothers having worked in industry in World War II. Robert E. Segal, executive director of the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Boston, told the Sisterhood of Temple Shalom, Wednesday.

Mr. Segal said that a study of "kid gangs" will undoubtedly prove this to be so.

He added that a breakdown in parental discipline is shown by the increased use of "garrison belts and switch knives by youngsters committing acts of violence on our streets today."

Speaking during a panel discussion on human relations, one of a series of meetings in Newton following the beating of a 14-year-old boy outside Temple Emanuel, Mr. Segal said he deplored the "lack of discipline by parents who allow their youngsters to roam the streets late at night."

"There is absolutely no guarantee in the Constitution which says that kids won't be belted while walking down the street at, say, 11 p.m."

Also participating in the discussion were: Rabbi Irving Mandel, of Temple Shalom; Miss Adelaide P. Ball, president of the Newton Community Council and head of the newly-appointed Human Relations Committee; and Dr. Edward Landy, director of Counseling in the Newton Schools. Rev. Emory S. Bucke, editor of Zion's Herald, was panel moderator, and Mrs. Arnold Rosoff, vice-president of the Sisterhood, was hostess for the day.

Mrs. Genevieve Onoley, member of the Newton School Committee, expressed her enthusiasm to the Robert King Hall Lecture Planning Committee regarding Dr. Hall's qualifications to handle with authority such a subject as "Education in Crisis" at the March 25th evening program in the High School auditorium.

Mrs. Onoley said, "Robert King Hall is unusually well qualified to show us how education plays a tremendous part in creating the kind of citizens we need to help American democracy flourish. Our Newton school system is constantly watching for, developing and using abilities, methods and curricula that will help each child meet the challenge of our ever changing world."

"Dr. Hall has acquired, through his own work, a most practical knowledge of schooling in the United States from kindergarten through college level, and a world wide view through his vast experience in educational development in other countries. Russia and her satellites have NOT asked for his help."

When told that Dr. Hall, internationally recognized speaker, author and consultant on educational problems and at present Professor of Comparative Education at Teachers' College, Columbia, is planning to visit the Newton schools during his visit here, Mrs. Onoley said she thought such a visit could be "mutually beneficial to Dr. Hall and to the members of Newton's school system."

The League of Women Voters, the P.T.A. Council, the Teachers' Federation and the Federation of Women's Clubs, all sponsoring organizations, reported to Mrs. Onoley an enthusiastic response to this lecture project, and further report that individuals have asked that this may be followed by similar undertakings designed to explore the objectives and practices of education. This latest development, Mrs.

Onoley said, "is the sort of thing that keeps our school committee constantly on its toes."

Mrs. Onoley concluded her remarks with the comment that "the sponsoring of the Hall lecture for the general public on a no-admission basis is a real community service."

Herter Clearing Tax Dept. of Politicians . . . Sen. McCarthy and the President to Clash . . .

Governor Herter has come in for some rather strange criticism because 44 employees were fired from the State tax department and 19 others appointed to the department.

It is to be expected, of course, that the Governor's Democratic adversaries would scream with outraged indignation at the move and talk about purges and political reprisals when their party again comes into power on Beacon Hill.

But much that has been said has been shrouded heavily in sham and hypocrisy.
The fact is that there actually was nothing whatever outrageous about the maneuver, and it will save the taxpayers in the vicinity of $100,000.

During the administration of ex-Governor Dever, the State tax Department was loaded with politicians who had been defeated for office and with friends of politicians.

One Democratic politician demanded to know the other day how it happened that State Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long was firing employees he himself had picked out.

The politico knew the answer to that question. Long didn't pick out any employees for his department during the past four years. He was merely sent lists of persons and told to recommend them for appointment.

Governor Herter gave Long a little more discretion and leeway than the tax commissioner had under ex-Governor Dever.
Herter ordered him to make up a list of about 500 persons in his department who "were not pulling their weight in the boat."

Long made up the list of those who were to be fired and, if he obeyed the instructions given him, he placed on it those persons who were of the least value to his department.
And he also informed the Governor that if the persons whose names he submitted were fired he would need some additional help in his department.

What Herter was trying to do was weed out of the department some of the employees who were doing the least work for salaries they were getting, and a sizeable number of those singled out by Long were former Legislators who had lost their seats on Beacon Hill.

While we do not have statistics on the makeup of the new payroll of the tax department, our guess would be that even with the removal of the 44 Dever appointees and the addition of the 19 chosen by Republican State Committee Chairman Elmer Nelson, it still numbers more Democrats than Republicans.

Senator Joseph R. McCarthy gradually is becoming as big a headache to the Eisenhower administration as he was to the Truman regime. Washington observers consider that an open clash between McCarthy and the President is inevitable if the Wisconsin Senator's investigations continue their present course.

Even staunch Republicans have joined in the criticism of the manner in which Mc-Carthy has conducted his investigation of the State Department's Voice of America.

His line of questioning made it plain that he had concluded, even before beginning his probe or hearing any witnesses, that subversion and mismanagement existed in the operation of the Voice.

Many observers feel that McCarthy may succeed in doing what the Kremlin has spent billions to try to do, namely destroy the effectiveness of the Voice.

Republican critics of McCarthy implied in last fall's campaign that an Eisenhower victory would pull McCarthy back into obscure, that he would not be in a position to make any probes if his own party were in power.

But it hasn't worked out that way, and the fact that Dwight D. Eisenhower is sitting in the White House instead of Harry S. Truman appears to have caused little change in McCarthy's tactics, and instead of diminishing his political power seems to be growing.

There are two big reasons for what is known as the "McCarthy problem" in Washington. One is that there is a deep-rooted tradition in the Senate against interfering with a fellow Senator, and the second is an unwholesome fear of the political consequences of an open battle with Mc-Carthy.

A half-dozen Senators who have challenged and battled McCarthy have lost their seats. Former Democratic Senator William Benton of Connecticut was a notable example.

Because of the Eisenhower trend last November, Benton might have been unseated even if he had not engaged in open warfare with McCarthy, but there is no question that his running battle with McCarthy contributed to the scope of his defeat.

However, there is no reason to believe that either President Eisenhower or Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will back away from a head-on collision with Mc-Carthy if they conclude that he is interfering with the proper operation of the State Department.

Democratic politicians are wondering what magic Governor Herter is employing in securing the resignations from holdover department heads, whose terms still have extended periods to run but who have been stepping out quietly without a harsh word being spoken—at least not publicly.

Those who have bowed out without waiting for their terms to expire, permitting Herter to place men of his own choosing in key places in the State government, include Public Works Commissioner William F.
Callahan, Correction Commissioner Maxwell B. Grossman, Public Safety Commissioner Daniel I. Murphy and a number of lesser office-holders.

Now Civil Service Director John F.
Stokes is getting ready to retire on pension,
and by the week's end Henry Parkman, Jr., probably will move into his place. In the past Governors frequently have had to resort to ouster proceedings and bitter battling to assemble their own cabinet, but Mr.
Herter has been able to do it by peaceable means.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Three high school boys in Langley, British Columbia, who lowered their school flag to half-staff to mark the death of Premier Stalin, were expelled when their noon-hour prank was discovered.

An anonymous gent, who signs himself only as "John Doe," has sent an annual contribution, ranging from $400 to $1,600, to the St. Louis internal revenue office for the past eight years. Last week the office received sixteen $50 bills from him. One year he explained that he had reached the age where money no longer was of any use to him and that he gave it because he was "proud of my government."

Leroy Huntley of Cincinnati, seeking a divorce from his wife, testified that she placed gummed stickers about the house for his benefit which read: "Be sure to put dirty hands on the wallpaper;" "Be sure to slip up the mirror;" "Be sure to mess this up;" "Might as well put the garbage in the living room." We hope she doesn't put ideas into the heads of any housewives in our community.

Residents in Effingham, Ill., are still pondering over U. S. Census figures which reported that Effingham had 1,735 married women and 1,728 married men. We can't

First a burglar cut himself breaking into
a Cleveland automobile accessory store.
Next he labored long and hard to open a safe. When he succeeded, he found it empty.
He finally looted the store of $10, the only cash on hand, and then dropped the bill on his way out.

Mrs. Bina Evans, contesting her husband's divorce suit in Portland, Me., testified that after a family row he "broke my teeth
and my nose, tore my ear, broke my arm
and some ribs, but outside of that he's an awful good man, and there's no one in the world I love more."

Former Ohio Highway Director Hal Sours was trapped in Columbus, O., by a radar speeding device which he himself had sold to the city in 1949. Sours was fined $10.

Horse Player Johnny Bowler was found to have $14,690 in his pocket when he was arrested in Pasadena, Calif., for stealing a 61-cent tube of toothpaste.

Police in Hamilton, O., arrested a 15-year-old boy for driving an automobile without a license, pinched his aunt for drunk-ness when she appeared at headquarters to get him, took his mother into custody for disorderly conduct when she showed up to inquire about them and jailed his father for failing to register a motor vehicle when he rushed to the rescue.

Airmen at the Biggs Air Force Base in El Paso sat down to just one meal prepared by a substitute cook and immediately paid the hat to collect $73 in order to pay a drunken driving fine and get Mess Sergeant Valley Bourgeois out of the clinker.

A clumsy prowler crashed through a skylight and plummeted 18 feet to the floor of Dr. Edward Cline's living room in his Vancouver, B. C., home, was treated by the doctor for injuries to his head and arm before the police lugged him away.

Mrs. Retha Drenning was granted a divorce in Detroit after she testified that her husband's pet cat bit her foot so viciously that she had to spend two weeks in the hospital and that when she arrived home again her husband insisted that she apologize to the cat and "kiss and make up."

Burglars who broke into a Butte, Monta., tavern stripped the ceiling of more than 100 $1 bills autographed by patrons of the establishment. We suspect it would be rather risky to spend that loot. Maybe the robber was a souvenir-collector.

Our House Was Open to Them

Editor,
Newton Graphic:

I have here before me an excerpt from the Newton Graphic, an editorial I believe, concerning the so-called "Bad Boys" of Newton. I do not have the complete article but accompanying this item clipped from your paper was a personal letter from a friend, resident of Newton Corner, explaining in part, the events that precipitated the many similar articles that have appeared in many of your New England papers. I am much concerned, and deeply grieved over the incident which occurred involving a group of boys, every one of them whom I knew very well. I cannot, then, resist the impulse to write an open letter to the readers of the Newton Graphic, and hope that it will be published as such. I do not wish to stand in defense of a group of boys who have flagrantly disregarded the law, but I do insist upon presenting the side of the problem that is theirs.

The recent incident involving a malicious beating of a Jewish lad by a group of boys, and subsequent developments, is only a culmination of a series of incidents involving a bunch of kids, who in your lovely city, have been ostracized from the community. That is almost a quote from the Newton Graphic article I have here beside me, — and Oh!
how true! I know! I knew those kids as friends, because mine was the only home open to them in the entire eighteen months that my family and I resided in Newton. An Army family, we made our home there for eight-teen months, leaving your city less than one year ago. We came as total strangers, far away from familiar places and old friends, and so, it was not a happy life until we began to enjoy the company of a bunch of boys my son began to associate with at Bigelow Junior High. Our house was open to them, and for over a year that house was home to a bunch of kids that had more fun doing the things in my house, that would have been an insurferable bore at home. I soon found myself with a household of teen-agers, ranging from 14 to 17 years, who were just pure unadulterated boys in my house, but were potential hoodlums out on the streets of Newton. There were sometimes as many as fifteen of those boys inside my house at one time — a good sized group for boys, at that particular age bracket, with many and diversified interests that included, everything from pretty girls and roller-skating — to auto racing and petty theft. I knew from the very start that most of all of those boys were on probation from the Newton Juvenile Courts. Many of them were from the finest families in Newton. Perhaps two or three were from broken homes, but all of them were from homes where Mother and Dad were to complacent and self-satisfied to make it their business to find out what those kids were doing with their spare time. In the entire eight-teen months — only one Mother, only one, came to me, and introduced herself and offered to help me with the job of keeping them off the streets of Newton!

One Mother out of a group of twenty-five boys!

I went along with those kids with many good laughs, and many bad times, — kidding them along, preaching a thousand sermons, — giving them friendship, — giving them affection, giving them hell! Somehow they always came around and told both my husband and myself about the things only they could think of,
that made them so obnoxious to a community of nice people. And then, in November, three of those kids took off in a stolen car from New York City. It took them 2 stolen cars, a close brush with the New York City Police, and 3 broker hearted, frantic mothers, and a pompous father who "knew somebody" on the Newton Police force to get them out of that "Incident".

After that, I approached on my own initiative the Principal of the Schools those boys attended.
I talked to a Priest of the church to which all of those boys, with the exception of perhaps four or five, had attended Mass everyday of their lives. I talked to proprietors of Drug Stores, Cafeterias, and Lunch Counters, there in the immediate vicinity of Newton Corner. I talked to a policeman at Newton City Hall. I talked to at least 5 Mothers and Fathers whose kids gathered with that particular bunch of "Bad Boys". Not one person offered to help me or offered any advice, with one exception — I talked to the kids themselves, and got a far more intelligent plan for coping with the problems of the "Newton Corner Gang" versus "The People", than from any other quarter.

I talked to the Parents of the boys who had the best homes.
I stated the facts — that the boys must be kept off the streets, they must be able to keep their friendship intact in the homes where they belonged instead of bargaining and gambling their friendship on street corners, and parking lots where shadows in the night became companions in petty crimes. Boys look for high adventure in the shadows of the streets, not in the parlors of their own homes. If they can find joy in friendship, and good times at home, they do not imagine anything fascinating in the shadows of a quiet street.

I didn't really learn this by myself. I learned it from my husband — a child, who raised himself in the streets of one of our largest cities in California, and grew up the hard way to be a fine soldier, a good husband and father. I learned it, too, from the "Bad Boys" of Newton Corner, who are going to be the good citizens of Newton tomorrow — if just given the chance today to find happiness and good fellowship in the community of which they are a part. They can't be coddled and petted and pampered into their obnoxious teens, and then be thrust out onto the streets because Mother doesn't want her house cluttered up, and Dad needs his rest. If he can't live in his house, he is going to spend his hours somewhere where he does live! If his friends can't come in, then there is no place to go but where his friends are.

I batted my head up against that old proverbial brick wall for well over a year in Newton Corner. I pleaded with Mothers to open up a spare room — a basement — a garage or the whole house, and let these boys who are now making the news in your New England papers — came in and enjoy themselves under the supervision of a parent or an adult in the family. Not one, out of several homes I visited, agreed to my request. They each vowed firmly their son would no longer be associating with the "Bad Boys" of the Corner — he would stay home or associate only with companions of their choosing.

I had the effrontery, with my western brashness, to practically say — "Oh yeah — that's what you think." And with solid courtesy they all replied, "Yes, I am sure of it."

Well, "Oh yeah" — those boys who were threatened with everything from cutting off the allowance to suffering a broken back, still came down to my house. They played records on my recorder until they were completely worn out, they listened to the Disc Jockeys from Boston on the radio until I thought I would go mad. They ate apples by the boxes, cookies by the jar-ful and popped corn all over the kitchen. They spent Christmas Eve at my house with their friends, before and after midnight Mass. They spent every afternoon after school and every Sunday, Saturday, and even came before breakfast. They always left at ten or ten-thirty p.m. My boy went to bed, and heaven only knows where the rest of them went after that.
Once in awhile we would find out — a laundry was broken in to after 10:30 (two boys went to the reform school) — a corner
Malt Shop barred its doors — a Cafeteria suffered malicious mischief. A Mother called irately to ask me what I was doing, keeping boys at my house until 1 a.m. (Never!) Parents were lied to. Mothers tortured with imaginations of her boy being hurt — mangled or dead — but never in to deeds of malicious crimes.

Yet, I kissed them all Goodbye when we left Newton Corner. I still miss them, each and every one. We get a letter from them once in awhile, written in a Newton Cafeteria. We even get letters more often from two of the "baddest" of the Newton Corner
"Bad Boys" — one from the Airborne Infantry Division in Ft.
Campbell, Kentucky, and the other from the Marines, Co. D, Parris Island, North Carolina.

Be good to those kids of Newton Corner — understand their

To Myself on My Birthday

Young Man You're Growing Older

I'm sixty years, less two, today.
That's growing old, some people say,

But I'm so zestfully alive,
I'm only fifty-three, plus five.
Until I romped upon the floor With grandchildren whom I adore,

And felt much younger than I am,
With glee I took each thump
and slam;

But when I tried to rise, poor me,
A calcium kink within my knee
With painful whisper seemed to say,

"You're older by one year today,
In spite of poetry on your tongue
In boastful verse that you are young."

Then I dismissed my thoughts of youth,
And ruefully I faced the truth,
Across the page my pen I drive,
And write, "Not fifty-three plus five,"

I flex my aching back, and then—
I write, "I'm sixty-eight, less ten."

Ernest M. Morris, director of public health, City of Newton, and Dr. J. Roswell Gallagher, chief of Adolescent Unit of the Chil-

I know, and you know, that for

First Unitarian Society Approves Federal Union

By a unanimous vote of the members present at a special parish meeting held Thursday night, March 5, the First Unitarian Society in Newton voted to approve proceeding with federal union between the American Unitarian Association and the Universalist Church of America in 1953 above the parish level. Already 126 Unitarian churches in the country, 60 Universalist and 17 federated churches have voted this approval in accordance with the report adopted at Montreal, Quebec, and Portland, Maine, as implemented in the specific proposal of the Universalist-Unitarian Commission on Federal Union and the Committee on By-laws, dated February, 1952. This commission will meet in August at Andover, Mass., to set up a Joint Board of Administration in the field of education, publications and public relations.

William L. Tisdell acted as moderator for this special parish meeting at the West Newton Unitarian Church. Miss Margaret S. Ball, clerk of the parish, recorded the official vote. Rev. John Ogden Fisher, minister, and Rev. Ernest W. Kuebler, administrative vice-president, American Unitarian Association, spoke on the history of the federal union movement between the two denominations. Preceding the parish meeting, the mid-winter parish dinner was served in the parish hall dining room by the church supper committee under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Albert K. Reed and Mrs. Edward W. Kinsman.

Newton Community Club

Recognizing the delight New Englanders have in studying the picturesque elements of their region's early years, the American Antiques Committee of the Newton Community Club is presenting a lecture on the romantic days of the "clippers" when New England men sailed on long voyages to exotic lands. Speaking at the regular meeting of the club, Monday, March 16, at Grace Church Parish House, Mary Timmons will take as her subject "The China Trade and the Arts It Brought Us." Many a family's wealth was founded on the fruits of the far-flung itineraries of those graceful, white-winged ships, the pride of New England ports. And many a child's conception of beauty and art began with his pleasure in the porcelains, silks, ivories, and lacquers brought home by intrepid sailors.

Dessert will be served at 1:30, and a business session will be held at 2:00, after which the lecturer will be introduced. Chairman of the Committee on American Antiques is Mrs. Henry Jones, Jr.

Being destroyed, sin needs no other form of forgiveness.—Mary Baker Eddy

Newton Art Ass'n

One of the most interesting meetings of the Newton Art Association took place at the Newtonville Public Library with Mr. Boris Mirsky as the guest critic. Many of the foremost New England personalities in the art world have attained prominence under the sponsorship of Mr. Mirsky. In his remarks Mr. Mirsky referred to the development of art down through the years as a succession of styles. He also observed that no limits or restraints should be imposed on the artist in his efforts to express himself in the development of his particular style. Many interesting paintings produced by members of the Art Association were shown for criticism.

The next meeting on Thursday March 19th will have as its guest Mr. Henry Davenport who will demonstrate in the pastel method of painting a picture.

At the Galleries of the Newton Center Woman's Club a group exhibition includes the names of Harriet Appleton, Esther Connolly, Helen Hegnauer, Clare Hudson, and Ruth Palmer. Newton Teachers Federation Holds Fourteenth Annual Dinner Meeting

Four hundred Newton teachers and their guests attended the fourteenth annual dinner and business meeting of the Newton Teachers' Federation at Newton High School, Monday evening.

Following a lively business meeting which saw the election of new officers, the teachers adjourned to the high school cafeteria for dinner. Guests at the dinner included Mayor and Mrs. Theodore Lockwood, Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. Harold Gores, and Dr. and Mrs. James B. Palmer. Dr. Palmer is chairman of the Newton School Committee. Introduced at the dinner were the newly elected officers of the Teachers' Federation: Donald Davidson, president;

Harry V. Anderson, vice president; Miss Marie McAuliffe, secretary; and Carl P. Birmingham, treasurer.

After dinner entertainment was supplied by teachers from various Newton schools, acting and singing in an original seven-scene musical extravaganza entitled "Oyster Shells". The production provided a delightful tongue-in-cheek analysis of the teaching profession. Written by Ruth Twiss and directed by Don March and Virginia Bramhall, the star-studded performance arrived at the conclusion that if all Newton teachers were stretched out end to end, they would be more comfortable.

Newton Centre Garden Club to Hear Talk By Alice Dixon Bond March 17

A new color film of famous American and European authors and their gardens will be shown to members and guests of the Newton Centre Garden Club when Alice Dixon Bond, Literary Editor of the Boston Herald and Traveler addresses the club March 17. The meeting will be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club at 10:00 a.m. The public is invited.

Mrs. Bond recently created this new lecture and last summer added to her American material with films and pictures taken while visiting authors in Europe. Because gardening is one of her own hobbies, Mrs. Bond was particularly interested to find that many literary people are also dirt gardeners and share her enthusiasm. She has assembled an interesting insight into the personality of men and women who are widely known only through their writings.

Mrs. Edward Leonard of Newton Centre, president of the club, will preside at the meeting and the speaker will be introduced by the vice-president, Mrs. Charles K. Beatty, of Wellesley Hills.

ALICE DIXON BOND

Miss Hilga S. Nelson Gives Address To Hospital Aid Directors

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association, held Tuesday morning, at Allen-Riddle Hall, nurses' residence at the hospital, Mrs. Worthing L. West of Newton Centre presided in the absence of Mrs. Paul T. Babson of Wellesley. Mrs. West is First Vice-President of the Aid. After hearing reports and conducting the regular business of the organization, the members of the Board heard an address by Miss Hilga S. Nelson, Executive Director of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association.

Mrs. George C. Prather of Wellesley, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, proposed to the directors that the "Earn and Give" project be continued for another year in order to help raise the $15,000 voted by the February meeting of the Board for the construction of a post-operative recovery room in the hospital.

Miss Hilga Nelson, the guest speaker, reported on "The Place of the Visiting Nurse Association in the Community". Describing the services of this Red Feather agency, Miss Nelson stressed the importance of their work in guidance and help in family health problems. She also gave a full picture of the nursing service on a part-time basis in the home and under the doctor's orders provided by this agency. Teaching the family how to care for a sick member is another vital function of the Association, according to Miss Nelson, as is helping in the care of the expectant mother and assisting in the care of the newly-arrived baby. Advice on special diets and good nutrition is supplied in co-operation with the Newton Nutrition Center, another Red Feather service.

The Visiting Nurse Association conducts severe Well Baby Conferences at strategic locations in the city. Last year 489 babies were registered at such conferences and 124 separate sessions held. During the same period, 17,256 visits were made to patients under the Visiting Nurse program.

At the morning Coffee Hour preceding the meeting, the hostesses were Mrs. Donald B. Wheeler and Mrs. Harvey F. Kazmier of Oak Hill. Mrs. Herbert G. Dunphy of Newton Highlands and Mrs. Donald Gibbs of Newton presided at the coffee urns.

Unusual railroad cars do big jobs on New York Central

1. THIS IS "PORKY"—the "porcupine car." Its "quills" feel out and measure the clearances under tunnels and bridges—alongside signals and stations. So, when an extra high or wide shipment heads for your town, New York Central experts know just which tracks to route it over.

2. WEEDING OUT TROUBLE is this car's job. Its long arms spray four tracks with tank-car-loads of weed-killer. For tough weeds invade the busiest right of way. They hold moisture, rot ties, delay traffic. So New York Central uses this modern way to keep the tracks to your town clear.

3. CAR WITH "X-RAY" EYES. Human watchfulness could never equal this car's electro-magnetic "eyes" that see through steel. It detects and marks hidden flaws to guide maintenance crews. That's one reason why you and your shipments travel New York Central with matchless safety.

4. MECHANIZATION helps New York Central railroads do jobs faster and more productively. That's why they earn more now...even though rail rates, if compared with most prices, are lower today than in 1940! Yes, finest transportation at lowest cost is the CENTRAL IDEA.

Temple Reyim Children Hold Purim Service

The Purim celebration at Temple Reyim, West Newton, began February 28 with the traditional Purim Service conducted by Judith Arnold Kenneth Goldstein and Esther Sobel of the fourth grade of Temple Reyim's Hebrew School.

At the conclusion of the Service the children received Hamantaschen (Purim Pastries) with the help of a committee of the Parent Teacher's Association headed by Mrs. Nathan Sobel.

The celebration continued the next morning with the Annual Purim Carnival. The children of the Hebrew and Sunday School constructed and operated their own games for the Carnival. All proceeds from the Carnival will go to the Keren Ami School Charity Fund.

The entire celebration was under the direction of Harold D. Kastle, Rabbi of Temple Reyim, with the cooperation of the Parent Teacher's Association of Temple Reyim, Robert J. Seder, President. The committee on School celebrations is headed by Mrs. Nathan Sobel.

An Act Relative to Issuance Of Permits for Open Air Fires

Chapter 269, Section 13.

No person shall set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air at any time except by permission, covering a period not exceeding five days from the date thereof, granted by the forest warden or chief of the fire department in cities, having such an official, the fire commissioner; provided, that if such permission is not in writing a written record of the granting thereof, setting forth the date upon which permission was granted, the dates covered by such permission, the name and address of the person to whom, and the manner in which, such permission was granted, and any other necessary information relative thereto, shall be made and kept by the forest warden, chief or fire commissioner, as the case may be, and shall be open to public inspection; and provided, further that persons over the age of twenty-one may, without a permit, set maintain or increase a reasonable fire for the purpose of cooking, upon sandy or gravelly land free from living or dead vegetation or upon sandy or rocky beaches bordering on tide water, if the fire is enclosed within rocks, metal or other non-inflammable material. The forest warden, chief or fire commissioner, as the case may be, may make it a condition for granting a permit that any burning shall be done only after four o'clock (eastern standard time) in the afternoon and he may revoke a permit at any time. The forestier may make rules and regulations relating to the granting and revocation of such permits binding throughout the Commonwealth. Such rules and regulations shall take effect subject to section thirty-seven of chapter thirty, when approved by the governor and council. The forest wardens in towns and officials performing the duties of forest wardens in cities shall cause public notice to be given of the provisions of this section and shall enforce the same.

Whoever violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one month, or both.

Approved May 7, 1945.

Burning in the open should never be done on windy days and only a small section of brush or grass should be burnt at any one time. Provisions should be made to have the necessary fire fighting tools handy in case the fire must be extinguished in a hurry.

Before any burning is done a Permit should be secured. When burning is allowed these Permits may be secured at any of the fire stations in the city of Newton.

One of the big reasons for Permits to Burn is so that the amount of burning can be controlled in the various areas.

If at any time you have any questions you desire to know about burning or Permits, please call the Fire Department and they will give you the correct answer which may save you time and trouble. The department telephone number is BI 4-0030. Play safe, don't take chances and be sorry.

Waban Missionary's Portrait Presented to Mission Board

The portrait of a Waban missionary, first man to hold the office of executive vice-president of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, was presented to the Board Monday at a Fellowship Dinner in Old South Church (Congregational) Boston.

The portrait of Dr. Fred Field Goodsell of 289 Woodward street, Waban, has just been painted by Richard Meryman of Dublin, N.H. Dr. Goodsell was present at the meeting and addressed the Board.

Dr. Goodsell's portrait, which has been on exhibition at the Guild of Boston Artists, will be hung in the American Board rooms in the Congregational House, 14 Beacon Street, beside three other paintings of distinguished Congregational Christian leaders and Secretaries of the American Board, namely the late Dr. James L. Barton, the late Dr. Cornelius H. Patton and the late Dr. William E. Strong whose portraits were painted by Harold A. Green of Connecticut.

Dr. Goodsell has had a distinguished career as a Congregational Christian missionary statesman in the Near East, especially Turkey, having served there for 23 years before becoming the first Executive Vice President of the American Board. He lived in Turkey under three regimes, that of Sultan Abdul Hamid, the Young Turk Movement and the present Turkish Republic. Widely travelled, having visited most parts of the world, Dr. Goodsell has been a leader in the councils of the International Missionary Council and for the past two years, following his retirement from the post of Executive Secretary of the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. with headquarters in New York City.

For many years Dr. Goodsell was a member of Boston Rotary, and was a Representative from Boston Rotary Club to sorority clubs in Brazil, Argentina and Mexico when he made his last trip to Latin America. On assuming his latest position in New York City he was obliged to give up his Boston Rotary Connections.

Dr. Goodsell is now working on the history of the American Board and substituting as Professor of Missions and International Relations at Boston University in the absence of Dr. Eddy Asirva'ham of India, now on leave of absence.

She is taking Mrs. Catherine Langley, also of 31 Torey street, Framingham, with her on the exciting trip. Miss Capstick has been living with Mrs. Langley since the death of her parents several

Blood Quota Is Higher Due to Need

The National Blood Program imposes heavy demands upon the voluntary as well as the financial resources of the American Red Cross. Newton's financial share in this vast undertaking must be raised this March during the Fund Drive. The quota is higher this year because more blood is needed for gamma globulin, that powerful new weapon used to combat the paralyzing effects of polio, with its wonderful hope for all parents.

During the entire year there will be a tremendous contribution of time and energy on the part of the volunteer Service Groups of the Newton Red Cross on Bloodmobile days. This is the story of how your friends and neighbors are doing their bit to collect the blood for the wounded in Korea, for the day-by-day needs of civilian hospitals, for civilian defense and for gamma globulin.

At the beginning of the year, the Regional Blood Center informs Mrs. Hannah Levensohn, the Director of the Blood Program for Newton, of Newton's quota for the year. Mr. Maxwell P. Gaddis, the volunteer Chairman of the Blood Program and Mrs. Levensohn then settle the places and dates for the Bloodmobile visits. Mr. Gaddis appoints a chairman for each Village Day, and assigns her a

Cookie Sales Sole Means of Fund Raising

Since last Saturday Newton Girl Scouts have been taking orders for cookies in their annual drive to raise funds for the scouting programs. Due to the end of district fund raising, the cookie sale must now supply finances for neighborhood expenses. The goal which has been set is $500.00 or approximately 51,000 boxes of cookies.

A large percentage of these funds is used by the Site Committee to purchase materials for the maintenance and improvement of the Scout camp in Cohasset. This committee with Mr. Stanley Rowland as chairman and the following members: Earl Bourne, Stuart Spaulding, Dwight Colburne, Clarence Drayton, Arthur T. Gregorian, Nels Jepson, Stanley T. Johnson, Guy King, E. Leslie Robart, Carleton K. Smith, and Leonard G. Trowbridge have accomplished much in the past such as putting a sandy bottom on the pond, enlarging and winterizing the ranger's cabin, renewing all wiring and building a new pump house, and shower house.

The proposed plans for this year are to improve the main house so it can be used during the cold months for week-ends, skating parties and meetings. To do this it is necessary to insulate, install a furnace and foundation, and place water pipes below frost lines. Also included are repairs to cabins, more sand for the pond, cupboards for storing equipment as well as many other minor repairs. Camp Mary Day will become twice as useful to Newton if it can be made comfortable in winter.

Urge Aldermen Begin Active Inquiry of Ward Line Problems

The League of Women Voters of Newton has urged the Board of Aldermen and its Ward Lines Committee to begin active inquiry into the ward lines problem and the larger problem of equalization of representation in Newton as soon as possible. In letters to Wendell R. Bauckman, President of the Board of Aldermen and Alderman Hirsch Sharf, Chairman of the Ward Lines Committee, the League stated that while it is not advocating at this time any specific solutions, it feels strongly that the opportunity to readjust the ward lines in December, 1954, should not be allowed to pass without action.

These letters followed a study of the issues by the Local Affairs Committee of the League under the chairmanship of Mrs. Richard G. Mintz. This Committee studied the comparative figures for population, registered voters and assessed valuation in the different wards and the various plans that have been proposed in the past to change the ward lines or the representation on the Board of Aldermen and School Committee. Their study was presented and discussed by League members at nine discussion units held throughout the city during February. It was the consensus of the members that this problem should not be allowed to go unsolved for another decade. Further study by the League is a part of its proposed current agenda for 1953-1954. In the meantime, they are anxious that the public be kept informed of the feeling of the Board of Aldermen on this important issue and that hearings be held as soon as possible by the Ward Lines Committee.

Appeals Fine For Selling Beer to Minor

A Newton liquor store proprietor who was found guilty of selling beer to a juvenile involved in the brutal beating of a boy in Newton Centre early in February, last Thursday appealed fines totalling $125 for the offense.

Frederick S. Moore, Jr. of 72 Algonquin road, Chestnut Hill, proprietor of Moore's Beverage Store, 305-A Washington street, Newton, pleaded innocent to charges of selling alcoholic beverages to a minor and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Police charged that Moore sold five bottles of beer to one of the juveniles who later were convicted of the near-fatal beating of Stephen Berger near Temple Emanuel in Newton Centre.

Judge Donald E. Mayberry fined Moore $100 on the selling complaint and $25 on the second. After the appeal, Judge Mayberry set bail at $100.

The complainant in the case was Sgt. John W. Foley, Jr., under whose direction five boys were rounded up after the Berger attack. Three were sentenced —APPEALS—

Says Salary Bill Infringes School Committee Rights

State Rep. Irene K. Thresher said that a bill setting up minimum salaries for public school superintendents might be construed as interfering with the rights of school committees.

Under the bill, the minimum salaries for public school superintendents in cities, towns, unions, and districts with a population of 5000 or less would be not less than $6000; those with a population of 5000 to 15,000, not less than $7000; those with a population of 15,000 to 25,000, not less than $8000; and in those over 25,000 population, not less than $9000.

Newton Centre Becomes Post Office Branch

Eventually Newton Will Have Own Postmark On All City Mail

Newtonville officially became the postal center of the Newtons after the morning delivery last Saturday when the entire central unit was transferred from the Newton Centre Post Office to the new, two-story office at 897 Washington street.

As far as the majority of the Post Office patrons were concerned, the shift to Newtonville affected them on Monday morning as that was the first delivery under the new system.

The change will ultimately mean that mail posted in every section of the city will receive the Newton postmark. At present, mail collected from boxes up to mid-afternoon is postmarked here, but the later collections are processed in Boston.

Once the Newtonville office has completed installation of its facilities, cancellations will be affixed for all locally-mailed letters. This should also mean faster delivery for letters mailed from one section of Newton to another, since a trip to and from Boston by truck will be eliminated.

The new central unit is now operating on a 24-hour basis with three shifts of employees. Practically all the men at the Newton Centre Post Office have been transferred to Newtonville, with the exception of those needed

To Discuss "Education in Crisis" Next Wednesday

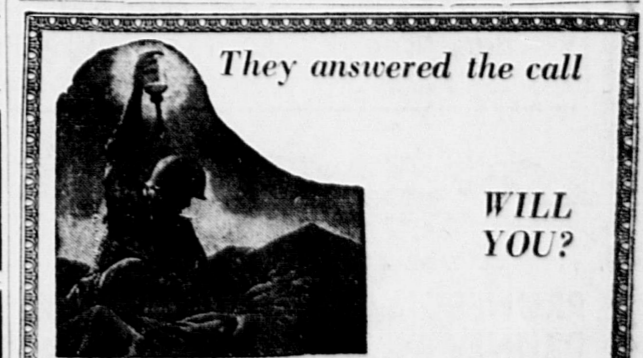

DR. ROBERT HALL

Graham Bates, President of the Newton Rotarians, will preside at the open meeting March 25 at 8 p.m. in the Newton High School Auditorium at which Dr. Robert King Hall, internationally known consultant in the field of education will discuss "Education in Crisis: Is Education Meeting Today's Challenge?" Mr. Harold Gores, Superintendent of Schools in Newton, has consented to act as moderator during the question period following the talk.

Mr. Bates, who has been connected with community affairs in this city for many years in a variety of capacities, is well qualified to preside, the planning committee feels, because he represents a large group of citizens other than those whose members

Third Secretary Added To Y's Youth Work Board

The community service work of the Newton YMCA was recently augmented by the addition of a third full time secretary in the Y's Youth Work Division. Bruno J. Ottavi, a native of New Britain, Connecticut, was retained with the cooperation of the Newton Community Chest of which the YMCA is a member.

The Youth Work Committee and members of the Board felt that youth work should be extended beyond the walls of the Y building. This extension of community service work is considered an important part of YMCA Youth Work. Consequently, Ottavi includes among his regular duties work with two groups of boys and plans for the formation of a third group are being considered.

Some 30 boys from the Newton Corner area make up one of these groups. Ranging in age from 10 to 17 years, they meet regularly at the YMCA on Church street, Newton. A dozen or so make up a basketball squad with a team in the National B Division of the Newton City Basketball League. The squad practices at the Y and Ottavi notes that many of the group take advantage of the frequent opportunity accorded them for a swim in the YMCA's pool.

After a slow start the Newton Corner team won the last four games of the season to wind up in a blaze of glory. In fact the team was so hot that it came within six points of smashing the League scoring record in a recent game.

The group is organized outside the regular framework of the YMCA program but uses the game room and pool at the Y once each week. Because of the wide age range the boys have many varied interests and engage in many different activities under Ottavi's supervision.

A group of 16 boys from the Newtonville - Nonantum area ranging in age from 10 to 13 has recently been organized. Known as the Hawthorne group, the members will use the YMCA game room and pool once each week. Ottavi also hopes that the group may field a baseball or basketball team before long.

Ottavi is an Associate Youth Work Secretary at the Newton YMCA and is considered a member of the Y staff. He works with Youth Work Secretary John E. Danielson and Associate Youth Work Secretary David B. Potts. He is, however, primarily concerned with community service.

In addition to his work with the youth groups he also works with Gra-Y, Junior Hi-Y and Hi-Y Clubs.

Smoke Forces 22 to Street In $8000 Fire

Heavy smoke from a basement fire in a two-story brick block at 396-402 Centre street, Newton, forced 22 persons from their apartments Friday night as two alarms were sounded.

The fire apparently started at the Coleman Supply store, an appliance store, at 402 Centre street. The flames were confined to the basement of the store and adjoining stairway leading from the street to the four apartments upstairs.

Shortly after the fire was discovered, heavy smoke spread quickly through the entire structure. The smoke forced the 22 persons from their apartments, but they were later allowed to return. The Bay State Tailoring and Smoke damage was caused in Cleaning Company at 402 Centre street, and Warner's, a variety store, at 500.

The fire was discovered by Henry L. Murphy, assistant Newton fire chief, who was passing the block in his car on his night off. Fire Chief John E. Corcoran estimated the damage at $8000.

Discussion—

have already been enlisted through the four sponsoring organizations; namely, the Newton PTA Council, the Newton Teachers' Federation, the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs and the League of Women Voters.

Robert King Hall has served as consultant on education to a number of foreign governments and to international industrial firms. In Japan during the early months of the military occupation he served as Chief of the Education Section in the Headquarters, with direct policy control over the Japanese Educational System with its more than 17 million students and 48 universities. Dr. Hall can draw on his own experiences in helping us understand the relationship between a nation's social and political points of view and the kind of education that nation provides for its children. He can help us appraise what are the basic American educational policy trends of today, in what areas we face problems and how we as citizens can help solve them.

Two representatives from the four organizations sponsoring the Robert Hall lecture on March 25th are going to be guests on the Polly Huse Domestic Diary television program, WBZ-TV, on Tuesday morning at 9:00. They will discuss the reasons why there is so much interest in planning education issues before the public today.

Certificates will be awarded to 97 graduates in the Volunteer Service Groups—6 in Motor Service; 4 in Entertainment; 3 in Arts & Skills; 32 in the Gray Lady Service; 9 in Canteen; 8 in Staff Aides; and 20 in Nurse's Aides. Fifteen Home Nursing graduates will also be certified.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph C. MacDonald of the Union Church, Waban, will make the invocation. Miss Mary McDonald, Red Cross General Field Representative, will speak briefly. Greetings will be presented by the Chairman of the Newton and Wellesley Chapters, Mr. William Falconer and Mr. Lawrence Barnard.

The public are cordially invited to hear the distinguished guest speaker, Saville Davis, and to be present to see their fellow citizens receive the certificates which signify their competence and training to serve the community in their chosen fields. The program will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. All participants in the exercises are asked to report at 7:30 p.m.

Appeals—

to the Youth Service Board, while the others were freed of blame. Two of those sentenced have appealed.

A Gray Lady gives each donor a glass of water to prevent dehydration and takes him to the donor room. A Red Cross registered nurse, assisted by a Nurse's Aide, takes the blood.

The refreshment room, presided over by Canteen, is next. There, ginger ale, coffee, coke or tea is served. A Nurse's Aide is in attendance to watch for any unusual reaction, and there is a recovery room in which to rest, under medical care, should it be necessary. After 10 minutes in the refreshment room, a Gray Lady presents each donor with a pin and thanks him. Canteen also provides dinner for the workers, both professional and volunteer.

By the co-ordinated efforts of donors, doctors, nurses, laboratory technicians and volunteers, your blood, given through the Red Cross, is ready for distribution to wherever it is needed most. It may save a man in service or help a little child. As Helen Hayes quoted from Shakespeare when speaking recently to a group of Blood Program workers in Boston, "How far that little candle sheds its beam."

LEADERS AND SCRIBES: Thanks to you our column is growing SO BIG! Keep up the good work. Mail your weekly reports to Mrs. Hartie E. Kelley, 43 Newell road, Auburndale.

Good Luck to all of you super salesgirls, big and small, in the coming Cookie Sale, March 14-23! TROOP 43—Auburndale— Worked on the First Aid badge at the home of Mrs. Elliott, learning the symptoms and treatments for fractured skull and sunstroke, and how to apply a tourniquet. Next week's meeting will be held at the Red Cross Chapter House. Plans were made for the Cookie Sale window display our girls are making for a local hardware store.

Judy Boucher, Scribe
TROOP 72—Waban— At our third cooking class, the teacher made scalloped tomatoes and meat pie, which were raffled to Barbara Adolph and Barbara Goldstone. Next week we will pass in our notebooks, have a test and party.

Weeks Junior High School Mineral Club to Take Part in Earth Science Conference

Weeks Junior High Mineral Club will take part in the Fourth Annual Conference on the Teaching of Earth Science, which is sponsored by the "Earth Science Institute of Boston," the educational committee of the "Geological Society of America," and the "Earth Science Club" of the State Teacher's College at Salem, Saturday, March 28. The theme of the program is "The Practical Aspect of Teaching Earth Science in grades one to nine."

John Hegnauer will speak on "Art of Collecting" and show one of his polished specimens. David Lyon, will present his reports showing the natural minerals and their economic uses. Geoffrey Cavanaugh will display and tell about his crystals and mineral models he has made. Marcia Holland, a sixth grade pupil, will explain and demonstrate the identification of minerals by means of their physical properties. Mrs. Dearborn who has taught mineralogy to young people for the past twenty years will explain her ideas on the value, organization and methods of the teaching of Earth Science in the Public Schools.

This is the second year of the Weeks Junior High Mineral Club under the able leadership of Mrs. James Dearborn, a prominent Mineralogist widely known among the Mineral Clubs of the Country. The students, in the fall, are taken to various nearby mineral locations, such as the "Old Chipman Silver Mine" or "Devil's Den in Newbury port," or the Blueberry Mountain Feldspar Quarry in Winchester. In the winter they build up a study collection of 35 to 70 mineral specimens, and label them as to Name, Location, Chemical Composition, Hardness, specific Gravity and other physical properties. Some of the group make crystal models, cut and polish some of their specimens, make fluorescent cabinets, and all avidly add to their collections by sending to Wards or Hugh Ford's in New York. Stan Perham's, Maine or Schortmanns in Easthampton. Mrs. Dearborn, past President, and an active Honorary Member of the Boston Mineral Club, a club of 250 members of scientists and ardent amateurs, has 8000 specimens in her own collection. The students so far this year have from 100 to 275 specimens. This Spring they will have the opportunity of going on longer trips with experienced collectors of the

The trustees of the Read Fund of the City of Newton are Douglas B. Francis, F. Brittain Kennedy and Harold A. Wooster. City Treasurer Archie R. Whitman is custodian of the fund which was left to the city by Charles A. Read for specified purposes including free public lectures on scientific subjects. Raymond A. Green, principal of Newton High School, and James D. Lauritz, director of Newton Junior College, are assisting with the lecture arrangements.

Mr. Coty has a national reputation for his photography and lectures, having appeared before important scientific organizations, at colleges and universities, before college clubs and many organizations with out-of-door interests. His purpose is to show the glories of America—its fascinating wild life, scenic grandeur and thrilling sport. Mr. Coty spends part of the year at Stowe, Vt., and has especially fine photographs of skiing.

For this lecture, most of the seats on the main floor of the High School auditorium will be reserved so that families and groups will be able to sit together. This is planned as an adult, educational-recreational evening. Reserve seats for the general public will be available through the main and branch libraries on request and without charge.

One very popular feature of our Home Mortgage loans is that they're "tailor-made". This makes financing much easier for the home owners we serve... and makes more friends for us. Add the benefits of our liberal terms, long experience, and prompt service, and you'll see why it pays to come "right this way for mortgage loans".

Nursing Homes!

The time has come for the citizens of Newton to realize the gradual increase of nursing homes in the residential sections of the city. The present single resident districts are bound to deteriorate in real estate value when this, or any other, type of business is allowed.

The nursing home business brings to these residential areas, additional automobile parking and traffic problems, fire protection, etc.

Why should present zoning regulations be altered to bring this type of business into the single residential areas and eventually destroy real estate values. Ask just about any property owner if they want a nursing home on their street or as a neighbor and the answer will be NO. All citizens should take pride in this community, the Garden City, the city of homes and the most beautiful in this section of Massachusetts.

Nursing homes are big business and belong in areas zoned for business.

G.O.P. Patronage Mill Grinding Slowly ... Rep. Herter Staying Out of Limelight ...

Democratic Collector of Customs William H. Burke, Jr., is a striking example of how slow the wheels of the Eisenhower administration have turned in placing its men in key positions in the federal government.

Burke has resigned twice. He submitted one resignation to former President Truman before the latter left the White House and another to President Eisenhower shortly after he assumed office.

But neither resignation has been accepted. Burke is still on the job and apparently will continue on it for another few weeks.

President Eisenhower, of course, has no intention of retaining Burke. Carroll Meins, former secretary to Senator
Leverett Saltonstall, and ex-Governor Robert F. Bradford was selected weeks ago to succeed him.

But even though Ike has been in office two months, up to the time that this was written he had not got around to submitting Meins' name to the Senate for confirmation.

One reason the G.O.P. patronage mill is grinding so slowly is that the Eisenhower administration is insisting that a careful investigation be made of every person being considered for a federal job, and that it is taking a great deal of time.

The purpose of that go-slow policy is to protect the President against any blunder in a major appointment, but it is causing mounting dissatisfaction among Republican job-seekers.

The election by the State Legislature of Representative David Williams of Concord to the Governor's Council to replace Otis M.
Whitney, now the State commissioner of public safety, was a tribute by the legislators to Whitney's popularity.

One of the able young members of the House of Representatives, Williams was both Whitney's law associate and campaign manager, and it was largely the endorsement he received from Whitney that swung the necessary support to achieve his election.

A bloc of Democratic State Senators attempted an unusual maneuver in voting for ex-Representative Henry L. Shattuck of the Back Bay as their choice for Councilor.

When this failed to cause the expected consternation among the Republicans, with two Democratic Solons declining to join in their colleagues, some of the other Democrats tried to shift their votes but were unable to do so.

Williams should make an excellent Governor's Councilor. If he serves his district as well as Whitney did before him, there will be little complaint against him.

Liberal young Representative Christian
A. Herter, Jr., of Newton, son of the Governor, was among 35 Republican legislators who voted the other day for the passage of a resolution calling for a study and revision of the Taft-Hartley law and a repeal of the law, if a revision is not expedient or feasible.

There have been comparatively few outstanding father-and-son combinations in Massachusetts politics in modern times, and even fewer situations which found a son sitting in the State Legislature voting on matters submitted by his Governor-father.

The Herter duo presents the rare case where both father and son possess the qualifications to be outstanding in their respective fields.

Representative Herter undoubtedly would be considerably more prominent at the State House this year, if someone other than his own father were serving as Governor.

While performing his own legislative and committee duties and also serving as a trouble-shooter and assistant for his father, he has relegated himself to a position in the background and largely out of the limelight.

Political observers generally, however,
have marked him as one of the young leaders to watch in the years ahead.

One plausible solution to the rent control problem would be to place the administration of whatever law is adopted under the State Housing Board and the local housing agencies in the various cities and towns.

Governor Herter has indicated that some form of rent control will be maintained in those communities where a housing shortage still exists and where rentpayers are in need of further protection.

It would place a heavy expense not only upon the State but upon many of the local communities, if they now were obliged to create and staff rent control agencies.

The State Housing Board, however, should be able to assume the responsibility for administering such a law with only a moderate increase in the size of its staff, and those cities and towns where rent-control is needed for the most part have their own housing agencies which could operate under the State board.

President Eisenhower's strength with Republican members of the U. S. Senate may be put to a real test if he insists on going through with his nomination of Charles "Chip" Bohlen as U. S. Ambassador to Russia.

Some Washington observers are disposed to doubt that the President can be persuaded to withdraw Bohlen's nomination, and, yet, unless he does so they can't see how a sharp clash with the Senate can be avoided.

As a result of Bohlen's refusal to concede that the Yalta agreement was a blunder, Republicans on the Senate foreign relations committee are ignoring Ike's plea for speedy confirmation of Bohlen.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Five German scientists have started a three-months study in the Himalayas and Central and Southern India to find out if it's true that elephants never forget. They will study the blood groups, brains and intelligence of both working and wild elephants.

Speaking of science, Princeton University now has a collection of nearly 100 well-preserved skeletons of 60,000,000-year-old frogs found in India.

A London, England, charity organization reports that modern tramps are both younger and lazier than their predecessors.
Nearly half the visitors to its hostels are under 40 years old.

When the members of the Greenville County Beef Cattle Association recently held their annual dinner in Greenville, S. C., the menu consisted of fried catfish, fried chicken and deep dish chicken pie. Maybe they're sick of beef.

A Danish shoe sole company recently hired five young men to walk 940 miles to test its product. The walkers get $5.60 each day, during which they are supposed to travel 19½ miles daily along ordinary roads. Supervisors watch to see that they do not hitch rides.

Arrested in New York on a pickpocket charge, Solomon Bauman pleaded with the court not to tell his sister. "It'll kill her,"
said he. "She thinks I'm a gambler."

John Reynolds, engrossed in the realism of a three-dimensional movie in a New York theatre showing sea lions splashing around in the London Zoo, felt a light spray on his face, saw beads of water fog his polarized glasses, got out of his seat and discovered two small boys in a front row shooting water pistols at the audience.

The proprietor of a candy store in Norwich, England, has a rationing system all his own. Only polite children who say "please" and "thank you" are allowed to purchase his goodies. The others are turned away.

An owner of a Muncie, Ind., supermarket, hastily abandoned the practice of using a wastebasket to store his receipts after an employee dumped the contents of a basket containing $6,290 into a fire.

Officials of the State division of employment in Albany, N. Y., received a memorandum from a New York unemployment insurance office which read: "Change of name;
old name: 'X.' New name: John Smith.
Reason: He learned to write."

First a burglar cut himself breaking into
a Cleveland automobile accessory store.
Next he labored long and hard to open a safe. When he succeeded, he found it empty.
He finally looted the store of $10, the only
cash on hand, and then dropped the bill on
his way out.

Mrs. Bina Evans, contesting her husband's divorce suit in Portland, Me., testified
that after a family row he "broke my teeth
and my nose, tore my ear, broke my arm
and some ribs, but outside of that he's an awful good man, and there's no one in the world I love more."

Horse Player Johnny Bowler was found
to have $14,690 in his pocket when he was arrested in Pasadena, Calif., for stealing a 61-cent tube of toothpaste.

FOR CITY MANAGER

Editor, Newton Graphic:
It is my observation that a large number of our citizens are speculating as to the identity of the individuals (other than those already announced) who will become candidates for Mayor of Newton.

The writer feels that in fairness to our voting citizens, that those aspiring for this important office, should make known their intentions immediately. This action on their part will "clear the decks" for the avowed and serious candidates so that they may plan and properly organize for the coming election.

Through these columns, this writer announces that he has no aspirations for any elective political office and will not be a candidate for Mayor of Newton.

It is my considered opinion,
based on long years of civic activities and close study of Newton and its problems, that our city can no longer afford the continuation of political Mayors.

As a contestant for this office six years ago, I made known through the press and many groups before whom I spoke, that in spite of the fact that I was a candidate for the chief executive position, that I was unequivocally in favor of a city manager form of government. I stated that if elected, I would only serve one two-year term. It was my sincere hope, that in that period, civic groups would have carefully studied the various manager plans available and would be prepared to replace their Mayor with a well trained and efficient city manager.

In the intervening years the mounting problems to do with finances, taxes, etc., convince me more than ever, that if Newton is to continue as a top flight community, populated by citizens of the highest calibre, that management of our ever growing needs, should and must be placed in the hands of efficient experts trained in city management.

ABOUT TV EDUCATION

Editor,
Newton Graphic:
I have received a bushel of postcards and letters from Newton residents during the last few weeks on the subject of a television channel to be reserved for educational purposes. I expect that most of these correspondents already know the action of the Federal Communications Commission in holding open until next June a certain number of channels for non-commercial use.
In Massachusetts, a special legislative commission headed by Senator Phillips of Beverly has already made a preliminary study of the problems, without coming to any precise conclusion.
With the backing of the new administration on Beacon Hill, this commission has been enlarged and its term has been extended to 1954, with authority to propose legislation at any time. The commission has been given $25,- 000, to commence engineering studies.

There are untold possibilities in using this new medium for educational purposes, but there are also numerous problems.

1. Should the State finance a network out of taxpayers' funds and run the programs?

2. Should the State pave the way for a combination of colleges and universities to join in sponsoring a network?

3. What safeguards should be set up to prevent such a station from being used by partisan political groups?

4. Can the same thing be accomplished by requiring all commercial networks to grant a few hours per week each for supervised educational programs?

5. Can the federal authorities be persuaded to hold the option
open a little longer to permit more careful study of these questions?

Both Newton citizens and the Newton legislators will wait with interest for answers to these questions.

Since I cannot possibly answer the many cards and letters, I would appreciate your giving space to this.

Sincerely yours,
RICHARD H. LEE
Senator, Middlesex and Suffolk District

SEES NEW WAR

Editor,
Newton Graphic:
As a constant reader of history
I would like to comment that Joseph Stalin's death is another turning point in history. I predict that Premier Georgi Malenkov will be the herald of World War III. It is a known fact that Malenkov is a foe of the West and instigator of nationalism in the Arab world.

It is my contention that Dictator Malenkov will continue the Stalin policy to woo the Arab nations with the pretense that the United States is promoting Israeli interference in the Arab World.

It is my belief that the Port of Haifa will be the Sarajevo of World War III, and the next Abadan. Why? Haifa is the terminus of the "Great Oil Pipe Line" that connects the Arab oil wells with the British fleet in the Mediterranean Sea.

Furthermore, I believe that this Communistic - Jingo - Arab threat to the West will unite Christianity in much the same way that the Napoleonic threat united the German-speaking nations of Central Europe into the first Reich.

Very truly yours,
GORDON L. HAWES

WHERE IS IT GOING?

Editor, Newton Graphic:
We in Newton are all well aware of what a fine school system we have, and most of us know that nationally there is a great deal of controversy about public education. We'd like to be able to sort out the facts about our schools, and to get the big picture in this country and elsewhere.

In order to give us the chance to see public education in a broader view the League of Women Voters, the PTA Council in conjunction with the School Department, the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Newton Teachers' Federation are sponsoring a public meeting on Wednesday, March 25th in the Newton High School Auditorium
when Dr. Robert King Hall will speak on Education in Crisis.

It is interesting, in view of Dr.
Hall's topic, that one of our schools has just titled a program
"Education on the March." Why is education on the march?
Where is it going? And should we be going too.

LAUDS ASSOCIATION

Editor,
Newton Graphic:
As a newcomer to Waban, I had the pleasure of being introduced to the Waban Improvement Association at its annual meeting
March 9.

This organization concerns itself with local civic problems affecting every resident, such as better commuter service, parking facilities, maintenance of property, improvements, playgrounds, etc. With its civic-minded leadership, this Association has been and will continue to be of great service to our community as well as to our individual selves.

I was impressed, however, by the number of residents who were not present, and it is my humble opinion that if these people were fully aware of the aims and purposes of this organization, their interest would be ignited as mine was.

I must pay tribute also to the program which followed the business half of the meeting. A lecture on the Middle East, illustrated with colored slides, was delivered by Rev. John Nicholls Booth, which was interesting, enlightening and constructive.

Attending this meeting was a most constructive and instructive experience for me, and I trust for many others.

Horsepower in the form of electricity is now doing the job that that the community will appreciate the Association by pledging full cooperation and participation.

HUMAN AFFAIRS

Editor, Newton Graphic:
The present state of human affairs indicates the urgent need for each individual to possess a clear concept of the principle of progress. The following concept is offered in the interest of helping other men to improve their concepts of this fundamental principle.

The progress of mankind toward a better way of life is governed by the application of principles and the principles essential for the progress are revealed by God proportionately with the worth-while effort expended by human beings endeavoring to find the best solutions to their everyday problems. Progress begins with God and the individual, and the importance of how individuals can qualify for a clearer conception of principles precedes the importance of who or what God is. As individuals do qualify and do conceive improved concepts of principles they become aware of the fact that the rate of progress toward a better way of life can be speeded up when men work together helping each other to qualify for the clarification of principles.

This spring drive for discarded articles, which continues for three weeks through April 16, will benefit the Men's Social Service Center of The Salvation Army in its program of rehabilitation of men, many of them with personal problems they are trying to overcome.

Here at the Center, in its various departments, the men sort the various articles which the trucks collect, restore the furniture and repair clothing which in turn is sold in the nine Family Service Stores, operated by the Center, to families of low income.

In this way the Men's Social Service Center, which is self supporting, not only performs a community service, but helps these men gain their own self-respect—the first step toward the rehabilitation of men who are "down—but never out," at least not according to the standards of Brigadier Alex B. Nicol, director.

The Center itself, located at 87 Vernon street, Roxbury, is a huge establishment where men under the Army's ministrations are given work and thus earn their board and keep until such time as they are ready to leave for self-supporting employment.

Chairman of the Newton Endorsing Committee is W. M. Cahill. Mrs. Edward Godfrey Huber is chairman of the residential members which include Mrs. Joseph M. Clough, Mrs. Richard C. N-W Hospital Gives Over 5000 Anesthesias During Past Year

Anesthesia techniques have become much more complex and have permitted operations of much longer duration over the past 10 years, according to an annual report made recently by Dr. Reginald S. Hunt, chief of anesthesiology at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Luigi Arduino, 53 White avenue, Newton Centre
Griffin S. Fallon Jr., 727 Centre street, Newton
James J. Kelly Jr., 1071 Beacon street, Newton Centre
Edward B. Baker, 515 Beacon street, Chestnut Hill
Fred C. Allard, 74 Braeland, Newton centre (volunteer)

This medical procedure has brought relief from pain during surgery and delivery to more than 5000 people during the past year, according to Dr. Hunt, whereas 10 years ago 3800 anesthesias were performed during the course of a single year.

A few years ago, the anesthesiologists' chief concern was merely to give an adequate anesthesia, whereas today he is equally concerned with the patient's fluid balance, blood requirements and physical condition. Indeed, he has so many duties to perform, that often the aid of an assistant is required to accomplish them. This fits into the team concept of modern surgery, and permits operations that may last as long as seven hours, whereas only a few years ago a three-hour operation was considered a rarity.

West Newton Unitarian Church Presents A Spring Cabaret Saturday Evening

Miss Deborah Carroll, soprano, will appear in period costumes for two groups of romantic and love songs, in the Spring Cabaret to be presented at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, March 21, at the West Newton Unitarian parish house. Miss Carroll, well-known church and radio soloist, daughter of Mrs. Woods Coty of West Newton, will be accompanied by William Ellis Weston, organist and choir director of the First Unitarian Society in Newton.

Among Miss Carroll's selections will be Cadman's "At Dawning," "Only a Rose" and "Sweethearts." Mrs. Morris H. Adler, co-chairman of this budget-benefit entertainment, will be mistress of ceremonies. Dr. Hans Waine will appear with Miss Virginia Chace, contralto, in a comedy sketch, "Hats a la Mode." Mrs. Enid Layton, soprano, will offer a hill-billy costume number, "Kaintuck Mountain."

In the "Pokey-huntus" comedy sketch to be presented by some fifteen members of the Jaynes League, Frank Carroll, one of the young people's sponsor-advisors, and Mrs. John A. Stackpole, rector, will also take part. Rev. John Ogden Fisher, bass, will be accompanied by Mr. Dorothy Fisher in a comic song, "Some Little Bug Will Get You." He will also sing "The Big Bad Viol." With Joseph C. Skinner at the piano, William L. Tisdell will play his home-made cigarbox fiddle.

For their exhibition waltz, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Jr. will appear as floor show stars in the area surrounded by table that will also be used for general dancing. Bridge, canasta and whist tables will be provided in the Alliance Room for those preferring cards to stage-floor show and dancing.

Buffet refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and punch will be served in the parish hall under the direction of Mrs. Harry E. Raymond, co-chairman of the activities committee sponsoring the Spring Cabaret. Assisting on the refreshments committee will be Mrs. Robert H. Cobb, Miss Annette Sirotin, Mrs. Frank Layton Sr., and Mrs. William H. Errington.

Attending members will cook for this dinner but keep their contribution secret. Each will provide at least four servings of his or her own favorite recipe. In this way a large variety of tempting dishes will be offered by those who best know how to make them. Culinary specialties ranging from main course dishes to salads and desserts will insure menus pleasing to everyone.

At 6:30 sharp, many of the newer members will help the Entertainment Committee serve the buffet-style supper. Among these are: Mr. and Mrs. William G. Preston, Dr. and Mrs. Allen P. Joslin, Dr. and Mrs. William A. Diman, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Ingersoll, Mr. and Mrs. John Roy, and Mr. and Mrs. William Brady. Further entertainment will follow when Mr. Walter P. If you have moved, eloped, died, sold out, been married, got all A's, had an operation, got a new lover, had an accident, earned your first million, been murdered or dropped dead . . . Tell us — (giving your whole name, no initials) — IT'S NEWS AND WE'LL PRINT IT. . . . The accident which occurred this weekend on Friday night (not the 13) wrapped two handsome Newtonites and one Weeks frosh around a tree — The victims were Stu Hymers and Neil Kempton — the third party being Dave Wood. . . . Ken Reed sure takes pains in keeping his white bucks clean and tidy — He even goes so far as to bring the powder that keeps them in condition to class — Paul Rhonan is another sporting fruit boot — also Mark Walker had them but thanks to Stan Geddes they're black as coal dust. . . . The boys have their jackets and the girls have their coatsweaters campus style but "Curri" has turned up with something new and different — blue turtle-neck sweaters with a gold Curri emblem. . . . The newest of the two-somes and lets hope this one lasts, is Emmy Jones and Mike Vassalotti — good catches on both sides. . . . The boys have come up with a new trick for scaring the girls in the tunnels — some bright soul put a dead mouse right smack in the middle of the "building one" underground passage. . . . The latest is Meryl Limer's sweet sixteen tea — let us know about these celebrations kids. . . . Bobbie Katz won first prize in the skating contest. . . . The latest craze here at NHS is the mustard seed charm in the way of key rings, necklaces and bracelets — among those spotting them are: Judy Rothman, Eileen Feldman, Alice O'Donald and Mary Lou Finn. . . . Just thirty-six more hours (tomorrow night) before the boys come home from Phillip's, Tabor, Lawrence and the other private schools — Thousands (about two dozen) girls can hardly wait for them to hit this town. . . . Have they buzzed your doorbell??? The Olympians are selling raffle tickets and canvassing the town — they plan to sell two thousand (or maybe it's hundred) books — but no matter the number lets buy some and help them on their feet to help others. . . . We asked for your summer plans and what we've found to date is that Ira Kowal and Emmie Goldberg are going on a hostel trip across country and that both Allison Groetsema and Margie Mintz are planning trips to Europe. . . . Debbie Graham has stopped going by "Scooter" since she got her license to drive a car. . . . Dickie Bassett drives a relic which he likes to call a car — Model A Ford — probably Henry Ford's first tin lizzie — Well, at least it runs. . . . What's this — girls going around without lipstick —

Named Alternate For Scholarship At Heidelberg

Roger C. Herdman, of Newton, a sophomore at Yale University, has been named an alternate for a scholarship to study at Heidelberg University, Germany, during the academic year of 1953-54.

Herdman, 19 years old, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon W. Herdman of 36 Cross Hill road. The Newton resident was one of four Yale sophomores nominated for two Heidelberg scholarships. He will study at the German university next year in the event that one of the scholarship recipients declines the grant.

This is the second time that Yale undergraduates have been given scholarships for study at Heidelberg during their Junior year under the Yale-Heidelberg exchange program set up in the Spring of 1951. The first exchange of students between the two universities extends over the present academic year.

Herdman, a graduate of Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H., is a candidate for the Bachelor of Science degree at Yale. He is a member of the Yale Dramatic Association, an undergraduate theatrical group, and has been active in intramural crew and boxing.

Form Permanent Israel Bond Sale Organization in Newton

A group of Newton residents devoted to the task of providing economic assistance to Israel have formed another link in a permanent chain of Greater Boston organizations dedicated to the sale of Israel bonds.

The Newton District Division, Bonds of the Israel Government, was formed last week at a meeting of top local bond officials at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schneider, 19 Alderwood road, Newton Centre. Included in the group were leaders who managed the successful BIG (Bonds of the Israel Government) Day campaign in Newton during December.

Theodore D. Mann, Oak Hill area BIG Day marshal, was elected chairman and Mrs. Schneider was named co-chairman.

"I'm happy to serve this committee and the Newton Jewish community any way I can, if it will help sell Israel Bonds," Mr. Mann declared. "This is the first step in giving the Newton Jewish Community an opportunity to do something tangible and specific in behalf of Israel, namely, buying and selling Independence Issue bonds."

Mr. Mann said that as a result of BIG Day many people are aware of the importance of economic expansion to Israel, and of the essential role which American Jewry plays in that process.

"A growing number of Newton residents now realize that the first and biggest of Israel's problems is building of factories, harbors, ships, roads, pipelines and all facilities Israel needs to become a modern nation playing a key role in the Middle East," Mrs. Schneider said.

"If Israel is to resist Communist-inspired anti-Semitism, if she is to protect her borders and maintain herself as a place of refuge for World Jewry, she must add economic independence to the political independence which she won at so great a cost in human sacrifice. Newton Jews know, just as Jews in all parts of this nation know, that as Americans they have a stake in strengthening democracy wherever it occurs, especially in the Middle East, an area vital to American and Western interests."

In lining up a tentative program, the committee will concentrate on collection of unpaid pledges and the continuous sale of Israel bonds. Regular meetings of the group will be scheduled periodically and special function will be held, to assure maximum sale of bonds.

Mr. Mann said that "there's a tremendous enthusiasm among Newton Jews for the bond campaign, for they know what results investment capital can bring to Israel." The new permanent organization will be a vehicle for the expression of this enthusiasm and continued constructive work for Israel.

Expanding Gray Lady Service For Aged Homebound Patients

As an extension of its established program of Gray Lady service in the home, the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross has been granted permission by the American National Red Cross to conduct a Gray Lady program with elderly people either in their own homes or in nursing homes.

Feeling that this service will meet an increasing need in the community, Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr. of Waban, Chairman of Service Groups for the Newton Chapter said, in announcing the program, "People today are living longer because of the miracle drugs and the highly skilled medical and surgical treatment which they receive. Our new unit of the Gray Lady service is being established to add 'life to the years.'"

At Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, Director, the Medical Staff and the Social Service Department under Mrs. Kenneth Palmer of Wellesley, are constantly concerned lest older people who have responded well to treatment in the hospital may fail to maintain that progress after being discharged. Some of them return to a way of life so lonely that it affects their well being. The Gray Lady program can bring a tremendous psychological lift to those more elderly people who are housebound and who have few resources on which to draw.

Mrs. Moore as Chairman of Service Groups, and Mrs. E. K. Mentzer, Gray Lady Chairman, have announced that volunteers are being actively recruited to give home care to the community at large.

This service is in addition to the efforts of the 40 Gray Ladies presently serving at Newton-Wellesley Hospital and at the Bloodmobile visits. Thirty Gray Ladies currently serve at Veterans Hospitals. The new unit will give service of a personal nature to older people and to the chronically ill of any age in their own homes or nursing homes. They will also help with the recreational program now being carried on by a group led by Miss Ruth Maynard, Special Education Counsellor to the Newton Schools and students of Lasell Junior College.

The duties of those volunteers who "answer the call" for community service will include visiting, reading, letter writing, or even shopping for shut-ins. They may teach simple crafts or play games. They may also assist in planning diversional activities and arrange for attendance at Golden Age groups.

The qualifications for recruits to this new service are of a special nature. The volunteer should be a mature woman of friendly and adaptable personality. She should possess a sensitive understanding of individual needs and resourcefulness in meeting these needs.

The training course will be divided into four two-hour classes. The first session will be devoted to "Orientation to Red Cross". The second session will be conducted by a doctor on the subject, "Geriatrics and the Needs of Older People". Instruction on the needs of homebound children and the proper approach to them will be given by a doctor and by a member of the Guidance Division of the Newton School Department in the third lesson. The course will conclude with a talk on "Understanding and Helping the Patient" by a social worker and instruction in diversional activities by an occupational therapist.

Following completion of the course, each Gray Lady will be assigned a person to visit by the medical worker under whose professional guidance she will contribute her volunteer service. Recruits for the new service should call either Mrs. Moore or Mrs. Mentzer. Mrs. Moore's phone DE 2-0344; Mrs. Mentzer's LA 7-4617.

News of the Day

The Frank Ashley Day Varsity basketball team ended the regular season with a win over Warren Junior High School, 31-23. On the same day the J-V's dropped a see-saw game, 20-18. The boys on the varsity basketball team wound up this year's efforts by playing the Day Faculty in a game for "fun and frolic" last week. The final score showed the Faculty pick-up team out ahead, 32-25. Led by Captain Putnam, all the boys on the squad saw action. Day teachers who played were Messrs. Boston, Eldert, Connor, Shaw, McLeod, and Studer ably helped by a "ringer," Mr. Dodge who has been a practice teacher in physical education.

At the annual business meeting and dinner of the Newton Teachers Federation a number of Day faculty members presented a sketch called "General Teachers Meeting." In the cast were Robert Carr, acting as Superintendent of schools; Alden Read, Virginia Campbell, John Connor, Ralph Morse, John McLeod, John Eldert, Annette Emerson, and Hazel Stratton. Mrs. Lorraine Holmes coached the playlet, which was written by Miss Ruth Twiss of the High School.

The annual Science Fair and Open House at Day takes place this week, Wednesday evening, from 7:30 to 9 p. m. The main exhibit will be in the library but rooms on the street floor and office or second floor will be open for various demonstrations in Physical Education, Practical Arts, Audio-Visual Aids, Art, and Music.

There will also be, as there was last year, a food and coffee sale in the school cafeteria. Food will be donated by Day mothers and the proceeds will go, as before, to the school newspaper, The Day-tonian.

Judges for the science exhibit this year will be Dr. Albert Navez Head of the Science Department of the High School; Mr. Robert Frost of the Bigelow Junior High School and Mrs. Lucy Davis of the Warren School.

Various items of school interest include the selection of the new steering committee for the Student Council; Jacqueline Boudreau, Chairman; Linda Gould, Thomas Stuart, and Ann Woods, Students. . . A number of Day boys have been going to the Trade School this week for testing and preparation for next year. . . A bulletin prepared by the Day Parent-Teacher Association was sent home to all parents concerning the proposed T.V. Channel 2 for education. Parents were urged to ask members of the state legislature to act on various measures designed to facilitate the opening of an educational channel here in eastern Massachusetts. June 2 is the deadline for legislative action.

Spotlight on Weeks

HOLLAND RELIEF DRIVE
On Feb. 8th Division 9L sponsored a Holland Relief Drive. The students were asked to bring clothing and blankets for the Drive, and money was collected in the Cafeteria. A grand total of $56.05 and a thousand lbs. of clothing were accumulated in one day. Mr. Cappelo very generously donated a truck to transport the cartons of clothing and Miss Creedon, Mrs. Keenan and Mrs. Davis accompanied boys from 9L to Logan Airport after school on Friday. The clothing was to be delivered to American Airlines.

TEEN AGE BOOK CLUB

Every month 216X, an eighth grade division, receives a list of pocket books from the Teen Age Book Club. They cost from 25c to 30c each. The list contains books for readers of all ages.

Last Fall 216X received samples from the Teen Age Book Club and we have been doing business with them ever since.

Ed Gorman was in charge of ordering the books for the first semester. Kenny Habelow and Elliot Lederman are in charge now. Since 216X does not always have enough orders for the ten books necessary to complete an order, two other divisions help us. We have read a large variety of books which were highly recommended by the Teen Age Book Club.

SWIMMING CLUB

The Swimming Club under the direction of Mr. Finan meets at 2:15 on Fridays. There are approximately 26 boys in the Club and they tell me that they are tremendously excited about those sessions with Mr. Finan in the Y.M.C.A. pool where they swim and play water polo.

Swimming is a great sport and there are many people interested. At Weeks only the boys' swimming club has been organized at this time and the girls hope that there will soon be a girls' swimming club. Until then we will drool over the fun that those lucky boys who belong to the Swimming Club are having.

KENNEL CLUB

The Kennel Club wishes to show their appreciation of a very valuable book, a "Complete Dog Encyclopedia" which has been given to them by the Quaker Oat Company.

Pvt. Paul A. Schiavone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Schiavone of 44 Hale street, Newton Upper Falls, is undergoing eight weeks of basic military training at the Ordnance Replacement Training Center in Aberdeen, Md.

Recently completing a two-week reserve training cruise aboard the submarine USS Cobia was Alan H. Springer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Springer of 101 Garland road, Newton Centre.

Seaman Springer is a member of the United States Naval Reserve Division 1-7 of Boston. The cruise was conducted to supplement the academic training carried on by the Organized Submarine Reserve Units with a practical knowledge of the operations of submarines.

Seaman Richard W. Oakes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Oakes of 163 Day street, West Newton, returned last week to the Charlestown Navy Yard after participating in the annual refresher cruise of the heavy cruiser USS Salem in the Caribbean.

Catherine P. Tracy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tracy of 17 Cypress street, Newton Centre, has reported for duty with the Special Services Department at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla. A seaman in the WAVES, she was graduated from Sacred Heart High School and from Fay Secretarial School, Boston.

The present station of Lawrence F. Wood, son of Mrs. Arthur F. Wood and husband of Mrs. Beverly A. Wood, both of 66 Gramsere street, Newton, is Argentina, Newfoundland. He is an engineman third class and is attached to the Surface Operations Department.

City's Joining Boston Gov't. To Be Debated

"Should Newton Join a Greater Boston Government?" will be debated under the sponsorship of the Newton Republican Club Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. at the Warren Junior High School, West Newton.

The negative to the question will be argued by Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood and Rep. Howard Whitmore, while the affirmative side will be represented by Jerome L. Rappaport of Boston and Fairman C. Cowan of Newton. The moderator of the debate will be William E. Mullins, Boston columnist.

Mr. Rappaport was the founder in 1950 of the New Boston Committee which was successful in the following year's elections in getting a new City Council and School Committee elected.

He is also executive director of the Greater Boston Area Council, which he founded. He hopes to make the Council a forum where Boston and its 48 surrounding communities can meet to discuss the handling to common problems.

Mr. Cowan, who lives at 187 Park street, Newton, is a former director of the New Boston Committee. A partner in a law firm, he is director of the Boston Municipal Research Bureau and the Greater Boston Area Council.

Opposes State Promotion of Local Tobacco

State Rep. Christian A. Herter Jr., son of the Governor, voiced his opposition to a proposal by the Connecticut Valley tobacco growers that the legislature establish a Massachusetts State Cigar Tobacco Commission to promote wider use of the local leaf tobacco.

Rep. Herter said that if such a commission were set up by the state for the tobacco leaf growers, there would be similar demands from the apple farmers, the fish industry and razor blade manufacturers to promote the sale of their products.

"Every kind of industry has the same problem," Rep. Herter observed, "and this appears more like a matter of private promotion. This issue could be met by setting up a private organization for your advertising."

The 9-man commission, as proposed in the pending legislation, would be authorized to impose assessments on the farmers.

The "tax" would be paid to the state treasurer, but would not become part of the general revenue of the state. It would be held in a special fund solely for use of the tobacco industry.

Any surpluses at the end of the year would not be available for appropriation by the legislature. The nine members would be appointed by the governor from a group of candidates nominated by the tobacco growers.

They would study problems of education, advertising, publicity, promotion, and do research to help growers increase the demand for outdoor and shade tobacco.

Quebec Educator At Celebration of Newton College

Newton College of the Sacred Heart held its annual celebration of the Feast of St. Thomas Aquinas Monday when Dr. Charles De Koninck, dean of philosophy at Laval University in Quebec City, and president of the Canadian Academy of St. Thomas Aquinas, lectured on the Assumption of Mary, in the Newton College Playhouse.

In his university work, Dr. De Koninck, the first lay-president of St. Thomas Academy, intersperses his Thomist teachings with courses on evolution and relativity, and references to Marxism.

During World War II, when it was rumored that Stalin might come to Quebec, Dr. De Koninck suggested that the Soviet dictator should be invited to Laval to lecture on dialectical materialism. Defending his suggestion, he explained that to be fought, a philosophy must first be known.

The celebration opened with a Solemn High Mass in the Dominican Rite. This was a transferred celebration of the Feast of St. Thomas which fell on Saturday, March 7th.

Housing Needs Force Golf Course Sale

The gradual expansion of housing needs in the Newtonville area last week forced the Albemarle Golf Club, one of the oldest courses in the state, to assume the status of a 9-hole "pitch and putt" course.

The first four holes of the present regulation 9-hole course have been sold for development into house lots. The remaining holes in the layout will be converted for a "pitch and putt" course—larger than a miniature golf course—which should be open later this month.

The golf course first experienced the pinch of housing expansion in 1937 when the first, second and 18th holes of the original course were sold for housing. These holes were on what is now Fairway drive.

The 18-hole course was maintained at 18 holes at that time by building four new holes on the area now occupied by the Albemarle Playground, expanding the number of holes in that section from two to five.

In 1941, the course became smaller again when the four holes bordered by the Charles River, Crafts street and North street were sold to a realty company. This time the course was unable to maintain the 18 holes, and the course dropped to nine.

The layout underwent another radical change when the city purchased the site of the Albemarle Playground.

Aldermen Are Applauded for 1953 Budget

The Aldermen of the city are to be congratulated for their firm stand in levelling off their part of the 1953 budget last Monday, stated Lorenz F. Mather, Jr., Executive Director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, this week. While commitments for capital improvements and by the School Committee could not be effectively reduced by the Aldermen, the general temper of the citizens was accurately reflected in the decision not to give further blanket salary increases at a time when the price cycle is levelling off and after last year's substantial readjustments to the price level.

At least four constructive steps were taken by the Aldermen as they reviewed the budget, Mather continued.

The addition containing the new gymnasium and dormitory rooms will be constructed on the east side of the present structure nearest the athletic field.

Speaking of the individual features of the proposed expansion program, Bullen noted that the largest single expenditure contemplated is for the new gymnasium. The estimated cost of this unit, including the Physical Director's office and a stairway —Y DRIVE—

BRONZE HERO—Sgt. Francis A. Venuto is shown receiving the Bronze Star for heroism in Korea at a banquet held recently by the Carson American Legion Post in Newton Centre. Sgt. Gets Bronze Star For Routing Enemy Single-Handed in Korea

For single-handedly routing an enemy gun crew in Korea "with complete disregard for his personal safety," a Newton Signal Corps sergeant was awarded the Bronze Star recently at a banquet of the Carson Post, American Legion, in Newton Centre.

The award went to Sgt. Francis A. Venuto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Venuto of 133 Pine street, Auburndale. He makes his home with his wife at 214 Pearl street, Newton.

According to the citation issued by the Eighth Army Headquarters in Korea, Sgt. Venuto—then a private—performed his act of heroism on the morning of October 5, 1950. A small team of soldiers, including the Newton man, were moving forward by truck to a North Korean village to broadcast a surrender message to the inhabitants prior to an attack by a United Nations battalion.

"Shortly after the team had entered the village," the citation read, "an approaching friendly tank was hit and crippled by a round from an enemy anti-tank gun which had remained concealed nearby. With a deadly volume of hostile small arms fire suddenly blanketing the area, the members of the team scattered and sought cover.

"Sgt. Venuto, seeing that the machine gun mounted on the truck was still operational, ignored the hostile fire and with complete disregard for his personal safety, climbed onto the truck and opened fire on the enemy gun crew."

"His deadly accuracy completely demoralized the hostile troops who abandoned their weapon and fled. The heroism and selfless devotion to duty displayed by Private Venuto on this occasion reflects great credit on himself and the military service," the citation concluded.

The presentation of the Bronze Star was made by Major James Blake of the Massachusetts Military District.

A native of Newton, Sgt. Venuto entered the Army in August of 1948 and served in Japan from July, 1949, until the following July when he entered Korea.

Strong Finish Urged in Red Cross Drive

Announcing returns of approximately 57 per cent of Newton's quota of $105,500, F. Brittain Kennedy said late last week that a strong effort must be made to complete solicitation during the closing days of the annual Red Cross drive.

"We are still behind on coverage," said Mr. Kennedy, "and there are still almost 1,000 cards from which we have no report. If you have not been solicited yet, we ask that you mail your contribution to the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross at 21 Foster street in Newtonville. Rawson Says Pre-Primary Bill To Strengthen 2-Party System

A bill filed by Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton to provide pre-primary conventions for political parties is awaiting action by the State House of Representatives after receiving approval of the Committee on Election Laws, of which Rep. Rawson is chairman.

"This bill," Rep. Rawson explained, "will enact into law all the machinery and procedure used so successfully by the Republican Pre-Primary Assembly held last June at Worcester, whereby the Republicans were able to nominate the best state ticket in years."

He pointed out that the bill allows a pre-primary convention for any political party, since the measure is strictly non-partisan.

"In June of each year in which a state election is to be held, a political party is to hold a convention to choose candidates for governor, lieutenant-governor, the four constitutional offices and U. S. senator in the years when a senator is to be elected, and also to adopt a party platform," Rep. Rawson said.

"Candidates thus chosen will run on the September State Primary Ballot with the designation 'Recommended by Pre-Primary Convention' and with their names listed first. Other candidates may run in the primary by filing sufficient signatures on nomination papers seasonally as provided by law."

"The convention is to be composed," Rep. Rawson continued, —RAWSON—

Salvation Army's $1000 Gift Repairs Nonantum Boys' Club

Continuation of the Nonantum Boys' Club program has been assured through the donation of $1000 by the Newton Salvation Army Service Fund, under supervision of William M. Cahill, treasurer, to provide for necessary repairs to the Nonantum Boys' Club Building.

Bids were submitted by three local contractors, and the work was carried out by the Louis Recene Construction Co. which, with a personal donation, completed the specified repairs for $200 below the next highest bidder.

The entire building repair project had the complete supervision and approval of Malcolm A. Warren, Newton building inspector. With new foundation walls and other necessary repairs completed, all restrictions limiting the use of the entire building have been removed.

The Boys' Club Program, a Red Feather agency, will now enjoy a new lease on life together with its building. The citizens of the area have joined the local boys in expressing gratitude to the Salvation Army Service Fund for their generous contribution to the Nonantum Youth Program.

Women Voters to Begin Annual Finance Drive Next Thursday

Encouraged by increased citizen interest in government as shown by the record vote in the recent presidential election, the League of Women Voters of Newton expects to achieve success in its annual finance drive starting next Thursday through April 16.

Mrs. Seymour Getter, chairman of the finance drive, has announced publication of a new flyer stating the accomplishments of the League this past year, its objectives and the reasons why it must ask the community for support. The dues of the League, explained Mrs. Getter, are kept as low as possible so that membership can be open to anyone who believes in the purpose of the organization, which is to promote active and informed participation of citizens in government. Additional support comes from those who realize how much League work benefits their community and the country as a whole.

Mrs. Maurice Strauss will assist Mrs. Getter as fund secretary for the drive, and Mrs. Walter Fife is in charge of telephone solicitations. Captains for the more than 40 volunteer workers are Mrs. Spencer F. Deming, Mrs. William S. Knickerbocker, Mrs. David B. Rost, Mrs. J. Ernest Smith and Mrs. Charles R. Williams.

The final discussion units of the League were held last week throughout the city, as over 125 women met to discuss the changing objectives of education as applied to the Newton schools, problems of state aid to education and administration of the state teachers colleges.

Mrs. Erwin Cooper, discussion units chairman, reports that some 400 League members have met twice monthly since October in nine morning, afternoon and —VOTERS—

Establish Newton Civic Association; To Take Active Role in Local Voting

The recently-formed Newton Civic Association, which is similar to the New Boston Committee in its aims, elected a 15-member committee last week to draw up a charter and by-laws for presentation at a public meeting within three weeks.

This new organization will endorse candidates and support issues in municipal elections in much the same manner as the NBC has done in the Boston elections.

About 60 individuals and representatives of civic groups throughout the city attended the organizational meeting at the Newton Highlands Workshop. They elected William P. Ripley of Newton as chairman of the by-laws committee, Lorenze F. Muther Jr., president of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, was also named to the committee. Mr. Muther declared he hoped the meeting would be the "opening gun" of a successful Association.

Carroll J. Hoffman, former alderman, spearheaded the drive for the new Association. At the meeting, he said one of its purposes will be "to get the picking of candidates out of the closet and into the open."

He pointed out that each Newton village should have its own "grass roots" organization. This would provide a wider representation on the new citywide association.

Others named to the by-laws committee were: Wendell R. Freeman, Mrs. Roger Curry, Mr. Hoffman, Ernest F. Dietz, Thomas DeWan, Julian Anthony, Mrs. Sherman Hall, Roland Lee, Mrs. Robert E. Segal, Mrs. Lorimer T. Reed, Mrs. John C. McClintock, George Freedman and Mrs. Burton Bromfield.

There were four principal speakers from similar Greater Boston Associations: Daniel J. Ahern, president of the New Boston Committee; Donald Spencer, of the Cambridge Civic Association; Abraham F. Burack, president of the Brookline Citizens' Committee; and Myron Lane, former president of the Quincy Civic Association.

Mr. Ahern, president of the New Boston Committee, said the Newton organization should avoid becoming a "pressure group" and remain independent. When the group, however, decided on whom they consider the best candidates, the Newton Civic Association should "fight for them," he said.

He told the new group that it would have its headaches and "make mistakes."

But he emphasized the importance of a citywide civic association: endorsements, research, lobbying and education.

In Boston, he said, a special way is used to reach the public. It consists of individual meetings in the various wards throughout the city called "Operation Town Hall."

Mr. Ahern also said, "It's easy to confuse the interests of the taxpayers with the interests of the citizens."

Donald Spencer, of the Cambridge Civic Association, stressed the same point.

He said that a civic organization should reconcile the difference between those who want low tax rates and those who want new schools and playgrounds. In other words, it has to deal with the problem of human rights versus property rights.

But he predicted that it would be difficult to arouse the interest of the citizens of Newton in the new civic association since Newton has good government.

He stressed the fact that "good government thrives on starvation and languishes when it is fed." The greatest problem of good government, he emphasized, is to survive success.

The chief reason for forming a civic association is to wake citizens up from their apathy toward local elections. This was the opinion of Abraham F. Burack, president of the Brookline Citizens' Committee.

"Members work toward the best interest of the community to maintain the high calibre of elected officials," he added.

He told how a civic association works:

Candidates are invited to a question period by the directors. The directors represent the active groups in the town.

After hearing the candidates, the directors decide on the men or women they want to endorse. Then they send out a slate card to every voter in the community. The candidates can use the endorsements in their publicity.

Myron Lane, former president of the Quincy Civic Association, said that active members break down sectionalism. He said that Quincy, like Newton, is divided into sections.

But inactive members should not be placed on the committee just for the sake of having cross-sectional representation, he pointed out.

Two W.N. Students In Water Ballet At Mount Holyoke

Appearing in the Water Ballet recently presented in the swimming pool of Mount Holyoke College's Kendall Hall were two students from West Newton.

They were Miss Joan Cutler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Cutler of 74 Fountain street, and Miss Margaret Linton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Linton of 85 Berkeley street. Theme of the performance was a fantasy trip throughout New York City, with each routine depicting some place or some activity typical of the metropolis. Miss Cutler wrote and directed a routine called "Harlem Nocturne" and appeared in "Chinatown" and "Rockets." Miss Linton swam in a number called "New York, New York" and in one called "Central Park."

Special costumes and scenery were used to create city settings. Music used in the program included the score from "Gone with the Wind," selections from "Nutcracker Suite," and the overture from "The King and I."

A 'TEEN-AGE CLINIC' on patterns of living for high school students was sponsored Saturday, March 21, by the Temple Shalom of Newton. Among those attending were, left to right: Dr. Robert Ravven, psychiatrist, Inc., president of Teen Ager, Temple Shalom; Rabbi Irving A. Mandel, Temple Shalom; Dr. Edward Landy, Newton Schools counselor; Stan Slawsky, Newton Teen Ager; George Samansky, director Jewish Association of Boston; Paul Firestone, Youth advisor; Mrs. Marsha Copal, social worker; Sue Holzwasser, Newton Teen Ager, and Bill Feinberg, Newton Teen Ager.

LEADERS AND SCRIBES: Hope you are clipping your column for your troop scrapbook. Remember our new motto: "Write in—Clip out!" Mail your weekly reports to Mrs. Hartie E. Kelley, 43 Newell road Auburn-dale.

TROOP 1—Newton— Recently took a trip to Science Park Museum, escorted by Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, Mr. Mitchell, and Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, our leader. We saw live snakes, "Herky" the porcupine and an owl, and had our voices recorded and played back for us to hear. Miss McCabe of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, our cooking teacher, has given us recipes and junior tips on cooking. Working on our Cook badge, we are having cooking classes at the home of Mrs. James Turner, mother of one of our scouts.

TROOP 35—Waban— In connection with our work on My Community badge, we recently visited Angier School and City Hall, where our guide was Mr. Norman Mitchell, who explained the many departments as we toured. Those making the visits were: Roslyn Dephore, Roberta Freedman, Phyllis Goldman, Nancy Salow, Jean MacCuspie, Bryna Freedman, Sandra Chook and Mrs. Joseph Dephore, leader.

TROOP 152—Auburdale— Recently met at the home of Mrs. Roy Wheeler, leader, where we talked about the Cookie Sale and received our order books from Mrs. Delorey, our Cookie Sale chairman.

TROOP 102—Newton Centre— Joan Kaplan was elected troop chairman. Working on our Explorer badge, the troop was divided into two groups, one making a trail of stones, and the other making a trail of sticks.

TROOP 80—Auburdale— Cynthia Smith presided at the business meeting as Sharon Lannon collected dues and Martha Tracey read the scribe's report. Patty Hoops was elected as the new scribe. Our guests were Mrs. Charles Valley and Mrs. Elliot, who taught us how to take care of cuts and burns, and how to make common bandages, as part of our health and safety work.

TROOP 68—West Newton— We entertained the 6th grade boys and their teachers, Mr. Allen and Mr. Gattuso, at a St. Patrick's Day party. Winners of the Shamrock Race were Joyce Yerger and Paul Guzzi. The Irish Olympic Games were won by the "Murphy family": John Fraser, Paul Guzzi, Fred King, Rosalyn Cutler, Joan Wilkins, Susan Morris and Ronald Leger. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hussey, assisted by Mary Ellen DeStefano, Ruth Hyde and Joyce Yerger.

TROOP 107—Newton Upper Falls— In the absence of Linda Kimball, who was ill, Marie McDade presided at the meeting. Our Juliette Low representatives gave their reports of their visit to the workshop. We made invitations for our Mothers' Tea—Juliette Low celebration, and practiced our German folk dance which we will perform on that occasion.

TROOP 93—Auburdale— Some of the members passed their game requirements for their Second Class badge. After discussing the Cookie Sale, we closed the meeting with the Girl Scout Promise.

TROOP 155—West Newton— Jeanette Smith showed us how to play some English games. We all contributed to the collection for the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

TROOP 48—Auburdale— Met at the home of Mrs. Elliot, where Miss Joanne Kessler of Lasell Junior College taught us artificial respiration. Working on our First Aid Badge, we visited the Red Cross Headquarters, where we saw the gifts donated to hospitals by various organizations and schools, the Blood Donation Room and the Junior Red Cross Workshop. We donated our weekly dues to the Red Cross.

TROOP 7—Newton Upper Falls— Recently toured the Jackson Homestead, where we especially enjoyed the fine handwork, dolls' clothes, spinning wheel and the Dutch oven. We made plans for our Juliette Low party and discussed our April trip to Camp Mary Day.

TROOP 183—Auburdale— We made scrap books showing life in America to send to Kathleen, a former troop member, that she might show them to her friends in the Portuguese school which she now attends in Africa. We are making aprons for our mothers.

TROOP 19—Newton Lower Falls— We made plans for our week end trip to Camp Mary Day. We discussed the Cookie Sale with Mrs. Walter Bowes, our Cookie Sale chairman.

TROOP 127—Auburdale— Each girl planted three tulip bulbs, first labeling them so that she may watch them grow. We looked for signs of spring and saw jonquils budded, snowdrops and crocuses. Each member took home a few sprays of forsythia to force into bloom.

Auxiliary Firemen to View 'Fire in Miniature' Display

"Fire in Miniature," one of the outstanding training methods in firefighting techniques, will be presented to members of Newton's Auxiliary Fire Department Tuesday at Civil Defense Headquarters in Newtonville.

Auxiliary Chief Milton P. Young, in announcing the session, explained that "Fire in Miniature" consists of a complete miniature village with houses, stores, factories and all types of mercantile buildings. It is the product of years of experimentation by the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.

Ernest Williams, a former deputy chief of the Lynn Fire Department and a commander in the United States Coast Guard during World War II, will be in charge of the demonstration. Mr. Williams has shown this fire prevention program in all parts of the United States and Canada with great acclaim. There is not a fire hazard known today which is not portrayed, analyzed, and its prevention and extermination taught through visual means.

An invitation has been extended to the Brookline Auxiliary Fire Department to attend this meeting.

The spring training program of the Auxiliary has already been started with four fully manned pumpers turning out last Sunday under the direction of Assistant Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr. of the regular Fire Department. The four pieces of apparatus were set up by Bullochs Pond in Newtonville and the men took training in operating the equipment and manning hose nozzles and the powerful deck gun which throws a steady stream of water for hundreds of feet.

The Auxiliary was also in evidence at the recent two alarm fire on Centre street at Newton Corner where a full company turned out to assist Chief John E. Corcoran's men in extinguishing the conflagration.

There are still openings in the department for those men of Newton who wish to join this vital Civil Defense unit and who would like to join in firefighting work which is healthy, invigorating and enjoyable. Chief Young invites any and all who are interested to make themselves known at Civil Defense Headquarters.

Democratic Legislators Now Fighting to Kill Taxes They Fought for a Year Ago . . .

Even when an election is almost 20 months away, the legislators on Beacon Hill never stop playing politics, never cease sparring for an advantage that will aid their cause in the next campaign.

It has been astonishing how quickly the Democratic and Republican members of the House of Representatives have slipped into their new roles resulting from the shift in political control of the body that came with Governor Herter's election.

A year ago, the Democratic legislators were fighting to retain the very taxes which last week they sought to wipe from the books, and 12 months ago the Republicans were seeking to kill the same taxes for which they recently voted.

The objective of the minority party in the House both this year and last was to embarrass the administration in power and place the opposition on record as voting for taxes and against tax cuts.

The Democrats realize now, just as the Republicans recognized a year ago, that the taxes over which they were fighting had to be enacted in order to maintain essential State services.

But one of the privileges that goes with being in the minority and out of power is that of voting against taxes and attempting to sell the people the idea that you're doing your best to save them from paying any taxes at all.

It's easier, unadulterated political hypocrisy, as the record books would show, if anyone wanted to take the trouble of comparing the votes of the legislators in 1952 and 1953, but it's the way things invariably are done in our Great and General Court.

Of course, the temporary taxes aren't temporary at all, and it's highly improbable that any present-day taxpayers will live long enough to see them repealed. Once taxes are placed on the books, they usually stay there or are increased. They're not often wiped out after a year or two.

The so-called temporary taxes, including the 1 percent increase on the State income tax levy, were enacted during the administration of former Governor Dever.

What Mr. Dever—and most of the Governors before him—invariably did was to increase taxes in the first year of his two-year term and then sit back and give the people a chance to get used to them and, preferably, forget about them before election.

In fairness to Governor Herter, it might be pointed out that apparently he, at least, does not intend to make any increase in taxes which is an extremely welcome respite.

Ex-Governor Dever and the Democratic legislators insist that it was their intention to wipe out the temporary taxes this year. That has all the earmarks of political double-talk.

It's much easier to tell what you would have done, if you had been in a position to do it, then it is to do it, and the Dever regime has to be judged on its record, not on its statements of what might have been if Mr. Dever had been elected last November instead of Mr. Herter.

It would be very interesting to know how the Democrats would handle the situation if the so-called temporary taxes were repealed. That is left strictly to speculation because no substitute taxes were proposed in the recent debate on the issue.

Would they cut down the amount of State income and corporation taxes paid to the cities and towns already laboring under the weight of high tax levies on their own real estate?

Would they enact some new "painless" taxes in place of those they seek to wipe out? If so, what taxes do they have in mind?

And if they would repeal the old taxes and not enact any new ones in their place, how would they balance the State budget? Would they fire people and eliminate public services, or would they return to the old system of levying a deficit tax upon the local communities?

It sounds well for politically minded legislators to stand up and shout for the repeal of taxes which they themselves enacted and placed on the books, but it would be interesting to know how many people are fooled by such fakery. A great many persons are likely to wonder why the Democratic legislators voted for the taxes in the first place.

This is comparable to the change of attitude on hirings and firings that a politician undergoes depending on whether his party is in power or out of it.

If he's one of the "ins," his argument is that a Governor, who high-pressures a department head into resigning or retiring before the end of his term, is entitled to place men of his own choosing in key positions in the State government.

If he's one of the "outs," his cry is that a Governor, who "persuades" a State official to retire, is a ruthless dictator bent on reaping the spoils of victory for his henchmen.

That has been true as long as this observer has been following politics.

It is a fact that a Governor has a relatively short period of two years in which to make the record on which he stands for reelection, and it does seem to this writer that a man elected by the people to run the State is entitled to select department heads who will carry out his ideas and policies and programs.

We also hold to the theory that if it was perfectly proper for ex-Governor Dever to obtain the resignation of the State public works commissioner in 1949, it was also all right for Governor Herter to do the same thing in 1953. The politicians don't quite see it that way.

It's unfortunate that more State department heads don't have the grace to submit their resignations to a Governor and give him an opportunity to fill their places, if he chooses to do so, as former State Commissioner of Correction Maxwell B. Grossman did as soon as ex-Governor Dever walked down the State House steps and Governor Herter was sworn in on inauguration day.

But even though a State official may have obtained his job only after somebody else has been forcibly heaved out of the State House to make way for him, he usually considers himself the indispensable man who should not be disturbed. Forgotten completely is the fact that he took someone else's place.

Some of our political experts believe that as a result of Governor Herter's success in persuading Dever department heads to retire, resign, step back to lower positions or otherwise make their departure, a precedent may be created whereby each new incoming Governor will clear the decks and bring in his new cabinet members.

We can't see that this would be any public calamity if it did happen. It's precisely what the President of the United States does, and, except in a few rare cases, it's what a Mayor of Boston does.

It's too bad that recordings were not made of the debates on Beacon Hill last year and the year before. The Republicans and Democrats could just swap them, and it would be a great convenience for all concerned.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Approximately 85,000 teachers in India's largest State went on a two-day strike for more pay last week. They now get about $7 per month. The lowest paid unskilled labor in private industry receive $22 a month, three times as much as the teachers.

Al Volchart of Ely, Nev., published this notice in the Ely Daily Times: "My advertisement of Jan. 24 was an error. I will be responsible for my wife's debts." Well, a man can change his mind, too, can't he. Maybe, his wife didn't like the first ad.

After robbing Barney Foreman, 37, of Walla Walla, Wash., a gunman then shoved him in front of a passing train. Foreman's left arm fell under the wheels and was so badly mangled physicians said it would have to be amputated.

A Soviet army lieutenant who deserted and crossed into West Germany told reporters he believed 40 percent of the Red Army officers are opposed to the Moscow regime.

After testifying that she spoiled her husband's romance with another woman by hiding his toupée, Mrs. Helen Lucas of Chicago was granted a divorce and then returned the toupée because she "had no desire to handicap him in his future romantic adventures."

A burglar who broke into a Dallas Texas, cafe by removing the plate glass from the moulding was arrested as he was putting the glass back in place. He said the reason he had stayed around to replace the glass instead of departing with the cash drawer was that he thought he had plenty of time.

Fire Extinguisher Salesman Lionel Richards became so angry at the way Thomas Beauchamp pulled up beside him at an intersection in Norwalk, Calif., and bawled him out for speeding, that he reached into the rear seat, picked up a flame thrower and gave Beauchamp's car a thorough shingeing.

There is no such way to attain to greater measure of grace as for a man to live up to the little grace he has.

— Spotlight on Weeks —

FOOD SALE — In an effort to raise money to help support Weeks' foster child, Division 216M held a very successful food auction among the members of their own division on March 9.

Various items made by the girls in the room were professionally auctioned off by the Division president, Mike Smith. Six dollars was the goal and $11 was earned, proving the good spirit of the Weeks' students.

Other Divisions are doing similar projects to raise money but we think the $11 raised by 216M is a shining example of the ingenuity of the Weeks' pupils.

by Ellie Langer.

C. H. A. Day — On Wednesday, March 11th, the mystery of C. H. A. Day was revealed. C. H. A. stands for Children's Hospital Assembly.

Division 91M sponsored a collection after the assembly to raise money to buy a victrola for the Children's Hospital Polio Ward. The Drive began with an assembly at which Mrs. Seaver, Public Relations Director from the Children's Hospital spoke to us and showed a movie about this wonderful medical centre. Mrs. Seaver was introduced by Jerry Bodner, a member of Division 91M. We were informed later that the goal was reached.

WEEKS TO GREECE — For the past two years, Weeks has been supporting a foster child in Greece by the name of Angeliki Hondronikola. Each year we send $180 to the foster parents' agency in New York. With this money, the agency sends packages of clothes and food to her as well as money.

Division 206X volunteered to write a letter to Angeliki. We appreciate the help Jane Carpenter, Sue Spencer, Carolyn Kingsbury, Norm Jacobs, Miss O'Brien, our student teacher, and our guidance teacher Mr. Powers in this undertaking.

Urges Newton To Aid Easter Seal Campaign

Pointing out that "no person by himself can provide the services needed in helping the crippled," Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood issued a proclamation today calling for support of Easter Seal Week.

"Our best way of helping crippled children is by supporting the work of the Bay State Society by giving generously to the Easter Seal campaign which makes its services possible," the mayor declared.

The text of the proclamation follows:

"Whereas, there are at the present time many crippled children in the City of Newton, in need of direct services in order to become healthy, happy adults; and

"Whereas, the responsibility of giving each a chance at health and happiness is ours — a responsibility we gladly assume because it is one of the vital factors in the economic life of our city and nation, and a great humanitarian cause; and

"Whereas, no person by himself can provide the services needed in helping the crippled; and

"Whereas, we must together give our support to the organizations which have the knowledge and services at their command to do this; and

"Whereas, the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped, Inc., as a member of a nationwide federation of Easter Seal societies can, and does do this year round; and

"Whereas, our best way of helping crippled children is by supporting the work of the Bay State Society by giving generously to the Easter Seal campaign which makes its services possible; then

"Therefore, I, Theodore R. Lockwood, Mayor of the City of Newton, do hereby proclaim the week of March 30 through Easter Sunday, April 5 as EASTER SEAL WEEK and urge all citizens, interested groups and societies to participate fully and wholeheartedly in its cause.

"In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City to be affixed.

Expands Fire Patrol System For Nobscot

Charles L. Hanks has been named chief fire warden of Nobscot Reservation, in the first of a series of moves designed to broaden the fire prevention system at the Boy Scout winter camping area.

Frederick A. Cole, Jr., Nobscot fire commissioner, in announcing the appointment, said that Mr. Hanks is an able and qualified fire-fighter who has served with distinction on the Fire Patrol staff for a number of years.

Mr. Hanks, served with the Air Force in the Pacific during the war and succeeds Alwin E. Hodson, Jr., who is lightening his Scouting commitments because of the pressure of business.

Mr. Hodson will continue as a member of the Fire Patrol, serving as one of the half-dozen fire wardens under Mr. Hanks.

The nucleus of the fire patrol system at Nobscot Reservation is a group of Explorer Scouts, boys 14 years or older who are thoroughly familiar with the reservation and who have earned merit badges qualifying them for the task. They are divided into crews and supervised by one of the adult wardens, "serve on a rotation basis every weekend that the reservation is in use.

The Nobscot Fire Patrol was established by Mr. Cole in 1947, and was perfected under Mr. Hodson. Mr. Hanks is planning to increase its size, in order to lighten individual responsibility and expand the knowledge of the effective methods of fire prevention.

Mayor Praises April Cancer Crusade Drive

The annual Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society, which will be conducted through April, was endorsed today by Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood.

In a statement lauding the aims of the drive, Mayor Lockwood declared that estimates show cancer will strike "one in every five citizens of this community at some time during their lives."

"But because of the march of science and research, many of them will be saved with the knowledge that science now has at its disposal," the mayor said.

"And, as research holds out ever-increasing hope of the eventual conquest of cancer, there is the possibility that after some now-unknown date, people will cease to die of cancer at all.

"These hopeful signposts in the long, uphill fight against cancer are not routine marks of progress; they are the result of the steadily intensified efforts of the American people, and of the American Cancer Society which they support, to achieve those results.

"The support of the people is vital to the conquest of cancer," he continued. "Their generous contributions provide the weapons of research and the armor of the education. The people buy the test tubes, the people pay for the educational materials which teach them to be alert for cancer's danger signals.

"Now, during April, the American Cancer Society will again conduct its annual Cancer Crusade — a combined educational and fund-raising effort in support of cancer research, education and service. Here in Massachusetts, where are centered many of the great research institutions seeking to find the cause and cure of cancer, the goal is $661,980.

"In the interests of all the people of this community — no one of whom is safe from cancer—I urge every citizen to support generously the Cancer Crusade, to the end that some day every one of us may be safe from this cruellest of diseases." Mayor Lockwood concluded.

Poor Little Hill!

You're looking at a very discouraged hill!

Ever since that ribbon of paving outlined it, it has been a challenge to motor cars.

For miles and miles it winds up the side of a mountain; and it has sharp curves, and steep grades that spring out of the curves so a driver can't get a start.

Half-way up, there's a watering place—put there so drivers can stop and refill their radiators.

Yes—it has been quite a hill. But not any more! The driver of the car in the picture above took off at the base and sailed right up to the top—and never gave it a thought.

You see, he's driving a 1953 Cadillac—with its great high compression 210-horsepower engine—and its vastly improved Hydra-Matic Drive.

We heard recently of two men who drove from Florida to Detroit—in a 1953 Cadillac.

The driver had made this trip before—and as they left Knoxville he said to his passenger: "Man, are we going to find a hill between here and Lexington!"

After an hour or so, the passenger said: "Where is the hill?"

And the driver said: "Just wait!"

So they waited—and presently they saw a sign which read: "Lexington."

The driver was dumbfounded.

"I can't understand it!" he said. "There used to be a hill there—a big one! I know from experience."

Naturally, this great car gives you more than the ability to master hills.

When you float along with a tremendous reserve like this, you have the easiest ride imaginable.

It gives you confidence, too—and helps you to relax—for you know you have the power for any emergency that may arise.

It makes the whole car a symphony in motion. In fact, the ride is so smooth and soothing that, not infrequently, passengers sleep as they ride.

Come in and try it for yourself. The car is waiting—and it's an experience you ought not to forgo.

"BRIGADOON" TO BE PRESENTED BY HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY NIGHTS AND SATURDAY MORNING

On Friday and Saturday night and Saturday morning Newton High School will present its production of "Brigadoon" in the Newton High Auditorium.

The story is of a little town in the Scottish Highlands where an old minister, fearing that his people would be taken away from the teachings of God, prayed that Brigadoon would vanish, to appear one day in every hundred years, so that his people would never be in one century long enough to be touched by it. When two American hunters stumble on the bewitched village, Tommie, one of the hunters, falls in love with Fiona, a Brigadoon lassie....

Double congratulations are in order for Coach Frank Powers' St. Sebastian's hoopers who annexed their second straight New England Private Schools Class B championship at Boston Garden Saturday morning. All-Star Center Brian Burns led the Hilltoppers to a comeback victory over Clark School of Hanover, N. H., by dropping 22 points through the hoop. Behind at the half, 19-26, St. Sebastian's stormed back to take the lead in the third period and insured the win. . . . Both Burns and guard Bill Cosgrove were named to the Class B All-Stars. Burns racked up 60 points in three tummy tilts while Cosgrove chipped in with 34. . . . Newton Y. swimmers took a 36-32 squeaker from the Brockton Y last weekend in Boston, for first place in a Massachusetts R. I. meet. Falling to score in only one event, the local swimmers insured their victory with a bare one-foot win in the 200-yard free style. . . . St. Sebastian's hoop win over the weekend merked the beginning of the end of the basketball season locally. Now the only local teams still in competition are in the various city league playoffs and independent club tournaments. . . . Basketball fans who witnessed the Boston Celtics (alias the Boston Cousies) knock the Syracuse Nats out of the pro playoffs are still talking about the performance of the Coos. This year the Celts have a good chance to go all the way. . . . Down five points in the final overtime Saturday, the Celts came back with the help of Cousy's magic eye to drop the Nats when the chips were really down. Too bad our Red Flops couldn't have seen the game; maybe then they'd get the idea. . . . Speaking our needs and hope that they will complete the calls still unmade. Only by intensive effort can we reach our objective." We have also received a statement from the Office of Defense Mobilization relative to the allocation and distribution of the new medical weapon gamma globulin—so useful in reducing the threat of paralysis from polio. State health officers have recently been informed as to how the limited supply of gamma globulin may best be employed during the coming polio epidemic season. We must, in all fairness, again stress the fact that the Red Cross will not have the responsibility for distributing this precious substance. The Red Cross has agreed to collect the blood from which this fraction is processed and to prepare it for use, but it will be the duty of State Health Officers to see that it is properly allocated.

To the parent who asks, "How will I get gamma globulin for my child if exposed to polio?", here is the answer: It's as simple as the answer to the question of what to do whenever your child needs medical attention: contact your family physician. He will examine the circumstances surrounding each case and, if he feels it is warranted, he will obtain the necessary supply of the immune serum from the state health officer and administer it to the exposed child.

There are several other factors which should be emphasized. The National Blood Program people tell us that gamma globulin used under very special circumstances, of which your doctor is aware, will help to minimize the crippling effects of polio; further, one inoculation of gamma globulin will not last a child throughout the entire polio season; gamma globulin will only afford a partial immunity for about five weeks; the polio season extends over a period of approximately ten weeks in the months of June, July and August.

The Office of Defense Mobilization has notified State Public Health Officers that there will be an available supply, during the coming year, of approximately six to seven million CC's (an average dose is 10CC's) of gamma globulin for use in the fight against polio in addition to that amount of gamma globulin needed to combat measles and infectious hepatitis.

The initial delivery of this allocation will be made on or about May First, when each state will receive an amount of the immune serum based on 40CC's times the average number of cases of polio reported in that state during the five year period 1947 to 1951. The total basic allotment will be on the basis of 40CC's the number of reported clinically diagnosed cases. In addition to this initial allocation, further shipments will be made from a national pool when the polio rate in any given state reaches epidemic or an emergency situation within the limits of available supply. The State Public Health Officers will, in turn, distribute the gamma globulin to family physicians when there is a demonstrated need.

Many factors involved in getting gamma globulin to the children of our nation are as yet uncertain, but one fact stands out in bold relief. If there is to be anything near a sufficient amount of gamma globulin with which to inoculate children, there must be more blood donated by the people of this nation. Each unit of gamma globulin costs the Red Cross $3.50. We must have blood. We must have the money with which to make the valuable blood fractions at hand. It is up to every one of us, right here in Newton as everywhere in the nation to make the added effort that can mean so much to the children of our country.

How can we fail in our appeal.

SISTER OUTFITS are modelled by these two charming young ladies at Spring Fashion Show held at Temple Reyim last Thursday. Other Spring outfits were also shown by Barron's of West Newton. (Staff Photo by Wilk)

How can we fail to realize that the Blood Program, the provision of gamma globulin is but one of many vital Red Cross services for which the people of our community look to your local chapter. Newton must not fail to ANSWER THE CALL.

Y Drive—

connecting the basement with the first and second floors, is $165,000.

It is estimated that it would cost $155,000 to modernize the existing basement area including new locker rooms, showers and sanitary facilities. There have been few major improvements to this area in 40 years.

Construction of 20 badly needed dormitory rooms on top of the new gymnasium is planned. At present there is a waiting list for the existing 34 rooms at the "Y" and Leonard D. Garfield, Men's Division Secretary, refers applicants for YMCA rooms many times each week to a special list of private homes. Estimated cost of this dormitory project totals $64,000.

Included in the expansion program are plans for the construction of a general exercise room, a wrestling room, a weight-lifting room and space for equipment storage. Bullen points out that this would cost another estimated $52,500.

The modernization and expansion of the Boys' Work social area is an important phase of the overall program. "Hundreds of boys use this area each week," Bullen said, "and an adequate, attractive area with complete equipment is necessary for the continuance of the important work of the Youth Work Division." The estimated cost of this project is $32,500. The total figure is based on the assumption that the salvage of some material is possible.

Because of the desire to enlarge the YMCA program for women and girls, officials have included in the expansion program provisions for showers, locker rooms and a new powder room for the use of the fair sex. Including a stairway to the first floor these facilities could be built for an estimated $23,000. It is estimated that renovation of the existing gymnasium would call for the expenditure of $15,000, and that renovation of the handball and squash courts would run to another $2000. Paving new drives and walks and landscaping would cost an estimated $6000.

"These are some of the things the YMCA feels should be done so that it may better serve the community," Bullen said. "Throughout its 75 year history the Newton YMCA has kept pace with the needs of the community and it is fitting that commemorating the 75th Anniversary this campaign should be launched to meet the growing needs of the people, particularly the youth of the area."

"The Newton YMCA is dedicated to community service. It has helped hundreds of Newton boys grow up to be good citizens. With the help of the people in this campaign, the Newton YMCA will continue the good work on an expanded plane to counter the uncertainties of the times."

Aldermen—

appeals, salary changes were limited to correcting obvious inequities, meeting the competitive market where necessary, minimizing the spread between police and fire department pay rates and eliminating excessive demands by certain other departments.

Second, emphasis was placed on the need for a comprehensive re-evaluation of personnel policies within and between the departments—a project long urged by the Taxpayers.

Third, provision was made to afford each Alderman with a detailed budget. This year such a copy was available to those Aldermen not on the Finance Committee at the City Clerk's office, but none was available for home study.

Fourth, new impetus was given to continuous Planning Board review of the capital improvement program. It has long been the Taxpayers' position that capital improvements should be cleared within the budget and not apart from it. The citizens and taxpayers have every right to applaud the work of the Aldermen on the 1953 budget, Muther concluded.

"of one delegate from every town and every city ward, plus additional delegates for every 1500 votes or major fractions above the first 1500 votes cast for the party's candidate for governor in the preceding state election."

"These delegates are to be chosen by the various ward and town committees of the party. Since the entire process is a party affair, there will be no additional expense to the Commonwealth. In the case of the Worcester Assembly last June, all the expenses were paid out of party funds and the delegates paid their own expenses. It would be so under this bill."

Rep. Rawson said passage of the bill will strengthen the two-party system. "It will enable both political parties to each have an opportunity to meet and screen their own available material so as to get tickets that are balanced geographically as well as racially—to give representation to all elements in our state. It will bring stronger party responsibility and hence better government."

"It should remember that the people in 1932 by a large majority asked for the Pre-Primary Convention through a referendum on the ballot, but the legislature took it away from them by the legislative act of 1937 which repealed it. This bill will give the convention back to the people."

The March Meeting of the Auburndale Child Study Group was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Wires, 25 Groveland street. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Robert Casselman, the group's president, introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Louise Bates Ames, child psychologist.

Dr. Ames gave an interesting and informative talk on the problems, and phases in the development, of the young child through to the teen age, and her pertinent comments, plus her delightful humor, were very much appreciated and enjoyed by her audience. Following her talk, Dr. Ames held an open question and discussion period. The co-hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Allen Pearson, and Mrs. Richard Fallows.

Performances will be at the Emerson School, Friday and Saturday evenings, April 10, and 11.

Old friends and neighbors in and around Newton may recall some of the minstrel shows given in this area in days long since past, and find in this new show of 1953 a revival of an old custom. Back in the days of the Upper Falls Athletic Association, and Miss Jacqueline Brown in this more serious drama laid during the era of Henry the Eighth of England. Newton Art Ass'n

Plans are well underway for "Artists at Work" night where several members of the Newton Art Association will demonstrate various methods and styles of painting in the spacious auditorium of the Newton Centre Woman's Club. This takes place on Thursday evening, March 26 at 7:30 p.m. with public attendance invited.

The next regular meeting of the association takes place on Thursday evening, April 2 when Mr. Fred Walkey, head of the head of the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln will be the guest artist.

One of the methods of picture making not too generally used was demonstrated at the recent meeting of the Newton Art Association held at the Newtonville Public Library. President Harland Riker introduced Mr. Henry Davenport, well-known artist and teacher, who explained and demonstrated the use of the pastel medium, not only for producing a finished durable painting, but also for casual sketching preparatory to studio painting in oil and water-color. Mr. Davenport declared his conviction that pastel colors are ideal for establishing true color values that retain their permanency, and then proceeded to demonstrate the method and materials used by painting a marine sketch very capably and convincingly in its result.

Community Club

A talented young composer and writer on subjects pertaining to music, Professor Irving G. Fine of Brandeis University, will be the featured speaker at the luncheon held March 31 in connection with the Music Festival of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs. Professor Fine is Chairman of the School of the Creative Arts at Brandeis.

A Guggenheim Fellow for 1951-1952, he came to the University in 1950 after a year in Paris on a Fulbright Research Fellowship. After receiving the degrees of B.A. and M.A. from Harvard, Professor Fine studied abroad with Mlle. Nadia Boulanger. He was for many years assistant conductor of the Harvard Glee Club, and from 1946-1950 he was assistant professor of music at Harvard and Director of Basic Piano. Since 1946 he has been a member of the faculty of the Berkshire Music Center at Tanglewood, and has studied orchestral conducting under Serge Koussevitzky there.

He has appeared in public both as pianist and conductor with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, with Igor Stravinsky, and with Aaron Copland.

The Music Festival luncheon will be held at 12:30 at the roof garden of the Hotel Shelton. At that time Professor Fine will speak on the Creative Arts Festival to be presented in June by the faculty artists at Brandeis.

Safety Film for Movies Ranks Below Paper as Fire Hazard

By NEWTON FIRE PREVENTION BUREAU

Following an extended investigation, acetate basefilm in the form of ribbon for motion pictures was listed by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. as slow-burning, the fire hazard being classed as somewhat less than that of common newsprint paper in the same form and quantity.

Motion picture safety film having a cellulose acetate base is now being marketed for commercial and general use. It is claimed that this film has a greater projection life and is otherwise superior as compared to the older type cellulose acetate film. This type of film may be identified by the words "Safety Film" printed at frequent intervals along the edge.

In case of doubt acetate film may be distinguished from nitrate by a burning test, using only a small piece of film, and burning it in a room where there is no film and no fire hazard. Nitrate film will burn fiercely; acetate film will burn quietly.

The most important safety feature with reference to cellulose acetate film is its slow combustion, and any fire can easily be extinguished by the application of water or smothering, much in the same manner as fires in ordinary combustible materials.

The time will, no doubt, come when nearly all pictures will be on safety film, but there may be some time and because of this every precaution should be taken to avoid any relaxation in the regulations prescribed and methods imposed for the safe handling of flammable nitrate films.

The safety factor supplied by the new acetate film can be taken advantage of by arranging its storage apart from any nitrate films. By this segregation, loss possibilities will definitely be reduced and as nitrate inventories are progressively diminished and only Safety Film used.

In order to insure the degree of safety now provided by the new film it is suggested that all safety film be unmistakably identified by red bands bearing in prominent letters the words, SAFETY FILM printed in bright green. All records and other control items that pertain to these films should also be printed in the same green and bear as their main feature the words SAFETY FILM.

In contrast, all flammable nitrate films should be equipped with red bands printed in bright red with the words NITRATE FILM, with their record items correspondingly identified.

When you purchase moving picture film be sure and ask for SAFETY FILM, the safety features are well worth the price.

Rep. Thresher On Educational TV Committee

Rep. Irene K. Thresher of Newton was appointed to a special commission on educational television last week by Speaker of the House Charles Gibbons.

Mrs. Thresher, who has long been active in civic work, is a member of the Joint Legislative Committee on Education of the Massachusetts Legislature and served as a member of the Newton School Committee for nine years.

The commission is studying methods for utilizing Channel 2 in Boston for non-commercial educational television broadcasting. This channel is reserved for educational television as a result of action taken by the Federal Communications Commission in April 1952 when 242 channels were earmarked for non-commercial television for one year.

Members of the commission, headed by Sen. Christopher H. Phillips of Beverly, include members of the State Board of Education and outstanding educational, legislative and civic leaders.

The commission is scheduled to report to the Legislature within a few weeks so that an application can be filed with the F.C.C. for utilization of Channel 2 by a public or private organization before the June 2 deadline.

Mrs. Thresher has been appointed a member of the commission's sub-committee on programming. Applications to the F.C.C. must contain an outline of programming for the proposed station.

Among the major problems confronting the Commission is the question of whether the Channel will be operated under government or private auspices.

Lee Withdraws From Race For Mayor to Aid Party

Declaring that Newton will have "one and probably more capable candidates without me," State Sen. Richard H. Lee withdrew as a candidate for mayor last week so he could "give all of my energies to the Herter administration program."

Sen. Lee explained that he consented to the use of his name as a candidate after hearing that Mayor Theodore Lockwood would not seek re-election.

"At the time of my decision, there was no other candidate in the field, but immediately thereafter it developed that Rep. Whitmore of Newton Highlands was anxious to run, and there are now indications that further candidates may appear in the near future," he stated.

The Newton legislation said that the Republican party might "be under tension" with two candidates, both of whom received support from the same group of party workers in state elections. "This has been a source of embarrassment to a number of workers who urged me to run and who still stand ready to give all their efforts to my campaign."

He stated the withdrawal from the local campaign would "enable me to continue with the reforms in ABC regulations, automobile insurance, income taxes and several others which are just on the point of being realized. This is a long-range program which will require sustained application.

"I wish to thank the many people who have urged me to run and offered to assist in the campaign. I appreciate the compliment conveyed by their offers," Sen. Lee concluded.

Against Mayor Holding Dual Elected Posts

A bill seeking to prevent the mayor of Newton from also holding a seat in the state legislature is being prepared by the Newton Taxpayers Association, which feels that the city must have a "truly full-time chief executive."

The measure, announced by Executive Director Lorenz F. Muther, affects only one of the candidates who to date has entered the local mayoralty race. Rep. Howard Whitmore Jr. is seeking the office, and if he were elected mayor a special election would be required to fill his representative post under the proposed legislation.

However, the bill to prohibit the dual office-holding would probably not be in effect by November's election, since the Association does not plan to file it until the next session of the legislature.

"We believe that opinion in Newton is overwhelmingly against dual office holding in the case of our mayors," Mr. Muther said. "Newton wants and needs a truly full time chief executive and, unless a city manager were to be hired, it would be counter to the best interests of the city to have a mayor who also was serving in the legislature."

"There is no law compelling a mayor in Massachusetts to give up his job as a member of the legislature — at present the mayors of Chelsea, Malden and Taunton are simultaneously serving as state senators. General bills to prevent dual office holding are filed in the Legislature every year, but for obvious reasons they have little or no chance of enactment."

"If a vacancy should occur in this case by the resignation of the successful candidate for mayor — a special election may be held in the city upon order of the legislative branch concerned by vote of the Senate, by precept of the Speaker of the House. It is probable that in January, 1954, such an election in Newton would be ordered either by the Senate or House if the current mayoral candidate should resign. The chief reason would be found in the narrowness of the Republican majorities, and Newton would almost certainly return a Republican to fill the vacancy."

"A resolution, order or ordinance of the aldermen against dual office holding would have no real legal effect and special legislation would be very difficult to obtain in this session. An aldermanic resolution might have moral effect, although it could be construed as an interference with a separate independent office."

"The Association plans to introduce special legislation in the next session to prohibit a Newton mayor from simultaneously holding state legislative or administrative office so long as the present duties and responsibilities of Newton mayors remain as they now are."

John J. Norton, son of William Norton of 16 Kenyon street, West Newton, has been promoted to staff sergeant at Forbes Air Force Base, Topeka, Kans., where he is serving with the 31st Strategic Reconnaissance Squadron.
